ויאמר דויד המלך לכל-הקהל שלמה בני אחד בחר-בו 1Chr29:1
אלהים נער ורך והמלאכה גדולה
כי לא לאדם הבירה כי ליהוה אלהים:

אוַיֹּאמֶר דָּוִיד הַמֶּלֶךְ לְכָל־הַקָּהָל שְׁלֹמֹה בְנִי אֶחָד בָּחַר־בּוֹ
אֱלֹהִים נַעַר וָרָךְ וְהַמְּלָאכָה גְדוֹלָה

ki lo' l'adam habirah ki laYahúwah 'Elohim.

1Chr29:1 Then King Dawid said to the entire assembly, My son Shelomoh, the one whom Elohim has chosen, is young and inexperienced and the work is great;
for the temple is not for man, but for יהוה Elohim.

<29:1> Καὶ εἶπεν Δαυιδ ὁ βασιλεὺς πάσῃ τῇ ἐκκλησίᾳ Σαλωμων ὁ υἱός μου, εἷς ὃν ᾑρέτικεν ἐν αὐτῷ κύριος, νέος καὶ ἁπαλός, καὶ τὸ ἔργον μέγα, ὅτι οὐκ ἀνθρώπῳ ἡ οἰκοδομή, ἀλλ' ἢ κυρίῳ θεῷ.

1 Kai eipen Dauid ho basileus pasē tē ekklēsia Salōmōn ho huios mou,
And said David the king to all the assembly, Solomon my son, heis hon hēretiken en autō kyrios, neos kai hapalos, kai to ergon mega, in whom has taken for himself YHWH, is young and tender, and the work is great;
hoti ouk anthrōpō hē oikodomē, all' ē kyriō theō.
for is not to man the place of abode, but only to YHWH Elohim.

Shavua Reading Schedule (43th sidrah) - 2Chr 9 - 12

ומלכת-שבא שמעה את-שמע שלמה 2Chr9:1
ותבוא לנסות את-שלמה בחידות בירושלם בחיל כבד מאד
וגמלים נשאים בשמים וזהב לרב ואבן יקרה
ותבוא אל-שלמה ותדבר עמו את כל-אשר היה עם-לבבה:

א וּמַלְכַּת־שְׁבָא שָׁמְעָה אֶת־שֵׁמַע שְׁלֹמֹה
וַתָּבוֹא לְנַסּוֹת אֶת־שְׁלֹמֹה בְחִידוֹת בִּירוּשָׁלַם בְּחַיִל כָּבֵד מְאֹד
וּגְמַלִּים נֹשְׂאִים בְּשָׂמִים וְזָהָב לָרֹב וְאֶבֶן יְקָרָה
וַתָּבוֹא אֶל־שְׁלֹמֹה וַתְּדַבֵּר עִמּוֹ אֵת כָּל־אֲשֶׁר הָיָה עִם־לְבָבָהּ׃

2Chr9:1 Now when the queen of Sheba heard of the fame of Shelomoh, she came to test Shelomoh with difficult questions to Yerushalam, with a very great train, with camels carrying spices and gold in abundance and precious stones;
and when she came to Shelomoh, she spoke with him all that was on her heart.

‹9:1› Καὶ βασίλισσα Σαβα ἤκουσεν τὸ ὄνομα Σαλωμων καὶ ἦλθεν τοῦ πειράσαι
Σαλωμων ἐν αἰνίγμασιν εἰς Ιερουσαλημ ἐν δυνάμει βαρείᾳ σφόδρα καὶ κάμηλοι αἴρουσαι ἀρώματα καὶ χρυσίον εἰς πλῆθος καὶ λίθον τίμιον καὶ ἦλθεν πρὸς Σαλωμων καὶ ἐλάλησεν πρὸς αὐτὸν πάντα, ὅσα ἐν τῇ ψυχῇ αὐτῆς.

1 Kai basilissa Saba ēkousen to onoma Salōmōn
And the queen of Sheba heard the name Solomon, kai ēlthen tou peirasai Salōmōn en ainigmasin eis Ierousalēm and she came to test Solomon with enigmas, unto Jerusalem, en dynamei bareią sphodra kai kamēloi airousai arōmata with force heavy an exceedingly, and camels carrying aromatics, kai chrysion eis plēthos kai lithon timion kai ēlthen pros Salōmōn and gold in multitude, and stone valuable. And she came to Solomon, kai elalēsen pros auton panta, hosa en tę̄ psychę̄ autēs.

and she spoke to him all as much as was in her soul.

ויגד-לה שלמה את-כל-דבריה 2
ולא-נעלם דבר משלמה אשר לא הגיד לה:
בוַיַּגֶּד־לָהּ שְׁלֹמֹה אֶת־כָּל־דְּבָרֶיהָ
וְלֹא־נֶעְלַם דָּבָר מִשְּׁלֹמֹה אֲשֶׁר לֹא הִגִּיד לָהּ׃

2. wayaged-lah Sh’lomoh ‘eth-kal-d’bareyah
w’lo’-ne`’lam dabar miSh’lomoh ‘asher lo’ higid lah.

2Chr9:2 Shelomoh told her all her matters;
nothing was hidden from Shelomoh which he did not explain to her.

‹2› καὶ ἀνήγγειλεν αὐτῇ Σαλωμων πάντας τοὺς λόγους αὐτῆς, καὶ οὐ παρῆλθεν λόγος ἀπὸ Σαλωμων, ὃν οὐκ ἀπήγγειλεν αὐτῇ.

2 kai anēggeilen autę̄ Salōmōn pantas tous logous autēs,
And announced to her Solomon all her words, kai ou parēlthen logos apo Salōmōn, hon ouk apēggeilen autę̄.
and not went by a word from Solomon which he did not report to her.

Chapter 30

2Chr30:1 וישלח יחזקיהו על-כל-ישראל ויהודה
וגם-אגרות כתב על-אפרים ומנשה לבוא לבית-יהוה
בירושלם לעשות פסח ליהוה אלהי ישראל:

אוַיִּשְׁלַח יְחִזְקִיָּהוּ עַל־כָּל־יִשְׂרָאֵל וִיהוּדָה
וְגַם־אִגְּרוֹת כָּתַב עַל־אֶפְרַיִם וּמְנַשֶּׁה לָבוֹא לְבֵית־יְהוָה
בִּירוּשָׁלִַם לַעֲשׂוֹת פֶּסַח לַיהוָה אֱלֹהֵי יִשְׂרָאֵל׃

1. wayish'lach y'Chiz'qiYahu `al-kal-Yis'ra'El wiYahudah

2Chr30:1 And ChizeqiYahu sent to all Yisra'El and Yahudah and wrote letters also to Ephrayim and Manasseh, that they should come to the house of יהוה at Yerushalam to keep the Passover to יהוה the El of Yisra'El.

‹30:1› Καὶ ἀπέστειλεν Εζεκιας ἐπὶ πάντα Ισραηλ καὶ Ιουδαν
καὶ ἐπιστολὰς ἔγραψεν ἐπὶ τὸν Εφραιμ καὶ Μανασση ἐλθεῖν
εἰς οἶκον κυρίου εἰς Ιερουσαλημ ποιῆσαι τὸ φασεκ τῷ κυρίῳ θεῷ Ισραηλ·

1 Kai apesteilen Ezekias epi panta Israēl kai Ioudan
And Hezekiah sent unto all Israel and Judah,

2 ויועץ המלך ושריו וכל-הקהל
בירושלם לעשות הפסח בחדש השני:

בוַיִּוָּעַץ הַמֶּלֶךְ וְשָׂרָיו וְכָל־הַקָּהָל
בִּירוּשָׁלָם לַעֲשׂוֹת הַפֶּסַח בַּחֹדֶשׁ הַשֵּׁנִי׃

2. wayiua`ats hamelek w'sarayu w'kal-haqahal biY'rushalam la`asoth haPesach bachodesh hasheni.

2Chr30:2 And the king and his princes and all the assembly in Yerushalam took counsel to keep the Passover in the second month,

‹2› καὶ ἐβουλεύσατο ὁ βασιλεὺς καὶ οἱ ἄρχοντες
καὶ πᾶσα ἡ ἐκκλησία ἡ ἐν Ιερουσαλημ ποιῆσαι τὸ φασεκ τῷ μηνὶ τῷ δευτέρῳ·

3. ki lo' yak'lu la`asotho ba`eth hahi' ki hakohanim lo'-hith'qad'shu l'maday w'ha`am lo'-ne'es'phu liY'rushalam.

2Chr30:3 since they could not keep it at that time, because the priests had not consecrated themselves in sufficient numbers, nor had the people been gathered to Yerushalam.

‹3› οὐ γὰρ ἠδυνάσθησαν αὐτὸ ποιῆσαι ἐν τῷ καιρῷ ἐκείνῳ, ὅτι οἱ ἱερεῖς οὐχ ἡγνίσθησαν ἱκανοί, καὶ ὁ λαὸς οὐ συνήχθη εἰς Ιερουσαλημ.

and the people were not gathered in Jerusalem.

ויישר הדבר בעיני המלך ובעיני כל-הקהל: 4

ד וַיִּישַׁר הַדָּבָר בְּעֵינֵי הַמֶּלֶךְ וּבְעֵינֵי כָּל־הַקָּהָל׃

4. wayishar hadabar b'`eyney hamelek ub'`eyney kal-haqahal.

2Chr30:4 Thus the thing was right in the sight of the king and in the sight of all the assembly.

‹4› καὶ ἤρεσεν ὁ λόγος ἐναντίον τοῦ βασιλέως καὶ ἐναντίον τῆς ἐκκλησίας.

4 kai ēresen ho logos enantion tou basileōs kai enantion tēs ekklēsias.

And was pleasing the matter before the king, and before the assembly.

ויעמידו דבר להעביר קול בכל-ישראל מבאר-שבע 5

TOBIT.

[1] THE book of the words of Tobit, the son of Tobiel, the son of Ananiel, the son of Aduel, the son of Gabael, of the seed of Asiel, of the tribe of Naphtali; [2] who in the days of * Enemessar king of the Assyrians was carried away captive out of Thisbe, which is on the right hand of Kedesh Naphtali in Galilee above Asher.

[3] I Tobit walked in the ways of truth and righteousness all the days of my life, and I did many almsdeeds to my brethren and my nation, who went with me into the land of the Assyrians, to Nineveh. [4] And when I was in mine own country, in the land of Israel, while I was yet young, all the tribe of Naphtali my father fell away from the house of Jerusalem, which was chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, that all the tribes should sacrifice there, and the temple of the habitation of the Most High was hallowed and built therein for all ages. [5] And all the tribes which fell away together sacrificed to the heifer Baal, and so did the house of Naphtali my father. [6] And I alone went often to Jerusalem at the feasts, as it hath been ordained unto all Israel by an everlasting decree, having the firstfruits and the tenths of mine increase, and that which was first shorn; and I gave them at the altar to the priests the sons of Aaron. [7] The tenth part of all mine increase I gave to the sons of Levi, who ministered at Jerusalem: and the second tenth part I sold away, and went, and spent it each year at Jerusalem: [8] and the third I gave unto them to whom it was meet, as Deborah my father's mother had commanded me, because I was left an orphan by my father. [9] And when I became a man, I took to wife Anna of the seed of our own family, and of her I begat Tobias. [10] And when I was carried away captive to Nineveh, all my brethren and those that were of my kindred did eat of the bread of the Gentiles: [11] but I kept myself from eating, [12] because I remembered God with all my soul. [13] And the Most High gave me grace and † favour in the sight of Enemessar, and I was his purveyor. [14] And I went into Media, and left in trust with Gabael, the brother of Gabrias, at Rages of Media, ten talents of silver.

[15] And when Enemessar was dead, Sennacherib his son reigned in his stead; and ‡ in his time the highways were troubled, and I could no more go into Media. [16] And in the days of Enemessar I did many almsdeeds to my brethren: I gave my bread to the hungry, [17] and my garments to the naked: and if I saw any of my race dead, and cast forth § on the wall of Ninevah, I buried him. [18] And if Sennacherib the king slew any, when he came fleeing from Judaea, I buried them privily; for in his wrath he slew many; and the bodies were sought for by the king, and were not found. [19] But one of the Ninevites went and shewed to the king concerning me, how that I buried them, and hid myself; and when I knew that I was sought for to be put to death, I withdrew myself for fear. [20] And all my goods were forcibly taken away, and there was nothing left unto me, save my wife Anna and my son Tobias. [21] And there passed not five and fifty days, before two of his sons slew him, and they fled into the mountains of Ararat. And  Sarchedonus his son reigned in his stead; and he appointed over all the accounts of his kingdom, and over all his affairs, Achiacharus my brother Anael's son. [22] And Achiacharus made request for me, and I came to Nineveh. Now Achiacharus was cupbearer, and keeper of the signet, and steward, and overseer of the accounts: and Sarchedonus appointed him next unto himself: but he was my brother's son.

[1] Now when I was come home again, and my wife Anna was restored unto me, and my son Tobias, in the feast of Pentecost, which is the holy feast of the seven weeks, there was a good dinner prepared me, and I sat down to eat. [2] And I saw abundance of meat, and I said to my son, Go and bring what poor man soever thou shalt find of our brethren, who is mindful of the Lord; and lo, I tarry for thee. [3] And he came, and said, Father, one of our race is strangled, and is cast out in the marketplace. [4] And before I had tasted aught, I sprang up, and took him up into a chamber until the sun was set. [5] And I returned, and washed myself, and ate my bread in heaviness, [6] and remembered the prophecy of Amos, as he said,

✡Your feasts shall be turned into mourning,
And all your mirth into lamentation.

[7] And I wept: and when the sun was set, I went and made a grave, and buried him. [8] And my neighbours mocked me, and said, He is no longer afraid to be put to death for this matter: and yet he fled away: and, lo, he burieth the dead again. [9] And the same night I returned from burying him, and slept by the wall of my courtyard, being polluted; and my face was uncovered: [10] and I knew not that there were sparrows in the wall; and, mine eyes being open, the sparrows muted warm dung into mine eyes, and white films came in mine eyes; and I went to the physicians, and they helped me not: but Achiacharus did nourish me, * until I went into Elymais.

[11] And my wife Anna did spin in the women's chambers, [12] and did send the work back to the owners. And they on their part paid her wages, and gave her also besides a kid. [13] But when it came to my house, it began to cry, and I said unto her, From whence is this kid? is it stolen? render it to the owners; for it is not lawful to eat anything that is stolen. [14] But she said, It hath been given me for a gift more than the wages. And I did not believe her, and I bade her render it to the owners; and I was abashed at her. But she answered and said unto me, Where are thine alms and thy righteous deeds? behold, † thou and all thy works are known.

[1] And I was grieved and wept, and prayed in sorrow, saying,

[2] O Lord, thou art righteous, and all thy works and all thy ways are mercy and truth, and thou judgest true and righteous judgement for ever. [3] Remember me, and look on me; take not vengeance on me for my sins and mine ignorances, and the sins of my fathers, which sinned before thee: [4] for they disobeyed thy commandments; and thou gavest us for a spoil, and for captivity, and for death, and for a proverb of reproach to all the nations among whom we are dispersed. [5] And now many are thy judgments, true are they; that thou shouldest deal with me according to my sins and the sins of my fathers: because we did not keep thy commandments, for we walked not in truth before thee. [6] And now deal with me according to that which is pleasing in thy sight, command my spirit to be taken from me, that I may be released, and become earth: for it is profitable for me to die rather than to live, because I have heard false reproaches, and there is much sorrow in me: command that I be now released from my distress, and go to the everlasting place: turn not thy face away from me.

[7] The same day it happened unto Sarah the daughter of Raguel in Ecbatana of Media, that she also was reproached by her father's maidservants; [8] because that she had been given to seven husbands, and Asmodaeus the evil [*] spirit slew them, before they had lain with her. And they said unto her, Dost thou not know that thou stranglest thy husbands? thou hast had already seven husbands, and thou hast had no profit of any one of them. [9] Wherefore dost thou scourge us? if they be dead, go thy ways with them; let us never see of thee either son or daughter. [10] When she heard these things, she was grieved exceedingly, so that she thought to have hanged herself: and she said, I am the only daughter of my father; if I do this, it shall be a reproach unto him, and I shall bring down his old age with sorrow to [†] the grave. [11] And she prayed by the window, and said, Blessed art thou, O Lord my God, and blessed is thy holy and honourable name for ever: let all thy works praise thee for ever. [12] And now, Lord, I have set mine eyes and my face toward thee: [13] command that I be released from the earth, and that I no more hear reproach. [14] Thou knowest, Lord, that I am pure from all sin with man, [15] and that I never polluted my name, nor the name of my father, in the land of my captivity: I am the only daughter of my father, and he hath no child that shall be his heir, nor brother near him, nor son belonging to him, that I should keep myself for a wife unto him: seven husbands of mine are dead already; why should I live? And if it pleaseth thee not to slay me, command some regard to be had of me, and pity taken of me, and that I hear no more reproach.

[16] And the prayer of both was heard before the glory of the great God. [17] Raphael also was sent to heal them both, to scale away the white films from Tobit's eyes, and to give Sarah the daughter of Raguel for a wife to Tobias the son of Tobit; and to bind Asmodaeus the evil [‡] spirit; because it belonged to Tobias that he should inherit her. The selfsame time did Tobit return and enter into his house, and Sarah the daughter of Raguel came down from her upper chamber.

[1] In that day Tobit remembered concerning the money which he had left in trust with Gabael in Rages of Media, [2] and he said in himself, I have asked for death; why do I not call my son Tobias, that I may shew to him of the money before I die? [3] And he called him, and said,

My child, [*] when I die, bury me: and despise not thy mother; honour her all the days of thy life, and do that which is pleasing unto her, and grieve her not. [4] Remember, my child, that she hath seen many dangers for thee, when thou wast in her womb. When she is dead, bury her by me in one grave. [5] My child, be mindful of the Lord our God all thy days, and let not thy will be set to sin and to transgress his commandments: do righteousness all the days of thy life, and follow not the ways of unrighteousness. [6] For if thou doest the truth, thy doings shall prosperously succeed to thee, and to all them that do righteousness. [7] Give alms of thy substance; and when thou givest alms, let not thine eye be envious: turn not away thy face from any poor man, and the face of God shall not be turned away from thee. [8] As thy substance is, give alms of it according to thine abundance: if thou have little, be not afraid to give alms according to that little: [9] for thou layest up a good treasure for thyself against the day of necessity: [10] because alms delivereth from death, and suffereth not to come into darkness. [11] Alms is a good gift in the sight of the Most High for all that give it. [12] Beware, my child, of all whoredom, and take first a wife of the seed of thy fathers, and take not a strange wife, which is not of thy father's tribe: for we are the sons of the prophets. Noah, Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, our fathers of old time, remember, my child, that they all took wives of their brethren, and were blessed in their children, and their seed shall inherit the land. [13] And now, my child, love thy brethren, and scorn not in thy heart thy brethren, and the sons and the daughters of thy people, to take a wife of them: for in scornfulness is destruction and much trouble, and in naughtiness is decay and great want: for naughtiness is the mother of famine. [14] Let not the wages of any man, which shall work for thee, tarry with thee, but render it unto him out of hand: and if thou serve God, recompense shall be made unto thee. Take heed to thyself, my child, in all thy works, and be discreet in all thy behaviour. [15] And what thou thyself hatest, do to no man. Drink not wine unto drunkenness, and let not drunkenness go with thee on thy way. [16] Give of thy bread to the hungry, and of thy garments to them that are naked: of all thine abundance give alms; and let not thine eye be envious when thou givest alms. [17] Pour out thy bread on the † burial of the just, and give nothing to sinners. [18] Ask counsel of every man that is wise, and despise not any counsel that is profitable. [19] And bless the Lord thy God at all times, and ask of him that thy ways may be made straight, and that all thy paths and counsels may prosper: for every nation hath not counsel; but the Lord himself giveth all good things, and he humbleth whom he will, as he will. And now, my child, remember my commandments, and let them not be blotted out of thy mind. [20] And now I shew thee of the ten talents of silver, which I left in trust with Gabael the son of Gabrias at Rages of Media. [21] And fear not, my child, because we are made poor: thou hast much wealth, if thou fear God, and depart from all sin, and do that which is pleasing in his sight.

[1] And Tobias answered and said unto him, Father, I will do all things, whatsoever thou hast commanded me: [2] but how shall I be able to receive the money, seeing I know him not? [3] And he gave him the handwriting, and said unto him, Seek thee a man which shall go with thee, and I will give him wages, whiles I yet live: and go and receive the money. [4] And he went to seek a man, and found Raphael which was an angel; [5] and he knew it not; and he said unto him, Can I go with thee to Rages of Media? and knowest thou the places well? [6] And the angel said unto him, I will go with thee, and I know the way well: and I have lodged with our brother Gabael. [7] And Tobias said unto him, Wait for me, and I will tell my father. [8] And he said unto him, Go, and tarry not. And he went in and said to his father, Behold, I have found one which will go with me. But he said, Call him unto me, that I may know of what tribe he is, and whether he be a trusty man to go with thee.

[9] And he called him, and he came in, and they saluted one another. [10] And Tobit said unto him, Brother, of what tribe and of what family art thou? Shew me. [11] And he said unto him, Seekest thou a tribe and a family, or a hired man which shall go with thy son? And Tobit said unto him, I would know, brother, thy kindred and thy name. [12] And he said, I am Azarias, the son of Ananias the great, of thy brethren. [13] And he said unto him, Welcome, brother; and be not angry with me, because I sought to know thy tribe and family: and thou art my brother, of an honest and good lineage: for I knew Ananias and Jathan, the sons of Shemaiah the great, when we went together to Jerusalem to worship, and offered the firstborn, and the tenths of our increase; and they went not astray in the error of our brethren: my brother, thou art of a great stock. [14] But tell me, what wages shall I give thee? a drachma a day, and those things that be necessary for thee, as unto my son? [15] And moreover, if ye return safe and sound, I will add something to thy wages. [16] And so they consented. And he said to Tobias, Prepare thyself for the journey, and God prosper you. And his son prepared what was needful for the journey, and his father said unto him, Go thou with this man; but God, which dwelleth in heaven, shall prosper your journey; and may his angel go with you. And they both went forth to depart, and the young man's dog with them.

[17] But Anna his mother wept, and said to Tobit, Why hast thou sent away our child? is he not the staff of our hand, in going in and out before us? [18] Be not greedy to add money to money: but let it be as refuse in respect of our child. [19] For as the Lord hath given us to live, so doth it suffice us. [20] And Tobit said to her, Take no care, my sister; he shall return safe and sound, and thine eyes shall see him. [21] For a good angel shall go with him, and his journey shall be prospered, and he shall return safe and sound. [22] And she made an end of weeping.

[1] Now as they went on their journey, they came at eventide to the river Tigris, and they lodged there. [2] But the young man went down to wash himself, and a fish leaped out of the river, and would have swallowed up the young man. [3] But the angel said unto him, Take hold on the fish. And the young man caught hold of the fish, and cast it up on the land. [4] And the angel said unto him, Cut the fish open, and take the heart and the liver and the gall, and put them up safely. [5] And the young man did as the angel commanded him; but they roasted the fish, and ate it. And they both went on their way, till they drew near to Ecbatana. [6] And the young man said to the angel, Brother Azarias, to what use is the heart and the liver and the gall of the fish? [7] And he said unto him, Touching the heart and the liver, if a [*] devil or an evil spirit trouble any, we must make a smoke thereof before the man or the woman, and the party shall be no more vexed. [8] But as for the gall, it is good to anoint a man that hath white films in his eyes, and he shall be healed.

[9] But when they drew nigh unto Rages, [10] the angel said to the young man, Brother, to-day we shall lodge with Raguel, and he is thy kinsman; and he hath an only daughter, named Sarah. I will speak for her, that she should be given thee for a wife. [11] For to thee doth the inheritance of her appertain, and thou only art of her kindred: [12] and the maid is fair and wise. And now hear me, and I will speak to her father; and when we return from Rages we will celebrate the marriage: for I know that Raguel may in no wise marry her to another according to the law of Moses, or else he shall be liable to death, because it appertaineth unto thee to take the inheritance, rather than any other. [13] Then the young man said unto the angel, Brother Azarias, I have heard that this maid hath been given to seven men, and that they all perished in the bride-chamber. [14] And now I am the only son of my father, and I am afraid, lest I go in and die, even as those before me: for a [†] devil loveth her, which hurteth no man, but those which come unto her: and now I fear lest I die, and bring my father's and my mother's life to the grave with sorrow because of me: and they have no other son to bury them. [15] But the angel said unto him, Dost thou not remember the words which thy father commanded thee, that thou shouldest take a wife of thine own kindred? and now hear me, brother; for she shall be thy wife; and make thou no reckoning of the devil; for this night shall she be given thee to wife. [16] And [‡] when thou shalt come into the bride-chamber, thou shalt take the ashes of incense, and shalt lay upon them some of the heart and liver of the fish, and shalt make a smoke therewith: [17] and the devil shall smell it, and flee away, and never come again any more. But when thou goest nigh unto her, rise up both of you, and cry to God which is merciful, and he shall save you, and have mercy on you. Fear not, for she was prepared for thee from the beginning; and thou shalt save her, and she shall go with thee. And I suppose that thou shalt have children of her. And when Tobias heard these things, he loved her, and his soul clave to her exceedingly.

[1] And they came to Ecbatana, and arrived at the house of Raguel. But Sarah met them; and she saluted them, and they her; and she brought them into the house. [2] And he said to Edna his wife, How like is the young man to Tobit my cousin. [3] And Raguel asked them, From whence are ye, brethren? And they said unto him, We are of the sons of Naphtali, which are captives in Nineveh. [4] And he said unto them, Know ye Tobit our brother? But they said, We know him. And he said unto them, Is he in good health? [5] But they said, He is both alive, and in good health: and Tobias said, He is my father. [6] And Raguel sprang up, and kissed him, and wept, [7] and blessed him, and said unto him, Thou art the son of an honest and good man. And when he had heard that Tobit had lost his sight, he was grieved, and wept; [8] and Edna his wife and Sarah his daughter wept. And they received them gladly; and they killed a ram of the flock, and set store of meat before them.

But Tobias said to Raphael, Brother Azarias, speak of those things of which thou didst talk in the way, and let the matter be finished. [9] And he communicated the thing to Raguel: and Raguel said to Tobias, Eat and drink, and make merry: [10] for it appertaineth unto thee to take my child. Howbeit I will shew thee the truth. [11] I have given my child to seven men, and whensoever they came in unto her, they died in the night. But for the present be merry. And Tobias said, I will taste nothing here, until ye make covenant and enter into covenant with me. [12] And Raguel said, Take her to thyself from henceforth according to the manner: thou art her brother, and she is thine: but the merciful God shall give all good success to you. [13] And he called his daughter Sarah, and took her by the hand, and gave her to be wife to Tobias, and said, Behold, take her to thyself after the law of Moses, and lead her away to thy father. And he blessed them; [14] And he called Edna his wife, and took a book, and wrote an instrument, and sealed it. [15] And they began to eat.

[16] And Raguel called his wife Edna, and said unto her, Sister, prepare the other chamber, and bring her in thither. [17] And she did as he bade her, and brought her in thither: and she wept, and she received the tears of her daughter, and said unto her, [18] Be of good comfort, my child; the Lord of heaven and earth give thee * favour for this thy sorrow: be of good comfort, my daughter.

[1] And when they had finished their supper, they brought Tobias in unto her. [2] But as he went, he remembered the words of Raphael, and took the ashes of the incense, and put the heart and the liver of the fish thereupon, and made a smoke therewith. [3] But when the * devil smelled the smell, he fled into the uppermost parts of Egypt, and the angel bound him. [4] But after they were both shut in together, Tobias rose up from the bed, and said, Sister, arise, and let us pray that the Lord may have mercy on us. [5] And Tobias began to say, Blessed art thou, O God of our fathers, and blessed is thy holy and glorious name for ever; let the heavens bless thee, and all thy creatures. [6] Thou madest Adam, and gavest him Eve his wife for a helper and a stay: of them came the seed of men: thou didst say, it is not good that the man should be alone; let us make him a helper like unto him. [7] And now, O Lord, I take not this my sister for lust, but in truth: command that I may find mercy and grow old with her. [8] And she said with him, Amen. And they slept both that night.

[9] And Raguel arose, and went and digged a grave, [10] saying, Lest he also should die. [11] And Raguel came into his house, [12] and said to Edna his wife, Send one of the maidservants, and let them see whether he be alive: but if not, that we may bury him, and no man know it. [13] So the maidservant opened the door, and went in, and found them both sleeping, [14] and came forth, and told them that he was alive. [15] And Raguel blessed God, saying,

Blessed art thou, O God, with all pure and holy blessing; and let thy saints bless thee, and all thy creatures; and let all thine angels and thine elect bless thee for ever. [16] Blessed art thou, because thou hast made me glad; and it hath not befallen me as I suspected; but thou hast dealt with us according to thy great mercy. [17] Blessed art thou, because thou hast had mercy on two that were the only begotten children of their parents: shew them mercy, O Lord; accomplish their life in health with gladness and mercy.

[18] But he commanded his servants to fill the grave. [19] And he kept the wedding feast for them fourteen days. [20] And before the days of the wedding feast were finished, Raguel sware unto him, that he should not depart till the fourteen days of the wedding feast were fulfilled; [21] and that then he should take the half of his goods, and go in safety to his father; and the rest, said he, when I and my wife shall die.

[1] And Tobias called Raphael, and said unto him, [2] Brother Azarias, take with thee a servant, and two camels, and go to Rages of Media to Gabael, and receive the money for me, and bring him to the wedding feast: [3] because Raguel hath sworn that I shall not depart; [4] and my father counteth the days; and if I tarry long, he will be sorely grieved. [5] And Raphael went on his way, and lodged with Gabael, and gave him the handwriting: but he brought forth the bags with their seals, and gave them to him. [6] And they rose up early in the morning together, and came to the wedding feast: and Tobias blessed his wife.

[1] And Tobit his father made his count every day: and when the days of the journey were expired, and they came not, [2] he said, * Is he perchance detained? or is Gabael perchance dead, and there is no man to give him the money? [3] And he was sorely grieved. [4] But his wife said unto him, The child hath perished, seeing he tarrieth long; and she began to bewail him, and said, [5] † I care for nothing, my child, since I have let thee go, the light of mine eyes. [6] And Tobit saith unto her, Hold thy peace, take no care; he is in good health. [7] And she said unto him, Hold thy peace, deceive me not; my child hath perished. And she went out every day into the way by which they went, and did eat no bread in the day-time, and ceased not whole nights to bewail her son Tobias, until the fourteen days of the wedding feast were expired, which Raguel had sworn that he should spend there.

But Tobias said unto Raguel, Send me away, for my father and my mother look no more to see me. [8] But his father in law said unto him, Abide with me, and I will send to thy father, and they shall declare unto him how things go with thee. [9] And Tobias saith, No; but send me away to my father. [10] But Raguel arose, and gave him Sarah his wife, and half his goods, servants and cattle and money; [11] and he blessed them, and sent them away, saying, The God of heaven shall prosper you, my children, before I die. [12] And he said to his daughter, Honour thy father and thy mother in law; they are now thy parents; let me hear a good report of thee. And he kissed her. And Edna said to Tobias, The Lord of heaven restore thee, dear brother, and grant to me that I may see thy children of my daughter Sarah, that I may rejoice before the Lord: and, behold, I commit my daughter unto thee in special trust: vex her not.

[1] After these things Tobias also went his way, blessing God because he had prospered his journey; and he blessed Raguel and Edna his wife. And he went on his way till they drew near unto Nineveh. [2] And Raphael said to Tobias, Knowest thou not, brother, how thou didst leave thy father? [3] Let us run forward before thy wife, and prepare the house. [4] But take in thy hand the gall of the fish. And they went their way, and the dog went after them. [5] And Anna sat looking about toward the way for her son. [6] And she espied him coming, and said to his father, Behold, thy son cometh, and the man that went with him. [7] And Raphael said, I know, Tobias, that thy father will open his eyes. [8] Do thou therefore anoint his eyes with the gall, and being pricked therewith, he shall rub, and shall make the white films to fall away, and he shall see thee.

[9] And Anna ran unto him, and fell upon the neck of her son, and said unto him, I have seen thee, my child; from henceforth I will die. And they wept both. [10] And Tobit went forth toward the door, and stumbled: but his son ran unto him, [11] and took hold of his father: and he strake the gall on his father's eyes, saying, Be of good cheer, my father. [12] But when his eyes began to smart, he rubbed them; [13] and the white films scaled away from the corners of his eyes; and he saw his son, and fell upon his neck. [14] And he wept, and said,

Blessed art thou, O God, and blessed is thy name for ever, and blessed are all thy holy angels; [15] for thou didst scourge, and didst have mercy on me: behold, I see my son Tobias. And his son went in rejoicing, and told his father the great things that had happened to him in Media.

[16] And Tobit went out to meet his daughter in law at the gate of Nineveh, rejoicing, and blessing God: and they which saw him go marvelled, because he had received his sight. [17] And Tobit gave thanks before them, because God had shewed mercy on him. And when Tobit came near to Sarah his daughter in law, he blessed her, saying, Welcome, daughter: blessed is God which hath brought thee unto us, and blessed are thy father and thy mother. And there was joy to all his brethren which were at Nineveh. [18] And Achiacharus, and Nasbas his brother's son, came: [19] and Tobias' wedding feast was kept seven days with great gladness.

[1] And Tobit called his son Tobias, and said unto him, See, my child, that the man which went with thee have his wages, and thou must give him more. [2] And he said unto him, Father, it is no harm to me to give him the half of those things which I have brought: [3] for he hath led me for thee in safety, and he cured my wife, and brought my money, and likewise cured thee. [4] And the old man said, It is due unto him. [5] And he called the angel, and said unto him, Take the half of all that ye have brought. [6] Then he called them both privily, and said unto them,

Bless God, and give him thanks, and magnify him, and give him thanks in the sight of all that live, for the things which he hath done with you. It is good to bless God and exalt his name, shewing forth with honour the works of God; and be not slack to give him thanks. [7] It is good to keep close the secret of a king, but to reveal gloriously the works of God. Do good, and evil shall not find you. [8] Good is prayer with fasting and alms and righteousness. A little with righteousness is better than much with unrighteousness. It is better to give alms than to lay up gold: [9] alms doth deliver from death, and it shall purge away all sin. They that do alms and righteousness shall be filled with life; [10] but they that sin are enemies to their own life. [11] Surely I will keep close nothing from you. I have said, It is good to keep close the secret of a king, but to reveal gloriously the works of God. [12] And now, when thou didst pray, and Sarah thy daughter in law, I did bring the memorial of your prayer before the Holy One: and when thou didst bury the dead, I was with thee likewise. [13] And when thou didst not delay to rise up, and leave thy dinner, that thou mightest go and cover the dead, thy good deed was not hid from me: but I was with thee. [14] And now God did send me to heal thee and Sarah thy daughter in law. [15] I am Raphael, one of the seven holy angels, which present the prayers of the saints, and go in before the glory of the Holy One.

[16] And they were both troubled, and fell upon their faces; for they were afraid. [17] And he said unto them, Be not afraid, ye shall have peace; but bless God for ever. [18] For not of any favour of mine, but by the will of your God I came; wherefore bless him for ever. [19] All these days did I appear unto you; and I did neither eat nor drink, but ye saw a vision. [20] And now give God thanks: because I ascend to him that sent me: and write in a book all the things which have been done. [21] And they rose up, and saw him no more. [22] And they confessed the great and wonderful works of God, and how the angel of the Lord had appeared unto them.

[1] And Tobit wrote a prayer for rejoicing, and said,
Blessed is God that liveth for ever,
And blessed is his kingdom.
[2] For he scourgeth, and sheweth mercy:
He leadeth down to [*] the grave, and bringeth up again:
And there is none that shall escape his hand.
[3] Give thanks unto him before the Gentiles, ye children of Israel:
For he hath scattered us among them.
[4] There declare his greatness,
And extol him before all the living:
Because he is our Lord,
And God is our Father for ever.
[5] And he will scourge us for our iniquities, and will again shew mercy,
And will gather us out of all the nations among whom ye are scattered.
[6] If ye turn to him with your whole heart and with your whole soul,
To do truth before him,
Then will he turn unto you,
And will not hide his face from you.
And see what he will do with you,
And give him thanks with your whole mouth,
And bless the Lord of righteousness,
And exalt the everlasting King.
I in the land of my captivity give him thanks,
And shew his strength and majesty to a nation of sinners.
Turn, ye sinners, and do righteousness before him:
Who can tell if he will accept you and have mercy on you?
[7] I exalt my God,
And my soul doth exalt the King of heaven,
And it shall rejoice in his greatness.
[8] Let all men speak, and let them give him thanks in Jerusalem.
[9] O Jerusalem, the holy city,
He will scourge thee for the works of thy sons,
And will again have mercy on the sons of the righteous.
[10] Give thanks to the Lord with goodness,
And bless the everlasting King,
That his tabernacle may be builded in thee again with joy,
And that he may make glad in thee those that are captives,
And love in thee for ever those that are miserable.
[11] Many nations shall come from far to the name of the Lord God
With gifts in their hands, even gifts to the King of heaven;
Generations of generations shall praise thee,
And sing songs of rejoicing.
[12] Cursed are all they that hate thee;
Blessed shall be all they that love thee for ever.
[13] Rejoice and be exceeding glad for the sons of the righteous:
For they shall be gathered together and shall bless the Lord of the righteous.
[14] O blessed are they that love thee;
They shall rejoice for thy peace:
Blessed are all they that sorrowed for all thy scourges:
Because they shall rejoice for thee,

When they have seen all thy glory;
And they shall be made glad for ever.
[15] Let my soul bless God the great King.
[16] For Jerusalem shall be builded with sapphires and emeralds and precious stones;
Thy walls and towers and battlements with pure gold.
[17] And the streets of Jerusalem shall be paved with beryl and carbuncle and stones of Ophir.
[18] And all her streets shall say, Hallelujah, and give praise,
Saying, Blessed is God, which hath exalted thee for ever.

[1] And Tobit made an end of giving thanks. [2] And he was eight and fifty years old when he lost his sight; and after eight years he received it again: and he gave alms, and he feared the Lord God more and more, and gave thanks unto him.

[3] Now he grew very old; and he called his son, and the six sons of his son, and said unto him,

My child, take thy sons: behold, I am grown old, and am ready to depart out of this life. [4] Go into Media, my child, for I surely believe all the things which Jonah the prophet spake of Nineveh, that it shall be overthrown, but in Media there shall rather be peace for a season; and that our brethren shall be scattered in the earth from the good land; and Jerusalem shall be desolate, and the house of God in it shall be burned up, and shall be desolate for a time; [5] and God shall again have mercy on them, and bring them back into the land, and they shall build the house, but not like to the former house, until the times of that age be fulfilled; and afterward they shall return from the places of their captivity, and build up Jerusalem with honour, and the house of God shall be built in it for ever with a glorious building, even as the prophets spake concerning it. [6] And all the nations shall turn to fear the Lord God truly, and shall bury their idols. [7] And all the nations shall bless the Lord, and his people shall give thanks unto God, and the Lord shall exalt his people; and all they that love the Lord God in truth and righteousness shall rejoice, shewing mercy to our brethren. [8] And now, my child, depart from Nineveh, because those things which the prophet Jonah spake shall surely come to pass. [9] But keep thou the law and the ordinances, and shew thyself merciful and righteous, that it may be well with thee. [10] And bury me decently, and thy mother with me; and dwell ye no longer at Nineveh. See, my child, what Aman did to Achiacharus that nourished him, how out of light he brought him into darkness, and all the recompense that he made him: and Achiacharus was saved, but the other had his recompense, and he went down into darkness. Manasses gave alms, and escaped the snare of death which he set for him: but Aman fell into the snare, and perished. [11] And now, my children, consider what alms doeth, and how righteousness doth deliver.

And while he was saying these things, he gave up the ghost in the bed; but he was a hundred and eight and fifty years old; and he buried him magnificently. [12] And when Anna died, he buried her with his father. But Tobias departed with his wife and his sons to Ecbatana unto Raguel his father in law, [13] and he grew old in honour, and he buried his father and mother in law magnificently, and he inherited their substance, and his father Tobit's. [14] And he died at Ecbatana of Media, being a hundred and seven and twenty years old. [15] And before he died he heard of the destruction of Nineveh, which Nebuchadnezzar and Ahasuerus took captive; and before his death he rejoiced over Nineveh.

JUDITH.

[1] IN the twelfth year of the reign of Nebuchadnezzar, who reigned over the Assyrians in Nineveh, the great city; in the days of Arphaxad, who reigned over the Medes in Ecbatana, [2] and built at Ecbatana and round about it walls of hewn stones three cubits broad and six cubits long, and made the height of the wall seventy cubits, and the breadth thereof fifty cubits; [3] and set the towers thereof at the gates thereof, a hundred cubits high, and the breadth thereof in the foundation threescore cubits; [4] and made the gates thereof, even gates that were raised to the height of seventy cubits, and the breadth of them forty cubits, for the going forth of his mighty hosts, and the setting in array of his footmen: [5] even in those days king Nebuchadnezzar made war with king Arphaxad in the great plain: this plain is in the borders of Ragau. [6] And there came to meet him all that dwelt in the hill country, and all that dwelt by Euphrates, and Tigris, and Hydaspes, and in the plain of Arioch the king of the Elymaeans; and many nations of the sons of Chelod assembled themselves to the battle.

[7] And Nebuchadnezzar king of the Assyrians sent unto all that dwelt in Persia, and to all that dwelt westward, to those that dwelt in Cilicia and Damascus and Libanus and Antilibanus, and to all that dwelt over against the sea coast, [8] and to those among the nations that were of Carmel and Gilead, and to the higher Galilee and the great plain of Esdraelon, [9] and to all that were in Samaria and the cities thereof, and beyond Jordan unto Jerusalem, and Betane, and Chellus, and Kadesh, and the river of Egypt, and Tahpanhes, and Rameses, and all the land of Goshen, [10] until thou comest above Tanis and Memphis, and to all that dwelt in Egypt, until thou comest to the borders of Ethiopia. [11] And all they that dwelt in all the land made light of the commandment of Nebuchadnezzar king of the Assyrians, and went not with him to the war; for they were not afraid of him, but he was before them as one man; and they turned away his messengers from their presence without effect, and with disgrace. [12] And Nebuchadnezzar was exceeding wroth with all this land, and he sware by his throne and kingdom, that he would surely be avenged upon all the coasts of Cilicia and Damascus and Syria, that he would slay with his sword all the inhabitants of the land of Moab, and the children of Ammon, and all Judaea, and all that were in Egypt, until thou comest to the borders of the two seas. [13] And he set the battle in array with his host against king Arphaxad in the seventeenth year; and he prevailed in his battle, and turned to flight all the host of Arphaxad, and all his horse, and all his chariots; [14] and he became master of his cities, and he came even unto Ecbatana, and took the towers, and spoiled the streets thereof, and turned the beauty thereof into shame. [15] And he took Arphaxad in the mountains of Ragau, and smote him through with his darts, and destroyed him utterly, unto this day. [16] And he returned with them to Nineveh, he and all his company of sundry nations, an exceeding great multitude of men of war, and there he took his ease and banqueted, he and his host, a hundred and twenty days.

[1] And in the eighteenth year, the two and twentieth day of the first month, there was talk in the house of Nebuchadnezzar king of the Assyrians, that he should be avenged on all the land, even as he spake. [2] And he called together all his servants, and all his great men, and communicated with them his secret counsel, and concluded the afflicting of all the land out of his own mouth. [3] And they decreed to destroy all flesh which followed not the word of his mouth. [4] And it came to pass, when he had ended his counsel, Nebuchadnezzar king of the Assyrians called Holofernes the chief captain of his host, which was next after himself, and said unto him,

[5] Thus saith the great king, the lord of all the earth, Behold, thou shalt go forth from my presence, and take with thee men that trust in their strength, unto a hundred and twenty thousand footmen; and the number of horses with their riders twelve thousand: [6] and thou shalt go forth against all the west country, because they disobeyed the commandment of my mouth. [7] And thou shalt declare unto them, that they prepare earth and water; because I will go forth in my wrath against them, and will cover the whole face of the earth with the feet of my host, and I will give them for a spoil unto them: [8] and their slain shall fill their valleys and brooks, and the river shall be filled with their dead, till it overflow: [9] and I will lead them captives to the utmost parts of all the earth. [10] But thou shalt go forth, and take beforehand for me all their coasts; and * if they shall yield themselves unto thee, then shalt thou reserve them for me till the day of their reproof. [11] But as for them that are disobedient, thine eye shall not spare; but thou shalt give them up to be slain and to be spoiled in all thy land. [12] For as I live, and by the power of my kingdom, I have spoken, and I will do this with my hand. [13] And thou, moreover, shalt not transgress aught of the commandments of thy lord, but thou shalt surely accomplish them, as I have commanded thee, and thou shalt not defer to do them.

[14] And Holofernes went forth from the presence of his lord, and called all the governors and the captains and officers of the host of Asshur; [15] and he numbered chosen men for the battle, as his lord had commanded him, unto a hundred and twenty thousand, and twelve thousand archers on horseback; [16] and he ranged them, as a great multitude is ordered for the war. [17] And he took camels and asses and mules for their baggage, an exceeding great multitude; and sheep and oxen and goats without number for their provision; [18] and great store of victual for every man, and exceeding much gold and silver out of the king's house. [19] And he went forth, he and all his host, on their journey, to go before king Nebuchadnezzar, and to cover all the face of the earth westward with their chariots and horsemen and chosen footmen. [20] And a great company of sundry nations went forth with them like locusts, and like the sand of the earth: for they could not be numbered by reason of their multitude.

of Japheth, which were toward the south, over against Arabia. [26] And he compassed about all the children of Midian, and set on fire their tents, and spoiled their sheepcotes. [27] And he went down into the plain of Damascus in the days of wheat harvest, and set on fire all their fields, and utterly destroyed their flocks and herds, and spoiled their cities, and laid their plains waste, and smote all their young men with the edge of the sword.

[28] And the fear and the dread of him fell upon them that dwelt on the sea coast, upon them that were in Sidon and Tyre, and them that dwelt in Sur and Ocina, and all that dwelt in Jemnaan; and they that dwelt in Azotus and Ascalon feared him exceedingly.

[1] And they sent unto him messengers with words of peace, saying, [2] Behold, we the servants of Nebuchadnezzar the great king lie before thee: use us as it is pleasing in thy sight. [3] Behold, our dwellings, and all our country, and all our fields of wheat, and our flocks and herds, and all the sheepcotes of our tents, lie before thy face: use them as it may please thee. [4] Behold, even our cities and they that dwell in them are thy servants: come and deal with them as it is good in thine eyes. [5] And the men came to Holofernes, and declared unto him according to these words.

[6] And he came down toward the sea coast, he and his host, and set garrisons in the high cities, and took out of them chosen men for allies. [7] And they received him, they and all the country round about them, with garlands and dances and timbrels. [8] And he cast down all their borders, and cut down their groves: and it had been given unto him to destroy all the gods of the land, that all the nations should worship Nebuchadnezzar only, and that all their tongues and their tribes should call upon him as god. [9] And he came towards Esdraelon nigh unto Dotaea, which is over against the great ridge of Judaea. [10] And he encamped between Geba and Scythopolis, and he was there a whole month, that he might gather together all the baggage of his host.

[1] And the children of Israel that dwelt in Judaea heard all that Holofernes the chief captain of Nebuchadnezzar king of the Assyrians had done to the nations, and after what manner he had spoiled all their temples, and destroyed them utterly. [2] And they were exceedingly afraid before him, and were troubled for Jerusalem, and for the temple of the Lord their God: [3] because they were newly come up from the captivity, and all the people of Judaea were lately gathered together; and the vessels, and the altar, and the house, were sanctified after the profanation.

[4] And they sent into every coast of Samaria, and to Konae, and to Beth-horon, and Belmaim, and Jericho, and to Choba, and Aesora, and to the valley of Salem; [5] and they possessed themselves beforehand of all the tops of the high mountains, and fortified the villages that were in them, and laid up victual for the provision of war: for their fields were newly reaped. [6] And Joakim the high priest, which was in those days at Jerusalem, wrote to them that dwelt in Bethulia, and Betomesthaim, which is over against Esdraelon toward the plain that is nigh unto Dothaim, [7] charging them to seize upon the ascents of the hill country; because by them was the entrance into Judaea, and it was easy to stop them from approaching, inasmuch as the approach was narrow, with space for two men at the most. [8] And the children of Israel did as Joakim the high priest had commanded them, and the senate of all the people of Israel, which dwelt at Jerusalem.

[9] And every man of Israel cried to God with great earnestness, and with great earnestness did they humble their souls. [10] They, and their wives, and their babes, and their cattle, and every sojourner and hireling and servant bought with their money, put sackcloth upon their loins. [11] And every man and woman of Israel, and the little children, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, fell before the temple, and cast ashes upon their heads, and spread out their sackcloth before the Lord; and they put sackcloth about the altar: [12] and they cried to the God of Israel earnestly with one consent, that he would not give their babes for a prey, and their wives for a spoil, and the cities of their inheritance to destruction, and the sanctuary to profanation and reproach, for the nations to rejoice at. [13] And the Lord heard their voice, and looked upon their affliction: and the people continued fasting many days in all Judaea and Jerusalem before the sanctuary of the Lord Almighty. [14] And Joakim the high priest, and all the priests that stood before the Lord, and they that ministered unto the Lord, had their loins girt about with sackcloth, and offered the continual burnt offering, and the vows and the free gifts of the people; [15] and they had ashes on their mitres: and they cried unto the Lord with all their power, that he would look upon all the house of Israel for good.

[1] And it was told Holofernes, the chief captain of the host of Asshur, that the children of Israel had prepared for war, and had shut up the passages of the hill country, and had fortified all the tops of the high hills, and had laid impediments in the plains: [2] and he was exceeding wroth, and he called all the princes of Moab, and the captains of Ammon, and all the governors of the sea coast, [3] and he said unto them, Tell me now, ye sons of Canaan, who is this people, that dwelleth in the hill country, and what are the cities that they inhabit, and what is the multitude of their host, and wherein is their power and their strength, and what king is set over them, to be the leader of their army; [4] and why have they turned their backs, that they should not come and meet me, more than all that dwell in the west.

[5] And Achior, the leader of all the children of Ammon, said unto him,

Let my lord now hear a word from the mouth of thy servant, and I will tell thee the truth concerning this people, which dwelleth in this hill country, nigh unto the place where thou dwellest: and there shall no lie come out of the mouth of thy servant. [6] This people are descended of the Chaldeans: [7] and they sojourned heretofore in Mesopotamia, because they were not minded to follow the gods of their fathers, which were in the land of the Chaldeans. [8] And they departed from the way of their parents, and worshipped the God of heaven, the God whom they knew: and they cast them out from the face of their gods, and they fled into Mesopotamia, and sojourned there many days. [9] And their God commanded them to depart from the place where they sojourned, and to go into the land of Canaan: and they dwelt there, and were increased with gold and silver, and with exceeding much cattle. [10] And they went down into Egypt, for a famine covered all the land of Canaan; and there they sojourned, until they were grown up; and they became there a great multitude, so that one could not number their nation. [11] And the king of Egypt rose up against them, and dealt subtilly with them, [*] and brought them low, making them to labour in brick, and made them slaves. [12] And they cried unto their God, and he smote all the land of Egypt with incurable plagues: and the Egyptians cast them out of their sight. [13] And God dried up the Red sea before them, [14] and brought them into the way of Sinai, and Kadesh-Barnea, and they cast out all that dwelt in the wilderness. [15] And they dwelt in the land of the Amorites, and they destroyed by their strength all them of Heshbon, and passing over Jordan they possessed all the hill country. [16] And they cast out before them the Canaanite, the Perizzite, the Jebusite, and the Shechemite, and all the Girgashites, and they dwelt in that country many days. [17] And whilst they sinned not before their God, they prospered, because God that hateth iniquity was with them. [18] But when they departed from the way which he appointed them, they were destroyed in many battles very sore, and were led captives into a land that was not theirs, and the temple of their God was cast to the ground, and their cities were taken by their adversaries. [19] And now they are returned to their God, and are come up from the dispersion where they were dispersed, and have possessed Jerusalem, where their sanctuary is, and are seated in the hill country: for it was desolate. [20] And now, my lord and master, if there is any error in this people, and they sin against their God, we will consider what this thing is wherein they stumble, and we will go up and overcome them. [21] But if there is no lawlessness in their nation, let my lord now pass by, lest their Lord defend them, and their God be for them, and we shall be a reproach before all the earth.

[22] And it came to pass, when Achior had finished speaking these words, all the people that compassed the tent and stood round about it murmured; and the great men of Holofernes, and all that dwelt by the sea side, and in Moab, spake that he should kill him. [23] For, said they, we will not be afraid of the children of Israel: for, lo, it is a people that hath no power nor might to make the battle strong. [24] Wherefore now we will go up, and they shall be a prey to be devoured of all thine army, lord Holofernes.

[1] And when the tumult of the men that were about the council was ceased, Holofernes the chief captain of the host of Asshur said unto Achior and to all the children of [*] Moab before all the people of the aliens,

[2] And who art thou, Achior, and the hirelings of [†] Ephraim, that thou hast prophesied among us as to-day, and hast said, that we should not make war with the race of Israel, because their God will defend them? And who is God but Nebuchadnezzar? [3] He shall send forth his might, and shall destroy them from the face of the earth, and their God shall not deliver them: but we his servants shall smite them as one man; and they shall not sustain the might of our horses. [4] For with them we shall burn them up, and their mountains shall be drunken with their blood, and their plains shall be filled with their dead bodies, and their footsteps shall not stand before us, but they shall surely perish, saith king Nebuchadnezzar, lord of all the earth: for he said, The words that [‡] I have spoken shall not be in vain. [5] But thou, Achior, hireling of Ammon, which hast spoken these words in the day of thine iniquity, shalt see my face no more from this day, until I shall be avenged of the race of those that came out of Egypt. [6] And then shall the sword of mine army, and the multitude of them that serve me, pass through thy sides, and thou shalt fall among their slain, when I shall return. [7] And my servants shall bring thee back into the hill country, and shall set thee in one of the cities of the ascents: [8] and thou shalt not perish, till thou be destroyed with them. [9] And if thou hopest in thy heart that they shall not be taken, let not thy countenance fall. I have spoken it, and none of my words shall fall to the ground. [10] And Holofernes commanded his servants, that waited in his tent, to take Achior, and bring him back to Bethulia, and deliver him into the hands of the children of Israel. [11] And his servants took him, and brought him out of the camp into the plain, and they removed from the midst of the plain country into the hill country, and came unto the fountains that were under Bethulia. [12] And when the men of the city saw them on the top of the hill, they took up their weapons, and went out of the city against them to the top of the hill: and every man that used a sling kept them from coming up, and cast stones against them. [13] And they gat them privily under the hill, and bound Achior, and cast him down, and left him at the foot of the hill, and went away unto their lord. [14] But the children of Israel descended from their city, and came upon him, and loosed him, and led him away into Bethulia, and presented him to the rulers of their city; [15] which were in those days Ozias the son of Micah, of the tribe of Simeon, and Chabris the son of Gothoniel, and Charmis the son of Melchiel. [16] And they called together all the elders of the city; and all their young men ran together, and their women, to the assembly; and they set Achior in the midst of all their people. And Ozias asked him of that which had happened: [17] and he answered and declared unto them the words of the council of Holofernes, and all the words that he had spoken in the midst of the princes of the children of Asshur, and all the great words that Holofernes had spoken against the house of Israel. [18] And the people fell down and worshipped God, and cried, saying, [19] O Lord God of heaven, behold their arrogance, and pity the low estate of our race, and look upon the face of those that are sanctified unto thee this day. [20] And they comforted Achior, and praised him exceedingly. [21] And Ozias took him out of the assembly into his house, and made a feast to the elders; and they called on the God of Israel for help all that night.

[1] But the next day Holofernes gave command to all his army, and to all his people which were come to be his allies, that they should remove their camp toward Bethulia, and take aforehand the ascents of the hill country, and make war against the children of Israel. [2] And every mighty man of them removed that day, and the host of their men of war was a hundred and seventy thousand footmen, and twelve thousand horsemen, beside the baggage, and the men that were afoot among them, an exceeding great multitude. [3] And they encamped in the valley near unto Bethulia, by the fountain, and they spread themselves in breadth over Dothaim even to Belmaim, and in length from Bethulia unto Cyamon, which is over against Esdraelon.

[4] But the children of Israel, when they saw the multitude of them, were troubled exceedingly, and said every one to his neighbour, Now shall these men lick up the face of all the earth; and neither the high mountains, nor the valleys, nor the hills, shall be able to bear their weight. [5] And every man took up his weapons of war, and when they had kindled fires upon their towers, they remained and watched all that night.

[6] But on the second day Holofernes led out all his horse in the sight of the children of Israel which were in Bethulia, [7] and viewed the ascents to their city, and searched out the fountains of the waters, and seized upon them, and set garrisons of men of war over them, and himself departed to his people.

[8] And there came unto him all the rulers of the children of Esau, and all the leaders of the people of Moab, and the captains of the sea coast, and said,

[9] Let our lord now hear a word, that there be not an overthrow in thy host. [10] For this people of the children of Israel do not trust in their spears, but in the height of the mountains wherein they dwell, for it is not easy to come up to the tops of their mountains. [11] And now, my lord, fight not against them as men fight who join battle, and there shall not so much as one man of thy people perish. [12] Remain in thy camp, and keep safe every man of thy host, and let thy servants get possession of the fountain of water, which issueth forth of the foot of the mountain: [13] because all the inhabitants of Bethulia have their water thence; and thirst shall kill them, and they shall give up their city: and we and our people will go up to the tops of the mountains that are near, and will encamp upon them, to watch that not one man go out of the city. [14] And they shall be consumed with famine, they and their wives and their children, and before the sword come against them they shall be laid low in the streets where they dwell. [15] And thou shalt render them an evil reward; because they rebelled, and met not thy face in peace.

[16] And their words were pleasing in the sight of Holofernes and in the sight of all his servants; and he appointed to do as they had spoken. [17] And the army of the children of Ammon removed, and with them five thousand of the children of Asshur, and they encamped in the valley, and seized upon the waters and the fountains of the waters of the children of Israel. [18] And the children of Esau went up with the children of Ammon, and encamped in the hill country over against Dothaim: and they sent some of them toward the south, and toward the east, over against Ekrebel, which is near unto Chusi, that is upon the brook Mochmur; and the rest of the army of the Assyrians encamped in the plain, and covered all the face of the land; and their tents and baggage were pitched upon it in a great crowd, and they were an exceeding great multitude.

[19] And the children of Israel cried unto the Lord their God, for their spirit fainted; for all their enemies had compassed them round about, and there was no way to escape out from among them. [20] And all the army of Asshur remained about them, their footmen and their chariots and their horsemen, four and thirty days; and all their vessels of water failed all the inhabitants of Bethulia. [21] And the cisterns were emptied, and they had not water to drink their fill for one day: for they gave them drink by measure. [22] And their young children were out of heart, and the women and the young men fainted for thirst, and they fell down in the streets of the city, and in the passages of the gates, and there was no longer any strength in them. [23] And all the people were gathered together against Ozias, and against the rulers of the city, the young men and the women and the children, and they cried with a loud voice, and said before all the elders,

[24] God be judge between you and us: because ye have done us great wrong, in that ye have not spoken words of peace with the children of Asshur. [25] And now we have no helper: but God hath sold us into their hands, that we should be laid low before them with thirst and great destruction. [26] And now call them unto you, and deliver up the whole city for a prey to the people of Holofernes, and to all his host. [27] For it is better for us to be made a spoil unto them: for we shall be servants, and our souls shall live, and we shall not see the death of our babes before our eyes, and our wives and our children fainting in death. [28] We take to witness against you the heaven and the earth, and our God and the Lord of our fathers, which punisheth us according to our sins and the sins of our fathers, that he do not according as we have said this day.

[29] And there was great weeping of all with one consent in the midst of the assembly; and they cried unto the Lord God with a loud voice. [30] And Ozias said to them, Brethren, be of good courage, let us yet endure five days, in the which space the Lord our God shall turn his mercy toward us; for he will not forsake us utterly. [31] But if these days pass, and there come no help unto us, I will do according to your words. [32] And he dispersed the people, every man to his own camp; and they went away unto the walls and towers of their city; and he sent the women and children into their houses: and they were brought very low in the city.

[1] And in those days Judith heard thereof, the daughter of Merari, the son of Ox, the son of Joseph, the son of Oziel, the son of Elkiah, the son of Ananias, the son of Gideon, the son of Raphaim, the son of Ahitub, the son of Elihu, the son of Eliab, the son of Nathanael, the son of Salamiel, the son of Salasadai, the son of Israel. [2] And her husband was Manasses, of her tribe and of her family, and he died in the days of barley harvest. [3] For he stood over them that bound sheaves in the field, and the heat came upon his head, and he fell on his bed, and died in his city Bethulia: and they buried him with his fathers in the field which is between Dothaim and Balamon. [4] And Judith was a widow in her house three years and four months. [5] And she made her a tent upon the roof of her house, and put on sackcloth upon her loins; and the garments of her widowhood were upon her. [6] And she fasted all the days of her widowhood, save the eves of the sabbaths, and the sabbaths, and the eves of the new moons, and the new moons, and the feasts and joyful days of the house of Israel. [7] And she was of a goodly countenance, and exceeding beautiful to behold: and her husband Manasses had left her gold, and silver, and menservants, and maidservants, and cattle, and lands; and she remained upon them. [8] And there was none that gave her an evil word; for she feared God exceedingly.

[9] And she heard the evil words of the people against the governor, because they fainted for lack of water; and Judith heard all the words that Ozias spake unto them, how he sware to them that he would deliver the city unto the Assyrians after five days. [10] And she sent her maid, that was over all things that she had, to call Ozias and Chabris and Charmis, the elders of her city. [11] And they came unto her, and she said unto them,

Hear me now, O ye rulers of the inhabitants of Bethulia: for your word that ye have spoken before the people this day is not right, and ye have set the oath which ye have pronounced between God and you, and have promised to deliver the city to our enemies, unless within these days the Lord turn to help you. [12] And now who are ye that have tempted God this day, and stand instead of God among the children of men? [13] And now try the Lord Almighty, and ye shall never know anything. [14] For ye shall not find the depth of the heart of man, and ye shall not perceive the things that he thinketh: and how shall ye search out God, which hath made all these things, and know his mind, and comprehend his purpose? Nay, my brethren, provoke not the Lord our God to anger. [15] For if he be not minded to help us within these five days, he hath power to defend us in such time as he will, or to destroy us before the face of our enemies. [16] But do not ye pledge the counsels of the Lord our God: for God is not as man, that he should be threatened; neither as the son of man, that he should be turned by intreaty. [17] Wherefore let us wait for the salvation that cometh from him, and call upon him to help us, and he will hear our voice, if it please him. [18] For there arose none in our age, neither is there any of us to-day, tribe, or kindred, or family, or city, which worship gods made with hands, as it was in the former days; [19] for the which cause our fathers were given to the sword, and for a spoil, and fell with a great fall before our enemies. [20] But we know none other god beside him, wherefore we hope that he will not despise us, nor any of our race. [21] For if we be taken so, all Judaea shall sit upon the ground, and our sanctuary shall be spoiled; and of our blood shall he require the profanation thereof. [22] And the slaughter of our brethren, and the captivity of the land, and the desolation of our inheritance, shall he turn upon our heads among the Gentiles, wheresoever we shall be in bondage; and we shall be an offence and a reproach before them that take us for a possession. [23] For our bondage shall not be ordered to favour: but the Lord our God shall turn it to dishonour. [24] And now, brethren, let us shew an example to our brethren, because their soul hangeth upon us, and the sanctuary and the house and the altar rest upon us. [25] Besides all this let us give thanks to the Lord our God, which trieth us, even as he did our fathers also. [26] Remember all the things which he did to Abraham, and all the things in which he tried Isaac, and all the things which happened to Jacob in Mesopotamia of Syria, when he kept the sheep of Laban his mother's brother. [27] For he hath not tried us in the fire, as he did them, to search out their hearts, neither hath he taken vengeance on us; but the Lord doth scourge them that come near unto him, to admonish them.

[28] And Ozias said to her, All that thou hast spoken hast thou spoken with a good heart, and there is none that shall gainsay thy words. [29] For this is not the first day wherein thy wisdom is manifested; but from the beginning of thy days all the people have known thine understanding, because the disposition of thy heart is good. [30] But the people were exceeding thirsty, and compelled us to do as we spake to them, and to bring an oath upon ourselves, which we will not break. [31] And now pray thou for us, because thou art a godly woman, and the Lord shall send us rain to fill our cisterns, and we shall faint no more. [32] And Judith said unto them, Hear me, and I will do a thing, which shall go down to all generations among the children of our race. [33] Ye shall stand at the gate this night, and I will go forth with my maid: and, within the days after which ye said that ye would deliver the city to our enemies, the Lord shall visit Israel by my hand. [34] But ye shall not inquire of mine act: for I will not declare it unto you, till the things be finished that I do. [35] And Ozias and the rulers said unto her, Go in peace, and the Lord God be before thee, to take vengeance on our enemies. [36] And they returned from the tent, and went to their stations.

[1] But Judith fell upon her face, and put ashes upon her head, and uncovered the sackcloth wherewith she was clothed; and the incense of that evening was now being offered at Jerusalem in the house of God, and Judith cried unto the Lord with a loud voice, and said,

[2] O Lord God of my father Simeon, into whose hand thou gavest a sword to take vengeance of the strangers, who loosened the girdle of a virgin to defile her, and uncovered the thigh to her shame, and profaned the womb to her reproach; for thou saidst, It shall not be so; and they did so: [3] wherefore thou gavest their rulers to be slain, and their bed, * which was ashamed for her that was deceived, to be dyed in blood, and smotest the servants with their lords, and the lords upon their thrones; [4] and gavest their wives for a prey, and their daughters to be captives, and all their spoils to be divided among thy dear children; which were moved with zeal for thee, and abhorred the pollution of their blood, and called upon thee for aid: O God, O my God, hear me also that am a widow. [5] For thou wroughtest the things that were before those things, and those things, and such as ensued after; and thou didst devise the things which are now, and the things which are to come: and the things which thou didst devise came to pass; [6] yea, the things which thou didst determine stood before thee, and said, Lo, we are here: for all thy ways are prepared, and thy judgement is with foreknowledge. [7] For, behold, the Assyrians are multiplied in their power; they are exalted with horse and rider; they have gloried in the † strength of their footmen; they have trusted in shield and spear and bow and sling; and they know not that thou art the Lord that breaketh the battles: the Lord is thy name. [8] Dash thou down their strength in thy power, and bring down their force in thy wrath: for they have purposed to profane thy sanctuary, and to defile the tabernacle where thy glorious name resteth, and to cast down with the sword the horn of thine altar. [9] Look upon their pride, and send thy wrath upon their heads: give into my hand, which am a widow, the might that I have conceived. [10] Smite by the deceit of my lips the servant with the prince, and the prince with his servant: break down their stateliness by the hand of a woman. [11] For thy power standeth not in multitude, nor thy might in strong men: but thou art a God of the afflicted, thou art a helper of the ‡ oppressed, an upholder of the weak, a protector of the forlorn, a saviour of them that are without hope. [12] Yea, yea, God of my father, and God of the inheritance of Israel, Lord of the heavens and of the earth. Creator of the waters, King § of every creature, hear thou my prayer: [13] and make my speech and deceit to be their wound and stripe, who have purposed hard things against thy covenant, and thy hallowed house, and the top of Sion, and the house of the possession of thy children. [14] And make every nation and tribe of thine to know that thou art God, the God of all power and might, and that there is none other that protecteth the race of Israel but thou.

[1] And it came to pass, when she had ceased to cry unto the God of Israel, and had made an end of all these words, [2] that she rose up where she had fallen down, and called her maid, and went down into the house, in the which she was wont to abide on the sabbath days and on her feast days, [3] and pulled off the sackcloth which she had put on, and put off the garments of her widowhood, and washed her body all over with water, and anointed herself with rich ointment, and braided the hair of her head, and put a tire upon it, and put on her garments of gladness, wherewith she was wont to be clad in the days of the life of Manasses her husband. [4] And she took sandals for her feet, and put her chains about her, and her bracelets, and her rings, and her earrings, and all her ornaments, and decked herself bravely, to beguile the eyes of all men that should see her. [5] And she gave her maid a leathern bottle of wine, and a cruse of oil, and filled a bag with parched corn and lumps of figs and * fine bread; and she packed all her vessels together, and laid them upon her.

[6] And they went forth to the gate of the city of Bethulia, and found standing thereby Ozias, and the elders of the city, Chabris and Charmis. [7] But when they saw her, that her countenance was altered, and her apparel was changed, they wondered at her beauty very exceedingly, and said unto her, [8] The God of our fathers give thee favour, and accomplish thy purposes to the glory of the children of Israel, and to the exaltation of Jerusalem. And she worshipped God, [9] and said unto them, Command that they open unto me the gate of the city, and I will go forth to accomplish the things whereof ye spake with me. And they commanded the young men to open unto her, as she had spoken: [10] and they did so.

And Judith went out, she, and her handmaid with her; and the men of the city looked after her, until she was gone down the mountain, until she had passed the valley, and they could see her no more. [11] And they went straight onward in the valley: and the watch of the Assyrians met her; [12] and they took her, and asked her, Of what people art thou? and whence comest thou? and whither goest thou? And she said, I am a daughter of the Hebrews, and I flee away from their presence; because they are about to be given you to be consumed: [13] and I am coming into the presence of Holofernes the chief captain of your host, to declare words of truth; and I will shew before him a way, whereby he shall go, and win all the hill country, and there shall not be lacking of his men one person, nor one life. [14] Now when the men heard her words, and considered her countenance, the beauty thereof was exceeding marvellous in their eyes, and they said unto her, [15] Thou hast saved thy life, in that thou hast hasted to come down to the presence of our lord: and now come to his tent, and some of us shall conduct thee, until they shall deliver thee into his hands. [16] But † when thou standest before him, be not afraid in thine heart, but declare unto him according to thy words; and he shall entreat thee well. [17] And they chose out of them a hundred men, and appointed them to accompany her and her maid; and they brought them to the tent of Holofernes.

[18] And there was a concourse throughout all the camp, for her coming was noised among the tents; and they came and compassed her about, as she stood without the tent of Holofernes, until they told him of her. [19] And they marvelled at her beauty, and marvelled at the children of Israel because of her, and each one said to his neighbour, Who shall despise this people, that have among them such women? for it is not good that one man of them be left, seeing that, if they are let go, they shall be able to deceive the whole earth. [20] And they that lay near Holofernes, and all his servants, went forth and brought her into the tent. [21] And Holofernes was resting upon his bed under the canopy, which was woven with purple and gold and emeralds and precious stones. [22] And they told him of her; and he came forth into the space before his tent, with silver lamps going before him. [23] But when Judith was come before him and his servants, they all marvelled at the beauty of her countenance; and she fell down upon her face, and did reverence unto him: and his servants raised her up.

[1] And Holofernes said unto her, Woman, be of good comfort, fear not in thy heart: for I never hurt any that hath chosen to serve Nebuchadnezzar, the king of all the earth. [2] And now, if thy people that dwelleth in the hill country had not set light by me, I would not have lifted up my spear against them: but they have done these things to themselves. [3] And now tell me wherefore thou didst flee from them, and camest unto us: for thou art come to save thyself; be of good comfort, thou shalt live this night, and hereafter: [4] for there is none that shall wrong thee, but all shall entreat thee well, as is done unto the servants of king Nebuchadnezzar my lord. [5] And Judith said unto him,

Receive the words of thy servant, and let thy handmaid speak in thy presence, and I will declare no lie unto my lord this night. [6] And if thou shalt follow the words of thy handmaid, God shall bring the thing to pass perfectly with thee; and my lord shall not fail of his purposes. [7] As Nebuchadnezzar king of all the earth liveth, and as his power liveth, who hath sent thee for the preservation of every living thing, not only do men serve him by thee, but also the beasts of the field and the cattle and the birds of the heaven shall live through thy strength, in the time of Nebuchadnezzar and of all his house. [8] For we have heard of thy wisdom and the subtil devices of thy soul, and it hath been reported in all the earth, that thou only art brave in all the kingdom, and mighty in knowledge, and wonderful in feats of war. [9] And now as concerning the matter, which Achior did speak in thy council, we have heard his words: for the men of Bethulia saved him, and he declared unto them all that he had spoken before thee. [10] Wherefore, O lord and master, neglect not his word; but lay it up in thy heart, for it is true: for our race shall not be punished, neither shall the sword prevail against them, except they sin against their God. [11] And now, that my lord be not defeated and frustrate of his purpose, and that death may fall upon them, their sin hath overtaken them, wherewith they shall provoke their God to anger, whensoever they shall do wickedness. [12] Since their victuals failed them, and all their water was scant, they took counsel to lay hands upon their cattle, and determined to consume all those things, which God charged them by his laws that they should not eat: [13] and they are resolved to spend the firstfruits of the corn, and the tenths of the wine and the oil, which they had sanctified, and reserved for the priests that stand before the face of our God in Jerusalem; the which things it is not fitting for any of the people so much as to touch with their hands. [14] And they have sent some to Jerusalem, because they also that dwell there have done this thing, to bring them a licence from the senate. [15] And it shall be, when one shall bring them word, and they shall do it, they shall be given thee to be destroyed the same day. [16] Wherefore I thy servant, knowing all this, fled away from their presence; and God sent me to work things with thee, whereat all the earth shall be astonished, even as many as shall hear it. [17] For thy servant is religious, and serveth the God of heaven day and night: and now, my lord, I will abide with thee, and thy servant will go forth by night into the valley, and I will pray unto God, and he shall tell me when they have committed their sins: [18] and I will come and shew it also unto thee; and thou shalt go forth with all thy host, and there shall be none of them that shall resist thee. [19] And I will lead thee through the midst of Judaea, until thou comest over against Jerusalem; and I will set thy seat in the midst thereof; and thou shalt drive them as sheep that have no shepherd, and a dog shall not so much as open his mouth before thee: for these things were told me according to my foreknowledge, and were declared unto me, and I was sent to tell thee.

[20] And her words were pleasing in the sight of Holofernes and of all his servants; and they marvelled at her wisdom, and said, [21] There is not such a woman from one end of the earth to the other, for beauty of face, and wisdom of words. [22] And Holofernes said unto her, God did well to send thee before the people, that might should be in our hands, and destruction among them that lightly regarded my lord. [23] And now thou art beautiful in thy countenance, and witty in thy words: for if thou shalt do as thou hast spoken, thy God shall be my God, and thou shalt dwell in the house of king Nebuchadnezzar, and shalt be renowned through the whole earth.

[1] And he commanded to bring her in where his silver vessels were set, and bade that they should prepare for her of his own meats, and that she should drink of his own wine. [2] And Judith said, I will not eat thereof, lest there be an occasion of stumbling: but provision shall be made for me of the things that are come with me. [3] And Holofernes said unto her, But if the things that be with thee should fail, whence shall we be able to give thee the like? for there is none of thy race with us. [4] And Judith said unto him, As thy soul liveth, my lord, thy servant shall not spend those things that be with me, until the Lord work by my hand the things that he hath determined. [5] And the servants of Holofernes brought her into the tent, and she slept till midnight, and she rose up toward the morning watch, [6] and sent to Holofernes, saying, Let my lord now command that they suffer thy servant to go forth unto prayer. [7] And Holofernes commanded his guards that they should not stay her: and she abode in the camp three days, and went out every night into the valley of Bethulia, and washed herself at the fountain of water in the camp. [8] And when she came up, she besought the Lord God of Israel to direct her way to the raising up of the children of his people. [9] And she came in clean, and remained in the tent, until she took her meat toward evening.

[10] And it came to pass on the fourth day, Holofernes made a feast to his own servants only, and called none of the officers to the banquet. [11] And he said to Bagoas the eunuch, who had charge over all that he had, Go now, and persuade this Hebrew woman which is with thee, that she come unto us, and eat and drink with us. [12] For, lo, it is a shame for our person, if we shall let such a woman go, not having had her company; for if we draw her not unto us, she shall laugh us to scorn. [13] And Bagoas went from the presence of Holofernes, and came in to her, and said, Let not this fair damsel fear to come to my lord, and to be honoured in his presence, and to drink wine and be merry with us, and to be made this day as one of the daughters of the children of Asshur, which wait in the house of Nebuchadnezzar. [14] And Judith said unto him, And who am I, that I should gainsay my lord? for whatsoever shall be pleasing in his eyes I will do speedily, and this shall be my joy unto the day of my death. [15] And she arose, and decked herself with her apparel and all her woman's attire; and her servant went and laid fleeces on the ground for her over against Holofernes, which she had received of Bagoas for her daily use, that she might sit and eat upon them. [16] And Judith came in and sat down, and Holofernes' heart was ravished with her, and his soul was moved, and he desired exceedingly her company: and he was watching for a time to deceive her, from the day that he had seen her. [17] And Holofernes said unto her, Drink now, and be merry with us. [18] And Judith said, I will drink now, my lord, because my life is magnified in me this day more than all the days since I was born. [19] And she took and ate and drank before him what her servant had prepared. [20] And Holofernes took great delight in her, and drank exceeding much wine, more than he had drunk at any time in one day since he was born.

[1] But when the evening was come, his servants made haste to depart, and Bagoas shut the tent without, and dismissed them that waited from the presence of his lord; and they went away to their beds: for they were all weary, because the feast had been long. [2] But Judith was left alone in the tent, and Holofernes lying along upon his bed: for he was overflown with wine. [3] And Judith had said to her servant that she should stand without her bedchamber, and wait for her coming forth, as she did daily: for she said she would go forth to her prayer; and she spake to Bagoas according to the same words. [4] And all went away from her presence, and none was left in the bedchamber, neither small nor great. And Judith, standing by his bed, said in her heart, O Lord God of all power, look in this hour upon the works of my hands for the exaltation of Jerusalem. [5] For now is the time to help thine inheritance, and to do the thing that I have purposed to the destruction of the enemies which are risen up against us. [6] And she came to the rail of the bed, which was at Holofernes' head, and took down his scimitar from thence; [7] And she drew near unto the bed, and took hold of the hair of his head, and said, Strengthen me, O Lord God of Israel, this day. [8] And she smote twice upon his neck with all her might, and took away his head from him, [9] and tumbled his body down from the bed, and took down the canopy from the pillars; and after a little while she went forth, and gave Holofernes' head to her maid; [10] and she put it in her bag of victuals: and they twain went forth together unto prayer, according to their custom: and they passed through the camp, and compassed that valley, and went up to the mountain of Bethulia, and came to the gates thereof.

[11] And Judith said afar off to the watchmen at the gates, Open, open now the gate: God is with us, even our God, to shew his power yet in Israel, and his might against the enemy, as he hath done even this day. [12] And it came to pass, when the men of her city heard her voice, they made haste to go down to the gate of their city, and they called together the elders of the city. [13] And they ran all together, both small and great, for it was strange unto them that she was come: and they opened the gate, and received them, making a fire to give light, and compassed them round about. [14] And she said to them with a loud voice, Praise God, praise him: praise God, who hath not taken away his mercy from the house of Israel, but hath destroyed our enemies by my hand this night. [15] And she took forth the head out of the bag, and shewed it, and said unto them, Behold, the head of Holofernes, the chief captain of the host of Asshur, and behold, the canopy, wherein he did lie in his drunkenness; and the Lord smote him by the hand of a woman. [16] And as the Lord liveth, who preserved me in my way that I went, my countenance deceived him to his destruction, and he did not commit sin with me, to defile and shame me. [17] And all the people were exceedingly amazed, and bowed themselves, and worshipped God, and said with one accord, Blessed art thou, O our God, which hast this day brought to nought the enemies of thy people. [18] And Ozias said unto her, Blessed art thou, daughter, in the sight of the Most High God, above all the women upon the earth; and blessed is the Lord God, who created the heavens and the earth, who directed thee to the smiting of the head of the prince of our enemies. [19] For thy hope shall not depart from the heart of men that remember the strength of God for ever. [20] And God turn these things to thee for a perpetual praise, to visit thee with good things, because thou didst not spare thy life by reason of the affliction of our race, but didst avenge our fall, walking a straight way before our God. And all the people said, So be it, so be it.

[1] And Judith said unto them, Hear me now, my brethren, and take this head, and hang it upon the battlement of your wall. [2] And it shall be, so soon as the morning shall appear, and the sun shall come forth upon the earth, ye shall take up every one his weapons of war, and go forth every valiant man of you out of the city, and ye shall set a captain over them, as though ye would go down to the plain toward the watch of the children of Asshur; and ye shall not go down. [3] And these shall take up their panoplies, and shall go into their camp, and rouse up the captains of the host of Asshur, and they shall run together to the tent of Holofernes, and they shall not find him: and fear shall fall upon them, and they shall flee before your face. [4] And ye, and all that inhabit every coast of Israel, shall pursue them, and overthrow them as they go. [5] But before ye do these things, call me Achior the Ammonite, that he may see and know him that despised the house of Israel, and that sent him to us, as it were to death.

[6] And they called Achior out of the house of Ozias; but when he came, and saw the head of Holofernes in a man's hand in the assembly of the people, he fell upon his face, and his spirit failed. [7] But when * they had recovered him, he fell at Judith's feet, and did reverence unto her, and said, Blessed art thou in every tent of Judah, and in every nation, which hearing thy name shall be troubled. [8] And now tell me all the things that thou hast done in these days. And Judith declared unto him in the midst of the people all the things that she had done, from the day that she went forth until the time that she spake unto them. [9] But when she left off speaking, the people shouted with a loud voice, and made a joyful noise in their city. [10] But when Achior saw all the things that the God of Israel had done, he believed in God exceedingly, and circumcised the flesh of his foreskin, and was joined unto the house of Israel, unto this day.

[11] But as soon as the morning arose, they hanged the head of Holofernes upon the wall, and every man took up his weapons, and they went forth by bands unto the ascents of the mountain. [12] But when the children of Asshur saw them, they sent hither and thither to their leaders; but they went to their captains and tribunes, and to every one of their rulers. [13] And they came to Holofernes' tent, and said to him that was over all that he had, Waken now our lord: for the slaves have been bold to come down against us to battle, that they may be utterly destroyed. [14] And Bagoas went in, and knocked at the outer door of the tent; for he supposed that he was sleeping with Judith. [15] But when none hearkened to him, he opened it, and went into the bedchamber, and found him cast upon the threshold dead, and his head had been taken from him. [16] And he cried with a loud voice, with weeping and groaning and a mighty cry, and rent his garments. [17] And he entered into the tent where Judith lodged: and he found her not, and he leaped out to the people, and cried aloud, [18] The slaves have dealt treacherously: one woman of the Hebrews hath brought shame upon the house of king Nebuchadnezzar; for, behold, Holofernes lieth upon the ground, and his head is not on him. [19] But when the rulers of the host of Asshur heard the words, they rent their coats, and their soul was troubled exceedingly, and there was a cry and an exceeding great noise in the midst of the camp.

[1] And when they that were in the tents heard, they were amazed at the thing that was come to pass. [2] And trembling and fear fell upon them, and no man durst abide any more in the sight of his neighbour, but rushing out with one accord, they fled into every way of the plain and of the hill country. [3] And they that had encamped in the hill country round about Bethulia fled away. And then the children of Israel, every one that was a warrior among them, rushed out upon them. [4] And Ozias sent to Betomasthaim, and Bebai, and Chobai, and Chola, and to every coast of Israel, such as should tell concerning the things that had been accomplished, and that all should rush forth upon their enemies to destroy them. [5] But wnen the children of Israel heard, they all fell upon them with one accord, and smote them unto Chobai: yea, and in like manner also they of Jerusalem and of all the hill country came (for men had told them what things were come to pass in the camp of their enemies), and they that were in Gilead and in Galilee fell upon their flank with a great slaughter, until they were past Damascus and the borders thereof. [6] But the residue, that dwelt at Bethulia, fell upon the camp of Asshur, and spoiled them, and were enriched exceedingly. [7] But the children of Israel returned from the slaughter, and gat possession of that which remained; and the villages and the cities, that were in the hill country and in the plain country, took many spoils: for there was an exceeding great store.

[8] And Joakim the high priest, and the senate of the children of Israel that dwelt in Jerusalem, came to behold the good things which the Lord had shewed to Israel, and to see Judith, and to salute her. [9] But when they came unto her, they all blessed her with one accord, and said unto her, Thou art the exaltation of Jerusalem, thou art the great glory of Israel, thou art the great rejoicing of our race: [10] thou hast done all these things by thy hand: thou hast done with Israel the things that are good, and God is pleased therewith: blessed be thou with the Almighty Lord for evermore. And all the people said, So be it. [11] And the people spoiled the camp for the space of thirty days: and they gave unto Judith Holofernes' tent, and all his silver cups, and his beds, and his vessels, and all his furniture: and she took them, and placed them on her mule, and made ready her wagons, and heaped them thereon.

[12] And all the women of Israel ran together to see her; and they blessed her, and made a dance among them for her; and she took * branches in her hand, and gave to the women that were with her. [13] And they made themselves garlands of olive, she and they that were with her, and she went before all the people in the dance, leading all the women: and all the men of Israel followed in their armour with garlands, and with songs in their mouths.

[1] And Judith began to sing this thanksgiving in all Israel, and all the people sang with loud voices this song of praise. [2] And Judith said,
Begin unto my God with timbrels,
Sing unto my Lord with cymbals:
Tune unto him psalm and praise:
Exalt him, and call upon his name.
[3] For the Lord is the God that breaketh the battles:
For in his armies in the midst of the people
He delivered me out of the hand of them that persecuted me.
[4] Asshur came out of the mountains from the north,
He came with ten thousands of his host,
The multitude whereof stopped the torrents,
And their horsemen covered the hills.
[5] He said that he would burn up my borders,
And kill my young men with the sword,
And throw my sucking children to the ground,
And give mine infants for a prey,
And make my virgins a spoil.
[6] The Almighty Lord brought them to nought by the hand of a woman.
[7] For their mighty one did not fall by young men,
Neither did sons of the Titans smite him.
Nor did high giants set upon him:
But Judith the daughter of Merari made him weak with the beauty of her countenance.
[8] For she put off the apparel of her widowhood
For the exaltation of those that were distressed in Israel,
She anointed her face with ointment,
And bound her hair in a tire,
And took a linen garment to deceive him.
[9] Her sandal ravished his eye,
And her beauty took his soul prisoner:
The scimitar passed through his neck.
[10] The Persians quaked at her daring,
And the Medes were daunted at her boldness.
[11] Then my lowly ones shouted aloud,
And my weak ones were terrified and crouched for fear:
They lifted up their voice, and they were turned to flight.
[12] The sons of damsels pierced them through,
And wounded them as runagates’ children;
They perished by the battle of my Lord.
[13] I will sing unto my God a new song:
O Lord, thou art great and glorious,
Marvellous in strength, invincible.
[14] Let all thy creation serve thee:
For thou spakest, and they were made,
Thou didst send forth thy spirit, and it builded them,
And there is none that shall resist thy voice.
[15] For the mountains shall be moved from their foundations with the waters,
And the rocks shall melt as wax at thy presence:
But thou art yet merciful to them that fear thee.
[16] For all sacrifice is little for a sweet savour,
And all the fat is very little for a whole burnt offering to thee:

But he that feareth the Lord is great continually.
[17] Woe to the nations that rise up against my race:
The Lord Almighty will take vengeance of them in the day of judgement,
To put fire and worms in their flesh;
And they shall weep and feel their pain for ever.

[18] Now when they came to Jerusalem, they worshipped God; and when the people were purified, they offered their whole burnt offerings, and their freewill offerings, and their gifts. [19] And Judith dedicated all the stuff of Holofernes, which the people had given her, and gave the canopy, which she had taken for herself out of his bedchamber, for a gift unto the Lord. [20] And the people continued feasting in Jerusalem before the sanctuary for the space of three months, and Judith remained with them. [21] But after these days every one departed to his own inheritance, and Judith went away to Bethulia, and remained in her own possession, and was honourable in her time in all the land. [22] And many desired her, and no man knew her all the days of her life, from the day that Manasses her husband died and was gathered to his people. [23] And she increased in greatness exceedingly; and she waxed old in her husband's house, unto a hundred and five years, and let her maid go free: and she died in Bethulia; and they buried her in the cave of her husband Manasses. [24] And the house of Israel mourned for her seven days: and she distributed her goods before she died to all them that were nearest of kin to Manasses her husband, and to them that were nearest of her own kindred. [25] And there was none that made the children of Israel any more afraid in the days of Judith, nor a long time after her death.

PART OF THE TENTH CHAPTER AFTER THE GREEK.

[4] Then Mardocheus said, These things are of God. [5] For I remember the dream * which I saw concerning these matters, and nothing thereof hath failed. [6] As for the little fountain that became a river, and there was light, and the sun, and much water, the river is Esther, whom the king married, and made queen: [7] and the two dragons are I and Aman: [8] and the nations are those that were assembled to destroy the name of the Jews: [9] and my nation, this is Israel, which cried to God, and were saved: for the Lord hath saved his people, and the Lord hath delivered us from all these evils, and God hath wrought signs and great wonders, which have not been done among the nations. [10] Therefore hath he made two lots, one for the people of God, and another for all the nations. [11] And these two lots came at the hour, and time, and day of judgement, before God among all the nations. [12] So God remembered his people, and justified his inheritance. [13] Therefore these days shall be unto them in the month Adar, the fourteenth and fifteenth day of the month, with an assembly, and joy, and with gladness before God, throughout the generations for ever among his people Israel.

[1] In the fourth year of the reign of Ptolemy and Cleopatra, Dositheus, who said he was a priest and Levite, and Ptolemy his son, brought the epistle of Phrurai here set forth, which they said was the same, and that Lysimachus the son of Ptolemy, that was in Jerusalem, had interpreted it.

[2] * In the second year of the reign of Artaxerxes the great, in the first day of the month Nisan, Mardocheus the son of Jairus, the son of Semeias, the son of Kiseus, of the tribe of Benjamin, had a dream; [3] who was a Jew, and dwelt in the city of Susa, a great man, being a servitor in the king's court; [4] and he was of the captivity, which Nabuchodonosor the king of Babylon carried from Jerusalem with Jechonias king of Judaea; and this was his dream: [5] Behold, † noise and tumult, thunderings and earthquake, and uproar upon the earth: [6] and, behold, two great dragons came forth, both of them ready to fight, and their cry was great. [7] And at their cry all nations were ready to battle, that they might fight against the righteous nation. [8] And, lo, a day of darkness and gloominess, tribulation and anguish, affliction and great uproar upon the earth. [9] And the whole righteous nation was troubled, fearing ‡ the evils that should befall them, and were ready to perish. [10] Then they cried unto God, and upon their cry, as it were from a little fountain, there came a great river, even much water. [11] The light and the sun rose up, and the lowly were exalted, and devoured the glorious. [12] Now when Mardocheus, who had seen this dream, and what God had determined to do, was awake, he bare it in mind, and until night by all means was desirous to know it.

[1] And Mardocheus took his rest in the court with Gabatha and Tharra, the two eunuchs of the king, that were keepers of the court. [2] And he heard their communings, and searched out their purposes, and learned that they were about to lay hands upon Artaxerxes the king; and he certified the king of them. [3] Then the king examined the two eunuchs, and after that they had confessed it, they were led to execution. [4] And the king wrote these things for a memorial; Mardocheus also wrote concerning these things. [5] So the king commanded Mardocheus to serve in the court, and for this he gave him gifts. [6] Howbeit Aman the son of Amadathus, a Bugean, who was in great honour with the king, sought to molest Mardocheus and his people because of the two eunuchs of the king.

[1] * Now this is the copy of the letter: The great king Artaxerxes writeth these things to the princes of a hundred and seven and twenty provinces from India unto Ethiopia, and to the governors that are set under them. [2] After that I became lord over many nations, and had dominion over the whole world, not lifted up with presumption of my authority, but carrying myself alway with equity and mildness, I purposed to settle my subjects continually in a quiet life, and making my kingdom peaceable, and open for passage to the utmost coasts, to renew peace, which is desired of all men. [3] Now when I asked my counsellors how this might be brought to pass, Aman, that excelled in wisdom among us, and was approved for his constant good will and stedfast fidelity, and had the honour of the second place in the kingdom, [4] declared unto us, that in all nations throughout the world there was scattered a certain malignant people, that had laws contrary to all nations, and continually set aside the commandments of kings, so as the uniting of our kingdoms, honourably intended by us, cannot go forward. [5] Seeing then we understand that this nation is alone continually in opposition unto all men, following perversely a life which is strange to our laws, and evil affected to our state, working all the mischief they can, that our kingdom may not be firmly stablished: [6] therefore have we commanded, that they that are signified in writing unto you by Aman, who is ordained over the affairs, and is a second father unto us, shall all, with their wives and children, be utterly destroyed by the sword of their enemies, without all mercy and pity, the fourteenth day of the twelfth month Adar of this present year: [7] that they, who of old and now also are malicious, may in one day with violence go down to † the grave, and so ever hereafter cause our affairs to be well settled, and without trouble.

[8] ‡ Then Mardocheus made his prayer unto the Lord, calling to remembrance all the works of the Lord, [9] and said, O Lord, Lord, thou King Almighty: for the whole world is in thy power, and if it be thy will to save Israel, there is no man that can gainsay thee: [10] for thou hast made heaven and earth, and all the wondrous things that are beneath the heaven; [11] and thou art Lord of all, and there is no man that can resist thee, which art the Lord. [12] Thou knowest all things, and thou knowest, Lord, that it was neither in contempt nor pride, nor for any desire of glory, that I did not bow down to proud Aman. [13] For I could have been content with good will for the salvation of Israel to kiss the soles of his feet. [14] But I did this, that I might not prefer the glory of man above the glory of God: neither will I bow down unto any but to thee, which art my Lord, neither will I do it in pride. [15] And now, O Lord, thou God and King, the God of Abraham, spare thy people: for their eyes are upon us to bring us to nought, and they desire to destroy the heritage, that hath been thine from the beginning. [16] Despise not thy portion, which thou didst redeem out of the land of Egypt for thine own self. [17] Hear my prayer, and be merciful unto thine inheritance: and turn our mourning into feasting, that we may live, O Lord, and sing praises to thy name: and destroy not the mouth of them that praise thee, O Lord.

[1] Queen Esther also, being seized as it were with the agony of death, resorted unto the Lord: [2] and laid away her glorious apparel, and put on the garments of anguish and mourning: and instead of the most excellent ointments, she covered her head with ashes and dung, and she humbled her body greatly, and all the places of the ornaments of her joy she covered with her tangled hair. [3] And she prayed unto the Lord, the God of Israel, saying, O my Lord, thou only art our King: help me that am desolate and have no other helper but thee: [4] for my danger is in mine hand. [5] From my youth up I have heard in the tribe of my family, that thou, O Lord, tookest Israel from among all the nations, and our fathers from all their progenitors, for a perpetual inheritance, and didst perform for them whatsoever thou didst promise. [6] And now we have sinned before thee, and thou hast given us into the hands of our enemies, [7] because we glorified their gods: O Lord, thou art righteous. [8] Nevertheless it satisfieth them not, that we are in bitter captivity: but they have stricken hands with their idols, [9] that they will abolish the thing that thou with thy mouth hast ordained, and destroy thine inheritance, and stop the mouth of them that praise thee, and quench the glory of thy house, and thine altar, [10] and open the mouths of the heathen to set forth the virtues of [*] idols, and that a fleshly king shall be magnified for ever. [11] O Lord, give not thy sceptre unto them that be nothing, and let them not laugh at our fall; but turn their device upon themselves, and make him an example, that hath begun this against us. [12] Remember, O Lord, make thyself known in the time of our affliction, and give me boldness, O King of the gods, and holder of all dominion. [13] Give me eloquent speech in my mouth before the lion: and turn his heart to hate him that fighteth against us, that there may be an end of him, and of them that are likeminded with him: [14] but deliver us with thine hand, and help me that am desolate and have no other helper but thee, O Lord. [15] Thou hast knowledge of all things; and thou knowest that I hate the glory of the wicked, and abhor the bed of the uncircumcised, and of every alien. [16] Thou knowest my necessity: that I abhor the sign of my high estate, which is upon mine head in the days wherein I shew myself. I abhor it as a menstruous rag, and I wear it not when I am private by myself. [17] And thine handmaid hath not eaten at Aman’s table, neither have I honoured the king’s feast, nor drunk the wine of the drink offerings. [18] Neither had thine handmaid any joy since the day that I was brought hither to this present, but in thee, O Lord, thou God of Abraham. [19] O God, that art mighty above all, hear the voice of the forlorn, and deliver us out of the hands of the mischievous, and deliver me out of my fear.

[1] And upon the third day, when she had ended her prayer, she laid away her garments of service, and put on her glorious apparel. [2] And being majestically adorned, after she had called upon the all-seeing God and saviour, she took her two maids with her: [3] and upon the one she leaned, as carrying herself delicately; [4] and the other followed, bearing up her train. [5] And she was ruddy through the perfection of her beauty, and her countenance was cheerful and right amiable: but her heart was in anguish for fear. [6] Then having passed through all the doors, she stood before the king, who sat upon his royal throne, and was clothed with all his robes of majesty, all glittering with gold and precious stones; and he was very dreadful. [7] Then lifting up his countenance that was flushed with glory, he looked upon her in fierce anger: and the queen fell down, and turned pale, and fainted, and she bowed herself upon the head of the maid that went before. [8] Then God changed the spirit of the king into mildness, who in an agony leaped from his throne, and took her in his arms, till she came to herself again, and comforted her with soothing words, and said unto her, [9] Esther, what is the matter? I am thy brother, be of good cheer: [10] thou shalt not die, for [*] our commandment is for our subjects: come near. [11] So he held up his golden sceptre, and laid it upon her neck, [12] and embraced her, and said, Speak unto me. [13] Then said she unto him, I saw thee, my lord, as an angel of God, and my heart was troubled for fear of thy glory. [14] For wonderful art thou, my lord, and thy countenance is full of grace. [15] And as she was speaking, she fell down for faintness. [16] Then the king was troubled, and all his servants comforted her. [†]

[1] [*] The great king Artaxerxes unto the governors of countries in a hundred and seven and twenty provinces from India unto Ethiopia, and unto them that are well affected to our state, greeting. [2] Many, the more often they are honoured with the great bounty of their benefactors, the more proud they are waxen, [3] and endeavour to hurt not our subjects only, but not being able to bear abundance, do take in hand to practise also against those that do them good: [4] and take not only thankfulness away from among men, but also lifted up with the boastful words of them that were never good, they think to escape the evil-hating justice of God, who alway seeth all things. [5] Oftentimes also fair speech of those that are put in trust to manage their friends' affairs, hath caused many that are in authority to be partakers of innocent blood, and hath enwrapped them in remediless calamities: [6] beguiling with the false deceit of their lewd disposition the innocent good will of princes. [7] Now ye may see this, as we have declared, not so much by more ancient histories, as ye may, if ye search what hath been wickedly done of late through the pestilent behaviour of them that are unworthily placed in authority. [8] And we must take care for the time to come, to render our kingdom quiet and peaceable for all men, [9] both by changing our purposes, and always judging things that come before our eyes with more equal proceeding. [10] For Aman, a

Macedonian, the son of Amadathus, an alien in truth from the Persian blood, and far distant from our goodness, being as a guest received of us, [11] had so far forth obtained the favour that we shew toward every nation, as that he was called our father, and was continually honoured of all men, as the next person unto the royal throne. [12] But he, not bearing his high estate, went about to deprive us of our kingdom and our life; [13] having by manifold and cunning deceits sought of us the destruction, as well of Mardocheus, who saved our life, and continually procured our good, as also of Esther the blameless partaker of our kingdom, together with their whole nation. [14] For by these means he thought, finding us destitute of friends, to have translated the kingdom of the Persians to the Macedonians. [15] But we find that the Jews, whom this most ungracious wretch hath delivered to utter destruction, are no evil-doers, but live by most just laws: [16] and that they be children of the most high and most mighty living God, who hath ordered the kingdom both unto us and to our progenitors in the most excellent manner. [17] Wherefore ye shall do well not to put in execution the letters sent unto you by Aman the son of Amadathus. [18] For he, that was the worker of these things, is hanged at the gates of Susa with all his family: God, who ruleth all things, speedily rendering vengeance to him according to his deserts. [19] Therefore ye shall publish openly the copy of this letter in all places, and let the Jews live after their own laws, [20] and ye shall aid them, that even the same day, being the thirteenth day of the twelfth month Adar, they may defend themselves against those who set upon them in the time of their affliction. [21] For Almighty God hath made this day to be a joy unto them, instead of the destruction of the chosen people. [22] And ye shall therefore among your commemorative feasts keep it a high day with all feasting: [23] that both now and hereafter there may be safety to us, and the well affected Persians; but to those which do conspire against us a memorial of destruction. [24] Therefore every city or country whatsoever, which shall not do according to these things, shall be utterly destroyed without mercy with † fire and sword; it shall be made not only unpassable for men, but also most hateful to wild beasts and fowls for ever.

THE WISDOM OF SOLOMON.

[1] Love righteousness, ye that be judges of the earth,
Think ye of the Lord [*] with a good mind,
And in singleness of heart seek ye him;
[2] Because he is found of them that tempt him not,
And is manifested to them that do not distrust him.
[3] For crooked thoughts separate from God;
And the supreme Power, when it is brought to the proof, [†] putteth to confusion the foolish:
[4] Because wisdom will not enter into a soul that deviseth evil,
Nor dwell in a body that is held in pledge by sin.
[5] For a holy spirit of discipline will flee deceit.
And will start away from thoughts that are without understanding,
And will be [‡] put to confusion when unrighteousness hath come in.
[6] For [§] wisdom is a spirit that loveth man,
And she will not hold a [] blasphemer guiltless for his lips;
Because God beareth witness of his reins,
And is a true overseer of his heart,
And a hearer of his tongue:
[7] Because the spirit of the Lord hath filled [††] the world,
And that which holdeth all things together hath knowledge of every voice.
[8] Therefore no man that uttereth unrighteous things shall be unseen;
[‡‡] Neither shall Justice, when it convicteth, pass him by.
[9] For in the midst of his counsels the ungodly shall be searched out;
And the sound of his words shall come unto the Lord
To bring to conviction his lawless deeds:
[10] Because there is an ear of jealousy that listeneth to all things,
And the noise of murmurings is not hid.
[11] Beware then of unprofitable murmuring,
And refrain your tongue from backbiting;
Because no secret utterance shall go on its way void,
And a mouth that belieth destroyeth a soul.
[12] Court not death in the error of your life;
Neither draw upon yourselves destruction by the works of your hands:
[13] Because God made not death;
Neither delighteth he when the living perish:
[14] For he created all things that they might have being:
And[§§] the generative powers of the world are healthsome,
And there is no poison of destruction in them:
Nor hath Hades [] royal dominion upon earth,
[15] For righteousness is immortal:
[16] But ungodly men by their hands and their words called [†††] death unto them:

[1] For they said [*] within themselves, reasoning not aright,
Short and sorrowful is our life;
And there is no healing when a man cometh to his end,
And none was ever known that [†] gave release from Hades.
[2] Because by mere chance were we born,
And hereafter we shall be as though we had never been:
Because the breath in our nostrils is smoke,
And [‡] while our heart beateth reason is a spark,
[3] Which being extinguished, the body shall be turned into ashes,
And the spirit shall be dispersed as thin air;
[4] And our name shall be forgotten in time,
And no man shall remember our works;
And our life shall pass away as the traces of a cloud,
And shall be scattered as is a mist,
When it is chased by the beams of the sun,
And [§] overcome by the heat thereof.
[5] For our alloted time is the passing of a shadow,
And [] our end retreateth not;
Because it is fast sealed, and none [††] turneth it back.
[6] Come therefore and let us enjoy the good things [‡‡] that now are;
And let us use the creation [§§] with all our soul [] as youth's possession.

And let no flower of [†††] spring pass us by:
[8] Let us crown ourselves with rosebuds, before they be withered:
[9] Let none of us go without his share in our proud revelry:
Everywhere let us leave tokens of our mirth:
Because this is our portion, and our lot is this.
[10] Let us oppress the righteous poor;
Let us not spare the widow,
Nor reverence the hairs of the old man gray for length of years.
[11] But let our strength be to us a law of righteousness;
For that which is weak is [‡‡‡] found to be of no service.
[12] But let us lie in wait for the righteous man,
Because he is of disservice to us,
And is contrary to our works,
And upbraideth us with sins against [§§§] the law,
And layeth to our charge sins against our discipline.

Because his life is unlike other men's,
And his paths are of strange fashion.
16 We were accounted of him as base metal,
And he abstaineth from our ways as from uncleannesses.
The latter end of the righteous he calleth happy;
And he vaunteth that God is his father.
17 Let us see if his words be true,
And let us try what shall befall in the ending of his life.
18 For if the righteous man is God's son, he will uphold him,
And he will deliver him out of the hand of his adversaries.
19 With outrage and torture let us put him to the test,
That we may learn his gentleness,
And may prove his patience under wrong.
20 Let us condemn him to a shameful death;
For [†] he shall be visited according to his words.

21 Thus reasoned they, and they were led astray;
For their [‡] wickedness blinded them,
22 And they knew not the mysteries of God,
Neither hoped they for wages of holiness,
Nor did they judge that there is a prize for blameless souls.
23 Because God created man for incorruption,
And made him an image of his own [§] proper being;
24 But by the envy of the devil death entered into the world,
And they that are of his portion make trial thereof.

1 But the souls of the righteous are in the hand of God,
And no torment shall touch them.
2 In the eyes of the foolish they seemed to have died;
And their departure was accounted to be their hurt,
3 And their journeying away from us to be their ruin:
But they are in peace.
4 For even if in the sight of men they be punished,
Their hope is full of immortality;
5 And having borne a little chastening, they shall receive great good;
Because God made trial of them, and found them worthy of himself.
6 As gold in the furnace he proved them,
And as a whole burnt offering he accepted them.
7 And in the time of their visitation they shall shine forth,
And as sparks among stubble they shall run to and fro.
8 They shall judge nations, and have dominion over peoples;
And the Lord shall reign over them for evermore.
9 They that trust on him shall understand truth,
And [*] the faithful shall abide with him in love;
Because grace and mercy are to his chosen.

10 But the ungodly shall be requited even as they reasoned,

And void is their hope and their toils unprofitable,
And useless are their works:
[12] Their wives are foolish, and wicked are their children;
[13] Accursed is their begetting.
Because happy is the barren that is undefiled,
She who hath not conceived in transgression;
She shall have fruit when God visiteth souls.
[14] And happy is the eunuch which hath wrought no lawless deed with his hands,
Nor imagined wicked things against the Lord;

[17] For if they live long, they shall be held in no account,
And at the last their old age shall be without honour.
[18] And if they die quickly, they § shall have no hope,
Nor in the day of decision shall they have consolation.
[19] For  the end of an unrighteous generation is alway grievous.

[1] Better than this is childishness with virtue;
For in the memory * of virtue is immortality:
Because it is recognised both before God and before men.
[2] When it is present, men imitate it;
And they long after it when it is departed:
And † throughout all time it marcheth crowned in triumph,
Victorious in the strife for the prizes that are undefiled.
[3] But the multiplying brood of the ungodly shall be of no profit,
And ‡ with bastard § slips they shall not strike deep root,
Nor shall they establish a sure hold.
[4] For even if these  put forth boughs and flourish for a season,
Yet, standing unsure, they shall be shaken by the wind,
And by the violence of winds they shall be rooted out.
[5] Their branches shall be broken off before they come to maturity, and their fruit shall be useless,
Never ripe to eat, and fit for nothing.
[6] For children unlawfully begotten are witnesses of wickedness
Against parents when God searcheth them out.

[7] But a righteous man, though he die before his time, shall be at rest.
[8] (For honourable old age is not that which standeth in length of time,
Nor is its measure given by number of years:

† 3:10 Or, that which is righteous ‡ 3:14 Or, the grace of God's chosen Gr. a chosen grace. § 3:18 Some authorities read have  3:19 Gr. the ends...are grievous. * 4:1 Gr. of it. † 4:2 Gr. in the age. ‡ 4:3 Gr. from § 4:3 Or, offshoots  4:4 Gr. in boughs flourish.

[9] But understanding is gray hairs unto men,
And an unspotted life is ripe old age.)
[10] Being found well-pleasing unto God he was beloved of him,
And while living among sinners he was translated:
[11] He was caught away, lest [††] wickedness should change his understanding,
Or guile deceive his soul.
[12] (For the bewitching of naughtiness bedimmeth the things which are good,
And the giddy whirl of desire perverteth an innocent mind.)
[13] Being made perfect in a little while, he fulfilled long [‡‡] years;
[14] For his soul was pleasing unto the Lord:
Therefore [§§] hasted he out of the midst of wickedness.
[15] But as for the peoples, seeing and understanding not,
Neither laying [] this to heart,
That grace and mercy are with his chosen,
And that [†††] he visiteth his holy ones:-
[16] But a righteous man that is dead shall condemn the ungodly that are living,
And youth that is quickly perfected the many years of an unrighteous man's old age;
[17] For the ungodly shall see a wise man's end,
And shall not understand what the Lord purposed concerning him,
And for what he safely kept him:-
[18] They shall see, and they shall despise;
But them the Lord shall laugh to scorn.
And after this they shall become a dishonoured carcase,
And [‡‡‡] a reproach among the dead for ever:
[19] Because he shall dash them speechless to the ground,
And shall shake them from the foundations,
And they shall [§§§] lie utterly waste, and they shall be in anguish,
And their memory shall perish.

[20] They shall come, [*] when their sins are reckoned up, with coward fear;
And their lawless deeds shall convict them to their face.

[1] Then shall the righteous man stand in great boldness
Before the face of them that afflicted him,
And them that make his labours of no account.
[2] When they see [*] it, they shall be troubled with terrible fear,
And shall be amazed at the marvel of God's salvation.
[3] They shall say [†] within themselves repenting,
And for distress of spirit shall they groan,
This was he whom aforetime we had in derision,
And made a parable of [‡] reproach:
[4] We fools accounted his life madness,
And his end without honour:
[5] How was he numbered among sons of God?
And how is his lot among saints?

And the light of righteousness shined not for us,
And the sun rose not for us.
[7] We [§] took our fill of the paths of lawlessness and destruction,
And we journeyed through trackless deserts,
But the way of the Lord we knew not.
[8] What did our arrogancy profit us?
And what good have riches [] and vaunting brought us?
[9] Those things all passed away as a shadow,
And as a message that runneth by:
[10] As a ship passing through the billowy water,
Whereof, when it is gone by, there is no trace to be found,
Neither pathway of its keel in the billows:
[11] Or as when a bird flieth through the air,
No token of her passage is found,
But the light wind, lashed with the stroke of her pinions,
And rent asunder [††] with the violent rush of the moving wings, is passed through,
And afterwards no sign of her coming is found therein:
[12] Or as when an arrow is shot at a mark,
The air disparted closeth up again immediately,
So that men know not where it passed through:
[13] So we also, as soon as we were born, [‡‡] ceased to be;
And of virtue we had no sign to shew,
But in our wickedness we were utterly consumed.
[14] Because the hope of the ungodly man is as chaff carried by the wind,
And [§§] as [] foam vanishing before a tempest;
And is scattered as smoke is scattered by the wind,
And passeth by as the remembrance of a guest that tarrieth but a day.

[15] But the righteous live for ever,
And in the Lord is their reward,
And the care for them with the Most High.
[16] Therefore shall they receive the crown of royal dignity
And the diadem of beauty from the Lord’s hand;
Because with his right hand shall he cover them,
And with his arm shall he shield them.
[17] He shall take his jealousy as complete armour,
And shall make the whole creation his weapons [†††] for vengeance on his enemies:
[18] He shall put on righteousness as a breastplate,
And shall array himself with judgement unfeigned as with a helmet;
[19] He shall take holiness as an invincible shield,
[20] And he shall sharpen stern wrath for a sword:
And the world shall go forth with him to fight against his insensate foes.
[21] Shafts of lightning shall fly with true aim,
And from the clouds, as from a well drawn bow, shall they leap to the mark.
[22] And as from an engine of war shall be hurled hailstones full of wrath;
The water of the sea shall be angered against them,

And so shall lawlessness make all the land desolate,
And their evil-doing shall overturn the thrones of princes.

[1] Hear therefore, ye kings, and understand;
Learn, ye judges of the ends of the earth:
[2] Give ear, ye that have dominion over much people,
And make your boast [*] in multitudes of nations.
[3] Because your dominion was given you from the Lord,
And your sovereignty from the Most High;
Who shall search out your works,
And shall make inquisition of your counsels:
[4] Because being officers of his kingdom ye did not judge aright,
Neither kept ye [†] law, nor walked after the counsel of God.
[5] Awfully and swiftly shall he come upon you;
Because a stern judgement befalleth them that be in high place:
[6] For the man of low estate may be pardoned in mercy,
But mighty men shall be [‡] searched out mightily.
[7] For the Sovereign Lord of all will not refrain himself for any man's person,
Neither will he reverence greatness;
Because it is he that made both small and great,
And alike he taketh thought for all;
[8] But [§] strict is the scrutiny that cometh upon the powerful.
[9] Unto you therefore, O princes, are my words,
That ye may learn wisdom and [] fall not from the right way.
[10] For they that have kept holily the things that are holy shall themselves be [††] hallowed;
And they that have been taught them shall find what to answer;
[11] Set your desire therefore on my words;
Long for them, and ye shall be [‡‡] trained by their discipline.

[12] Wisdom is radiant and fadeth not away;
And easily is she beheld of them that love her,
And found of them that seek her.
[13] She forestalleth them that desire to know her, making herself first known.
[14] He that riseth up early to seek her shall have no toil,
For he shall find her sitting at his gates.
[15] For to think upon her is perfectness of understanding,
And he that watcheth for her sake shall quickly be free from care.
[16] Because she goeth about, herself seeking them that are worthy of her,
And in their paths she appeareth unto them graciously,
And in every purpose she meeteth them.
[17] For [§§] her [] true beginning is desire of discipline;
And the care for discipline is love of her;

18 And love of her is observance of her laws;
And to give heed to her laws confirmeth incorruption;
19 And incorruption [†††] bringeth near unto God;
20 So then desire of wisdom promoteth to a kingdom.
21 If therefore ye delight in thrones and sceptres, ye princes of peoples, Honour wisdom, that ye may reign for ever.
22 But what wisdom is, and how she came into being, I will declare,
And I will not hide mysteries from you;
But I will trace her out [‡‡‡] from the beginning of creation,
And bring the knowledge of her into clear light,
And I will not pass by the truth;
23 Neither indeed will I take [§§§] pining envy for my companion in the way,
Because [*] envy shall have no fellowship with wisdom.
24 But a multitude of wise men is salvation to the world,
And an understanding king is tranquillity to his people.
25 Wherefore be disciplined by my words, and thereby shall ye profit.

1 I myself also am [*] mortal, like to all,
And am sprung from one born of the earth, the man first formed,
2 And in the womb of a mother was I moulded into flesh in the time of ten months,
Being compacted in blood of the seed of man and pleasure that came with sleep.
3 And I also, when I was born, drew in the common air,
And fell upon the [†] kindred earth,
Uttering, like all, for my first voice, the selfsame wail:
4 In swaddling clothes was I nursed, and [‡] with watchful cares.
5 For no king had any other first beginning;
6 But all men have one entrance into life, and a like departure.
7 For this cause I prayed, and understanding was given me:
I called upon God, and there came to me a spirit of wisdom.
8 I preferred her before sceptres and thrones,
And riches I esteemed nothing in comparison of her.
9 Neither did I liken to her any priceless gem,
Because all the gold of the earth in her presence is a little sand,
And silver shall be accounted as clay before her.
10 Above health and comeliness I loved her,
And I chose to have her rather than light,
Because her bright shining is never laid to sleep.
11 But with her there came to me all good things together,
And in her hands innumerable riches:
12 And I rejoiced over them all because wisdom leadeth them;
Though I knew not that she was the [§] mother of them.
13 As I learned without guile, I impart without grudging;
I do not hide her riches.
14 For she is unto men a treasure that faileth not,

[†††] 6:19 Gr. maketh to be near. [‡‡‡] 6:22 Or, from her first beginning [§§§] 6:23 Gr. wasted. [] 6:23 Gr. this [] 7:1 Many authorities read a mortal man. [†] 7:3 Gr. of like qualities. [‡] 7:4 Gr. in. [§] 7:12 Some authorities read first origin.

And they that use it [] obtain friendship with God,
Commended to him [††] by the gifts which they through discipline present to him.

[15] But to me may God give to speak [‡‡] with judgement,
And to conceive thoughts worthy of what [§§] hath been given me;
Because himself is one that guideth even wisdom and that correcteth the wise.
[16] For in his hand are both we and our words;
All understanding, and all acquaintance with divers crafts.
[17] For himself gave me an unerring knowledge of the things that are,
To know the constitution of the world, and the operation of the elements;
[18] The beginning and end and middle of times,
The alternations of the solstices and the changes of seasons,
[19] The circuits of years and the [] positions of stars;
[20] The natures of living creatures and the ragings of wild beasts,
The violences of [†††] winds and the thoughts of men,
The diversities of plants and the virtues of roots:
[21] All things that are either secret or manifest I learned,
[22] For she that is the artificer of all things taught me, even wisdom.

For there is in her a spirit quick of understanding, holy, [‡‡‡] Alone in kind, manifold,
Subtil, freely moving,
Clear in utterance, unpolluted,
Distinct, unharmed,
Loving what is good, keen, unhindered,
[23] Beneficent, loving toward man,
Stedfast, sure, free from care,
All-powerful, all-surveying,
And penetrating through all spirits
That are quick of understanding, pure, most subtil:
[24] For wisdom is more mobile than any motion;
Yea, she pervadeth and penetrateth all things by reason of her pureness.
[25] For she is a [§§§] breath of the power of God,
And a clear effluence of the glory of the Almighty;
Therefore can nothing defiled find entrance into her.
[26] For she is an effulgence from everlasting light,
And an unspotted mirror of the working of God,
And an image of his goodness.
[27] And she, being one, hath power to do all things;
And remaining in herself, reneweth all things:
And from generation to generation passing into holy souls
She maketh men friends of God and prophets.
[28] For nothing doth God love save him that dwelleth with wisdom.
[29] For she is fairer than the sun,
And above [*] all the constellations of the stars:
Being compared with light, she is found to be before it;

[] 7:14 Gr. prepare for themselves. [††] 7:14 Gr. for the sake of the presents that come of discipline. Sole-born. [§§§] 7:25 Gr. vapour. [*] 7:29 Gr. every arrangement of stars.

[30] For [†] to the light of day succeedeth night,
But against wisdom evil doth not prevail;

[1] But she [*] reacheth from one end of the world to the other with full strength,
And ordereth all things [†] graciously.

[2] Her I loved and sought out from my youth,
And I sought to take her for my bride,
And I became enamoured of her beauty.
[3] She glorifieth her noble birth in that it is given her to live with God,
And the Sovereign Lord of all loved her.
[4] For she is initiated into the knowledge of God,
And she [‡] chooseth out for him his works.
[5] But if riches are a desired possession in life,
What is richer than wisdom, which worketh all things?
[6] [§] And if understanding worketh,
Who more than [] wisdom is an artificer of the things that are?
[7] And if a man loveth righteousness,
[††] The fruits of wisdom's labour are virtues,
For she teacheth soberness and understanding, righteousness and courage;
And there is nothing in life for men more profitable than these.
[8] And if a man longeth even for much experience,
She knoweth [‡‡] the things of old, and [§§] divineth the things to come:
She understandeth subtilties of speeches and interpretations of dark sayings:
She foreseeth signs and wonders, and the issues of seasons and times.
[9] I determined therefore to take her unto me to live with me,
Knowing that she is one who would [] give me good thoughts for counsel,
And [†††] encourage me in cares and grief.
[10] Because of her I shall have glory among multitudes,
And honour in the sight of elders, though I be young.
[11] I shall be found of a quick conceit when I give judgement,
And in the presence of [‡‡‡] princes I shall be admired.
[12] When I am silent, they shall wait for me;
And when I open my lips, they shall give heed unto me;
And if I continue speaking, they shall lay their hand upon their mouth.
[13] Because of her I shall have immortality,
And leave behind an eternal memory to them that come after me.
[14] I shall govern peoples,
And nations shall be subjected to me.
[15] Dread princes shall fear me when they hear of me:
Among my [§§§] people I shall shew myself a good ruler, and in war courageous.
[16] When I am come into my house, I shall find rest with her;

For converse with her hath no bitterness,
And to live with her hath no pain, but gladness and joy.
17 When I considered these things in myself,
And took thought in my heart how that in kinship unto wisdom is immortality,
18 And in her friendship is good delight,
And in the labours of her hands is wealth that faileth not,
And in [*] assiduous communing with her is understanding,
And great renown in having fellowship with her words,
I went about seeking how to take her unto myself.
19 Now I was [†] a child of parts, and a good soul fell to my lot;
20 Nay rather, being good, I came into a body undefiled.
21 But perceiving that I could not otherwise [‡] possess wisdom except God gave her me
(Yea and to know [§] by whom the grace is given, this too came of understanding),
I pleaded with the Lord and besought him, and with my whole heart I said,

1 O God of the fathers, and [*] Lord who keepest thy mercy,
Who madest all things [†] by thy word;
2 And by thy wisdom thou formedst man,
That he should have dominion over the creatures that were made by thee,
3 And rule the world in holiness and righteousness,
And execute judgement in uprightness of soul;
4 Give me wisdom, her that sitteth by thee on thy [‡] throne;
And reject me not from among thy [§] servants:
5 Because I am thy bondman and the son of thy handmaid,
A man weak and short-lived,
And of small power to understand judgement and laws.
6 For even if a man be perfect among the sons of men,
Yet if the wisdom that cometh from thee be not with him, he shall be held in no account.
7 Thou didst choose me before my brethren to be king of thy people,
And to do judgement for thy sons and daughters.
8 Thou gavest command to build a sanctuary in thy holy mountain,
And [] an altar in the city of thy [††] habitation,
A copy of the holy tabernacle which thou preparedst aforehand from the beginning.
9 And with thee is wisdom, which knoweth thy works,
And was present when thou wast making the world,
And which understandeth what is pleasing in thine eyes,
And what is right [‡‡] according to thy commandments.
10 Send her forth out of the holy heavens,
And from the throne of thy glory bid her come,
That being present with me she may toil with me,

And I shall judge thy people righteously,
And I shall be worthy of my father's [§§] throne.
13 For what man shall know the counsel of God?
Or who shall conceive what the Lord willeth?
14 For the thoughts of mortals are [] timorous,
And our devices are prone to fail.
15 For a corruptible body weigheth down the soul,
And the earthy frame lieth heavy on a mind that [†††] is full of cares.
16 And hardly do we [‡‡‡] divine the things that are on earth,
And the things that are close at hand we find with labour;

1 [*] Wisdom guarded to the end the first formed father of the world, that was created alone,
And delivered him out of his own transgression,
2 And gave him strength to get dominion over all things.
3 But when an unrighteous man fell away from her in his anger,
He perished himself in the rage wherewith he slew his brother.
4 And when for his cause the earth was drowning with a flood,
Wisdom again saved it,
Guiding the righteous man's course by a poor piece of wood.

5 Moreover, when nations consenting together in wickedness had been confounded,
[†] Wisdom knew the righteous man, and preserved him blameless unto God,
And kept him strong when his heart yearned toward his child.

6 While the ungodly were perishing, [‡] wisdom delivered a righteous man,

[7] To whose wickedness a smoking waste still witnesseth,
And plants bearing fair fruit that cometh not to ripeness;
Yea and a [] disbelieving soul hath a memorial there, a pillar of salt still standing.
[8] For having passed wisdom by,
Not only were they disabled from recognising the things which are good,
But they also left behind them [††] for human life a monument of their folly;
To the end that [‡‡] where they [§§] went astray they might fail even to be unseen:
[9] But wisdom delivered out of troubles those that waited on her.

[10] When a righteous man was a fugitive from a brother's wrath, [] wisdom guided him in straight paths;
She shewed him God's kingdom, and gave him knowledge of holy things;
She prospered him in his toils, and multiplied the fruits of his labour;
[11] When in their covetousness men dealt hardly with him,
She stood by him and made him rich;
[12] She guarded him from enemies,
And from those that lay in wait she kept him safe,
And over his sore conflict she watched as judge,
That he might know that godliness is more powerful than [†††] all.

[13] When a righteous man was sold, [‡‡‡] wisdom forsook him not,
But [§§§] from sin she delivered him;
She went down with him into a dungeon,
[14] And in bonds she left him not,
Till she brought him the sceptre of a kingdom,
And authority over those that dealt tyrannously with him;
She shewed them also to be false that had mockingly accused him,
And gave him eternal glory.

[15] [*] Wisdom delivered a holy people and a blameless seed from a nation of oppressors.
[16] She entered into the soul of a servant of the Lord,
And withstood terrible kings in wonders and signs.
[17] She rendered unto holy men a reward of their toils;
She guided them along a marvellous way,
And became unto them a covering in the day-time,
And a flame of stars through the night.
[18] She brought them over the Red sea,
And led them through much water;
[19] But their enemies she drowned,
And out of the bottom of the deep she cast them up.
[20] Therefore the righteous spoiled the ungodly;
And they sang praise to thy holy name, O Lord,
And extolled with one accord thy hand that fought for them:

2 They journeyed through a desert without inhabitant,
And in trackless regions they pitched their tents.
3 They withstood enemies, and [*] repelled foes.
4 They thirsted, and they called upon thee,
And there was given them water out of [†] the [‡] flinty rock,
And healing of their thirst out of the hard stone.
5 For by what things their foes were punished,
By these they in their need were benefited.
6 [§] When the enemy were troubled with clotted blood instead of a river's everflowing fountain,
7 To rebuke the decree for the slaying of babes,
Thou gavest them abundant water beyond all hope,
8 Having shewn them by [] the thirst which they had suffered how thou didst punish the adversaries.
9 For when they were tried, albeit but in mercy chastened,
They learned how the ungodly were tormented, being judged with wrath:
10 For these, as a father, admonishing them, thou didst prove;
But those, as a stern king, condemning them, thou didst search out.
11 Yea and whether they were far off from the righteous or near them, they were alike distressed;
12 For a double grief took hold on them,
And a groaning at the remembrance of things past.
13 For when they heard that through their own punishments the others [††] had been benefited,
They felt the presence of the Lord;
14 For him who long before was [‡‡] cast forth and exposed they left off mocking:
In the last issue of what came to pass [§§] they marvelled,
Having thirsted in another manner than the righteous.
15 But in requital of the senseless imaginings of their unrighteousness,
Wherein they were led astray to worship irrational reptiles and wretched vermin,
Thou didst send upon them a multitude of irrational creatures for vengeance;
16 That they might learn, that by what things a man sinneth, by these he is punished.
17 For thine all-powerful hand,
That created the world out of formless matter,
Lacked not means to send upon them a multitude of bears, or fierce lions, 18 Or [] new-created wild beasts, full of rage, of unknown kind,
Either breathing out a blast of fiery breath,

Or blowing forth from their nostrils noisome smoke,
Or flashing dreadful sparkles from their eyes;
19 Which had power not only to consume them by their [†††] violence,
But to destroy them even by the terror of their sight.
20 Yea and without these might they have fallen by a single breath,
Being pursued by Justice, and scattered abroad by the breath of thy power.
But by measure and number and weight thou didst order all things.

21 For to be greatly strong is thine at all times;
And the might of thine arm who shall withstand?
22 Because the whole world before thee is as [‡‡‡] a grain [§§§] in a balance,
And as a drop of dew that at morning cometh down upon the earth.
23 But thou hast mercy on all men, because thou hast power to do all things,
And thou overlookest the sins of men to the end they may repent.
24 For thou lovest all things that are,
And abhorrest none of the things which thou didst make;
For never wouldest thou have formed anything if thou didst hate it.
25 And how would anything have endured, except thou hadst willed it?
Or that which was not called by thee, how would it have been preserved?
26 But thou sparest all things, because they are thine,
O Soverign Lord, thou lover of men's [*] lives;

1 For thine incorruptible spirit is in all things.
2 Wherefore thou convictest by little and little them that [*] fall from the right way,
And, putting them in remembrance by the very things wherein they sin, dost thou admonish them,
That escaping from their wickedness they may believe on thee, O Lord.

3 For verily the old inhabitants of thy holy land,
4 Hating them because they practised detestable works of enchantments and unholy rites
5 [†](Merciless slaughters of children,
And sacrificial banquets of men's flesh and of blood),
6 Confederates in an impious fellowship,
And murderers of their own helpless babes,
It was thy counsel to destroy by the hands of our fathers;
7 That the land which in thy sight is most precious of all lands
Might receive a worthy colony of God's [‡] servants.
8 Nevertheless even these thou didst spare as being men,
And thou sentest [§] hornets as forerunners of thy host,
To cause them to perish by little and little;
9 Not that thou wast unable to subdue the ungodly under the hand of the righteous in battle,
Or by terrible beasts or by one stern word to make away with them at once;

[†††] 11:19 Gr. harmfulness. [‡‡‡] 11:22 Gr. that which just turneth. [§§§] 11:22 Gr. from.

[‡] 12:7 Or, children [§] 12:8 Or, wasps

10 But judging them by little and little thou gavest them a place of repentance,
Not being ignorant that their nature by birth was evil, and their wickedness inborn,
And that their manner of thought would in no wise ever be changed,
11 For they were a seed accursed from the beginning:
Neither was it through fear of any that thou didst leave them then unpunished for their sins.

12 For who shall say, What hast thou done?
Or who shall withstand thy judgement?
And who shall accuse thee for the perishing of nations which thou didst make?
Or who shall come and stand before thee as an avenger for unrighteous men?
13 For neither is there any God beside thee that careth for all,
That thou mightest shew unto him that thou didst not judge unrighteously:
14 Neither shall king or prince be able to look thee in the face to plead for those whom thou hast punished.
15 But being righteous thou rulest all things righteously,
Deeming it a thing alien from thy power
To condemn one that doth not himself deserve to be punished.
16 For thy strength is the beginning of righteousness,
And thy sovereignty over all maketh thee to forbear all.
17 For when men believe not that thou art perfect in power, thou shewest thy strength,
 And †† in dealing with them that know it thou puttest their boldness to confusion.
18 But thou, being sovereign over thy strength, judgest in gentleness,
And with great forbearance dost thou govern us;
For the power is thine whensoever thou hast the will.

19 But thou didst teach thy people by such works as these,
How that the righteous must be a lover of men;
And thou didst make thy sons to be of good hope,
Because thou givest repentance when men have sinned.
20 For if on them that were enemies of thy ‡‡ servants and due to death
Thou didst take vengeance with so great heedfulness and indulgence,
Giving them times and place whereby they might escape from their wickedness;
21 With how great carefulness didst thou judge thy sons,
To whose fathers thou gavest oaths and covenants of good promises!
22 While therefore thou dost chasten us, thou scourgest our enemies ten thousand times more,
To the intent that we may ponder thy goodness when we judge,
And when we are judged may look for mercy.
23 Wherefore also the unrighteous that lived in folly of life
Thou didst torment through their own abominations.
24 For verily they went astray very far §§ in the ways of error,

25 Therefore, as unto unreasoning children, thou didst send thy judgement to mock them.
26 But they that would not be admonished [†††] by a mocking correction as of children
Shall have experience of a judgement worthy of God.
27 For through the sufferings whereat they were indignant,
Being punished in these creatures which they supposed to be gods,
They saw, and recognised as the true God him whom before they [‡‡‡] refused to know:
Wherefore also the last end of condemnation came upon them.

1 For verily all men by nature [*] were but vain who had no perception of God,
And from the good things that are seen they gained not power to know him that is,
Neither by giving heed to the works did they recognise the artificer;
2 But either fire, or wind, or swift air,
Or [†] circling stars, or raging water, or [‡] luminaries of heaven,
They thought to be gods that rule the world.
3 And if it was through delight in their beauty that they took them to be gods,
Let them know how much better than these is their Sovereign Lord;
For the first author of beauty created them:
4 But if it was through astonishment at their power and [§] influence,
Let them understand from them how much more powerful is he that formed them;
5 For from the [] greatness of the beauty [††] even of created things
[‡‡] In like proportion [§§] does man form the image of their first maker.
6 But yet for these [] men there is but small blame,
For they too peradventure do but go astray
While they are seeking God and desiring to find him.
7 For [†††] living among his works they make diligent search,
And they [‡‡‡] yield themselves up to sight, because the things that they look upon are beautiful.
8 But again even they are not to be excused.
9 For if they had power to know so much,
That they should be able to explore [§§§] the course of things,
How is it that they did not sooner find the Sovereign Lord of these his works?

Skilfully strippeth away all its bark,
And fashioning it in comely form maketh a vessel useful for the service of life;
[12] And burning the refuse of his handywork to dress his food, eateth his fill;
[13] And taking the very refuse thereof which served to no use,
A crooked piece of wood and full of knots,
Carveth it with the diligence of his idleness,
And shapeth it by the skill of his [††] indolence;
[‡‡] Then he giveth it the semblance of the image of a man,
[14] Or maketh it like some paltry animal,
Smearing it with vermilion, and with [§§] paint colouring it red,
And smearing over every stain that is therein;
[15] And having made for it a chamber worthy of it,
He setteth it in a wall, making it fast with iron.
[16] While then he taketh thought for it that it may not fall down,
Knowing that it is unable to help itself;
(For verily it is an image, and hath need of help;)
[17] When he maketh his prayer concerning goods and his marriage and children,
He is not ashamed to speak to that which hath no life;

Thy hand guiding the helm.
[7] For blessed [§] hath been wood through which cometh righteousness:
[8] But the idol made with hands is accursed, itself and he that made it;
Because his was the working, and the corruptible thing was named a god:
[9] For both the ungodly doer and his ungodliness are alike hateful to God;
[10] For verily the deed shall be punished together with him that committed it.
[11] Therefore also [] among the idols of the nations shall there be a visitation,
Because, though formed of things which God created, they were made an abomination,
And stumblingblocks to the souls of men,
And a snare to the feet of the foolish.

[12] For the devising of idols was the beginning of fornication,
And the invention of them the corruption of life:
[13] For neither were they from the beginning, neither shall they be for ever;
[14] For by the vaingloriousness of men they entered into the world,
And therefore was a speedy end devised for them.
[15] For a father worn with untimely grief,
Making an image of the child quickly taken away,
Now honoured him as a god which was then a dead man,
And delivered to those that were under him mysteries and solemn rites.
[16] Afterward the ungodly custom, in process of time grown strong, was kept as a law,
And by the commandments of princes the graven images received worship.
[17] And when men could not honour them in presence because they dwelt far off,
Imagining the likeness from afar,
They made a visible image of the king whom they honoured,
That by their zeal they might flatter the absent as if present.
[18] But unto a yet higher pitch was worship raised even by them that knew him not,
Urged forward by the ambition of the artificer:
[19] For he, wishing peradventure to please one in authority,
Used his art to force the likeness toward a greater beauty;
[20] And the multitude, allured by reason of the grace of his handywork,
Now accounted as an object of devotion him that a little before was honoured as a man.
[21] And this became [††] a hidden danger unto life,
Because men, in bondage either to calamity or to tyranny,
Invested stones and stocks with the incommunicable Name.

[22] Afterward it was not enough for them to go astray as touching the knowledge of God;
But also, while they live [‡‡] in [§§] sore conflict through ignorance of him.
That multitude of evils they call peace.
[23] For either slaughtering children in solemn rites, or celebrating secret mysteries,
Or holding frantic revels of strange ordinances,

24 No longer do they [] guard either life or purity of marriage,
But one brings upon another either death by treachery, or anguish by adulterate offspring.
25 And all things confusedly are filled with blood and murder, theft and deceit,
Corruption, faithlessness, tumult, perjury,
26 [†††] turmoil,
Ingratitude for benefits received,
Defiling of souls, confusion of [‡‡‡] sex,
Disorder in marriage, adultery and wantonness.
27 For the worship of [§§§] those [*] nameless idols
Is a beginning and cause and end of every evil.
28 For their worshippers either make merry unto madness, or prophesy lies,
Or live unrighteously, or lightly forswear themselves.
29 For putting their trust in lifeless idols,
When they have sworn a wicked oath, they expect not to suffer harm.
30 But for both sins shall the just doom pursue them,
Because they had evil thoughts of God by giving heed to idols,
And swore unrighteously in deceit through contempt for holiness.
31 For it is not the power of them by whom men swear,
But it is [†] that Justice which hath regard to them that sin,
That visiteth always the transgression of the unrighteous.

1 But thou, our God, art gracious and true,
Longsuffering, and in mercy ordering all things.
2 For even if we sin, we are thine, knowing thy dominion;
But we shall not sin, knowing that we have been accounted thine:
3 For to be acquainted with thee is [*] perfect righteousness,
And to know thy dominion is the root of immortality.
4 For neither were we led astray by any evil device of men's art,
Nor yet by painters' fruitless labour,
A form stained with varied colours;
5 The sight whereof leadeth fools into [†] lust:
Their desire is for the breathless form of a dead image.
6 Lovers of evil things, and worthy of such hopes as these,
Are both they that do, and they that desire, and they that worship.

7 For a potter, kneading soft earth,
Laboriously mouldeth each several vessel for our service:
Nay, out of the same clay doth he fashion
Both the vessels that minister to clean uses, and those of a contrary sort,
All in like manner;
But what shall be the use of each vessel of either sort,
The [‡] craftsman himself is the judge.

[8] And also, labouring to an evil end, he mouldeth a vain god out of the same clay,
He who, having but a little before been made of earth,
After a short space goeth his way to the earth out of which he was taken,
When he is required to render back the § soul which was lent him.
[9] Howbeit he hath anxious care,
Not because his powers must fail,
Nor because his span of life is short;
But he matcheth himself against goldsmiths and  silversmiths,
And he imitateth moulders in †† brass,
And esteemeth it glory that he mouldeth counterfeits.
[10] His heart is ashes,
And his hope of less value than earth,
And his life of less honour than clay:
[11] Because he was ignorant of him that moulded him,
And of him that inspired into him ‡‡ an active §§ soul,
And breathed into him a vital spirit.
[12] But  he accounted our very life to be a ††† plaything,
And our ‡‡‡ lifetime a gainful §§§ fair;
For, saith he, one must get gain whence one can, though it be by evil.
[13] For this man beyond all others knoweth that he sinneth,
Out of earthy matter making brittle vessels and graven images.
[14] But most foolish * were they all, and † of feebler soul than a babe,
The enemies of thy people, who oppressed them;
[15] Because they even accounted all the idols of the nations to be gods;
Which have neither the use of eyes for seeing,
Nor nostrils for drawing breath,
Nor ears to hear,
Nor fingers for handling,
And their feet are helpless for walking.
[16] For a man made them,
And one whose own spirit is borrowed moulded them;
For no one hath power, being a man, to mould a god like unto himself,
[17] But, being mortal, he maketh a dead thing by the work of lawless hands;
For he is better than the objects of his worship, ‡ Forasmuch as he indeed had life, but they never.

[18] Yea, and the creatures that are most hateful do they worship,
§ For, being compared as to want of sense, these are worse than all others;
[19] Neither, as seen beside other creatures, are they beautiful, so that one should desire them,
But they have escaped both the praise of God and his blessing.

[1] For this cause were these men worthily punished through creatures like those which they worship,

[4] For it was needful that upon those should come inexorable want in their tyrannous dealing,
But that to these it should only be shewed how their enemies were tormented.
[5] For even when terrible raging of wild beasts came upon [§] thy people,
And they were perishing by the bites of crooked serpents,
Thy wrath continued not to the uttermost;
[6] But for admonition were they troubled for a short space,

But thy word, O Lord, which healeth all things;
[13] For thou hast authority over life and death,
And thou leadest down to the gates of Hades, and leadest up again.
[14] But though a man may slay by his [§§] wickedness,
Yet the spirit that is gone forth he turneth not again,
Neither giveth release to the soul that Hades hath received.

[15] But thy hand it is not possible to escape;
[16] For ungodly men, [] refusing to know thee, were scourged in the strength of thine arm,
Pursued with strange rains and hails and showers inexorable,
And utterly consumed with fire;

In the water which quencheth all things the fire wrought yet more mightily;

That it may destroy the [‡‡‡] fruits of an unrighteous land.

And, being pressed hard by conscience, always §§ forecasteth the worst lot:

13 And from within the heart the expectation of them being less
Maketh of greater account the ignorance of the cause that bringeth the torment.
14 But they, all through the night which was powerless indeed,
And which came upon them out of the recesses of powerless Hades,
All sleeping the same sleep,
15 Now were haunted by monstrous apparitions,
And now were paralysed by their soul's surrendering;
For fear sudden and unlooked for  came upon them.
16 So then every man, whosoever it might be, sinking down ††† in his place,
Was kept in ward shut up in that prison which was barred not with iron:
17 For whether he were a husbandman, or a shepherd,
Or a labourer whose toils were in the wilderness,
He was overtaken, and endured that inevitable necessity,
For with one chain of darkness were they all bound.
18 Whether there were a whistling wind,
Or a melodious noise of birds among the spreading branches,
Or a measured fall of water running violently,
19 Or a harsh crashing of rocks hurled down,
Or the swift course of animals bounding along unseen,

An image of the darkness that should afterward receive them;
But yet heavier than darkness were they unto themselves.

[1] But for thy holy ones there was great light;
And the Egyptians, hearing their voice but seeing not their form,
Counted it a happy thing that they too had suffered,
[2] Yet for that they do not hurt them now, though wronged by them before, they are thankful;
And because they had been at variance with them, they made supplication to them.
[3] Whereas thou didst provide for thy people a burning pillar of fire,
To be a guide for their unknown journey,
And withal a [*] kindly sun for their [†] proud exile.
[4] For well did [‡] the Egyptians deserve to be deprived of light and imprisoned by darkness,
They who had kept in close ward thy sons,
Through whom the incorruptible light of the law was to be given to [§] the race of men.

[5] After they had taken counsel to slay the babes of the holy ones,
And when a single child had been cast forth and saved [] to convict them of their sin,
Thou tookest away from them their multitude of children,
And destroyedst all their host together in a mighty flood.
[6] Of that night were our fathers made aware beforehand,
That, having sure knowledge, they might be cheered by the oaths which they had trusted:
[7] So by thy people was expected salvation of the righteous and destruction of the enemies;
[8] For as thou didst take vengeance on the adversaries,
[††] By the same means, calling us unto thyself, thou didst glorify us.
[9] For holy children [‡‡] of good men offered sacrifice in secret,
And with one consent they took upon themselves the covenant of the [§§] divine law,
That [] they would partake alike in the same good things and the same perils;
The fathers already leading the sacred songs of praise.

[11] And servant along with master punished with a like just doom,
And commoner suffering the same as king,
[12] Yea, all the people together, under one form of death,
Had with them corpses without number;
For the living were not sufficient even to bury them,
Since at a single [‡‡‡] stroke their [§§§] nobler offspring was consumed.
[13] For while they were disbelieving all things by reason of the enchantments,
Upon the destruction of the firstborn they confessed the people to be God's son.
[14] For while peaceful silence enwrapped all things,
And night in her own swiftness was in mid course,
[15] Thine all-powerful word leaped from heaven out of [*] the royal [†] throne,
A stern warrior, into the midst of the [‡] doomed land,
[16] Bearing as a sharp sword thine unfeigned commandment;
And standing it filled all things with death;
And while it touched the heaven it trode upon the earth.
[17] Then forthwith apparitions in dreams terribly troubled them,
And fears came upon them unlooked for.
[18] And each, one thrown here half dead, another there,
Made manifest wherefore he was dying:
[19] For the dreams, perturbing them, did foreshew this,
That they might not perish without knowing why they were afflicted.

[20] But it [§] befell the righteous also to make trial of death,
And a multitude were stricken in the wilderness:
Howbeit the wrath endured not for long.
[21] For a blameless man hasted to be their champion:
Bringing the weapon of his own ministry,
Even prayer and the propitiation of incense,
He withstood the indignation, and set an end to the calamity,
Shewing that he was thy servant.
[22] And he overcame the [] anger,
Not by strength of body, not by efficacy of weapons;
But [††] by word did he subdue [‡‡] the minister of punishment,
By bringing to remembrance oaths and covenants made with the fathers.
[23] For when the dead were already fallen in heaps one upon another,
Standing between he stopped the advancing wrath,
And [§§] cut off the way to the living.
[24] For upon his long high-priestly robe was the whole world,
And the glories of the fathers were upon the graving of the four rows of [] precious stones,
And thy majesty was upon the diadem of his head.
[25] To these the destroyer gave place, and these [†††] the people feared;
For it was enough only to make trial of the wrath.

1 But upon the ungodly there came unto the end indignation without mercy;
For their future also God foreknew,
2 How that, having changed their minds to let thy people go,
And having speeded them eagerly on their way,
They would repent themselves and pursue them.
3 For while they were yet in the midst of their mourning,
And making lamentation at the graves of the dead,
They drew upon themselves another counsel of folly,
And pursued as fugitives those whom with intreaties they had cast out.
4 For [*] the doom which they deserved was drawing them [†] unto this end,
And it made them forget the things that had befallen them,
That they might fill up the punishment which was yet wanting to their torments,
5 And that thy people might [‡] journey on by a marvellous road,
But they themselves might find a strange death.

6 For the whole creation, each part in its several kind, was fashioned again anew,
Ministering to thy several commandments,
That thy [§] servants might be guarded free from hurt.
7 Then was beheld the cloud that shadowed the camp,
And dry land rising up out of what before was water,
Out of the Red sea an unhindered highway,
And a grassy plain out of the violent surge;
8 [] By which they passed over with all their hosts,
These that were covered with thy hand,
Having beheld strange marvels.
9 For like horses they roamed at large,
And they skipped about like lambs,
Praising thee, O Lord, who wast their deliverer.
10 For they still remembered the things that came to pass in the time of their sojourning,
How that instead of [††] bearing [‡‡] cattle the land brought forth [§§] lice,
And instead of [] fish the river cast up a multitude of frogs.
11 But afterwards they saw also a new [†††] race of birds,
When, led on by desire, they asked for luxurious dainties;
12 For, to solace them, there came up for them quails from the sea.

13 And upon the sinners came the punishments
Not without the tokens that were given [‡‡‡] beforehand by the force of the thunders;
For justly did they suffer through their own wickednesses,
For [§§§] grievous indeed was the hatred which they practised toward guests.

THE WISDOM OF JESUS THE SON OF SIRACH, OR ECCLESIASTICUS.

The Prologue of the Wisdom of Jesus the Son of Sirach.

WHEREAS many and great things have been delivered unto us by the law and the prophets, and by the others that have followed in their steps, for the which things we must give Israel the praise of instruction and wisdom; and since not only the readers must needs become skilful themselves, but also they that love learning must be able to profit them which are without, both by speaking and writing; my grandfather Jesus, having much given himself to the reading of the law, and the prophets, and the other books of our fathers, and having gained great familiarity therein, was drawn on also himself to write somewhat pertaining to instruction and wisdom; in order that those who love learning, and are addicted to these things, might make progress much more by living according to the law. Ye are intreated therefore to read with favour and attention, and to pardon us, if in any parts of what we have laboured to interpret, we may seem to fail in some of the phrases. For things originally spoken in Hebrew have not the same force in them, when they are translated into another tongue: and not only these, but the law itself, and the prophecies, and the rest of the books, have no small difference, when they are spoken in their original language. For having come into Egypt in the eight and thirtieth year of Energetes the king, and having continued there some time, I found [*] a copy affording no small instruction. I thought it therefore most necessary for me to apply some diligence and travail to interpret this book; applying indeed much watchfulness and skill in that space of time to bring the book to an end, and set it forth for them also, who in the land of their sojourning are desirous to learn, fashioning their manners beforehand, so as to live according to the law.

[1] All wisdom cometh from the Lord,
And is with him for ever.
[2] The sand of the seas, and the drops of rain,
And the days of eternity, who shall number?
[3] The height of the heaven, and the breadth of the earth,
And the deep, and wisdom, who shall search them out?
[4] Wisdom hath been created before all things,
And the understanding of prudence from everlasting. [5] [†]
[6] To whom hath the root of wisdom been revealed?
And who hath known her shrewd counsels? [7] [‡]
[8] There is one wise, greatly to be feared,
The Lord sitting upon his throne:
[9] He created her,
And saw, and numbered her,
And poured her out upon all his works.
[10] She is with all flesh according to his gift;
And he gave her freely to them that love him.

[11] The fear of the Lord is glory, and exultation,
And gladness, and a crown of rejoicing.
[12] The fear of the Lord shall delight the heart,
And shall give gladness, and joy, and length of days.
[13] Whoso feareth the Lord, it shall go well with him at the last,
And in the day of his death he shall be blessed.
[14] To fear the Lord is the beginning of wisdom;
And it was created together with the faithful in the womb.
[15] With men she [§] laid an eternal foundation;
And with their seed shall she be had in trust.
[16] To fear the Lord is the fulness of wisdom;
And she satiateth men with her fruits.
[17] She shall fill all her house with desirable things,
And her garners with her produce.
[18] The fear of the Lord is the crown of wisdom,
Making peace and [] perfect health to flourish. [††]
[19] He both saw and numbered her;
He rained down skill and knowledge of understanding,
And exalted the honour of them that hold her fast.
[20] To fear the Lord is the root of wisdom;
And her branches are length of days. [21] [‡‡]

[22] Unjust wrath can never be justified;
For the sway of his wrath is his downfall.
[23] A man that is longsuffering will [§§] bear [] for a season,
And afterward gladness shall spring up unto him;
[24] He will hide his words [†††] for a season,
And the lips of many shall tell forth his understanding.
[25] A parable of knowledge is in the treasures of wisdom;
But godliness is an abomination to a sinner.
[26] If thou desire wisdom, keep the commandments,
And the Lord shall give her unto thee freely:
[27] For the fear of the Lord is wisdom and instruction;
And in faith and meekness is his good pleasure.
[28] Disobey not the fear of the Lord;[‡‡‡]
And come not unto him with a double heart.
[29] Be not a hypocrite in the mouths of men;
And take good heed to thy lips.
[30] Exalt not thyself, lest thou fall,
And bring dishonour upon thy soul;
And so the Lord shall reveal thy secrets,
And shall cast thee down in the midst of the congregation;
Because thou camest not unto the fear of the Lord,
And thy heart was full of deceit.

[1] My son, if thou comest to serve the Lord,
Prepare thy soul for temptation.

[2] Set thy heart aright, and constantly endure,
And make not haste in time of calamity.
[3] Cleave unto him, and depart not,
That thou mayest be increased at thy latter end.
[4] Accept whatsoever is brought upon thee,
And be longsuffering * when thou passest into humiliation.
[5] For gold is tried in the fire,
And acceptable men in the furnace of humiliation.
[6] Put thy trust in him, and he will help thee:
Order thy ways aright, and set thy hope on him.

[7] Ye that fear the Lord, wait for his mercy;
And turn not aside, lest ye fall.
[8] Ye that fear the Lord, put your trust in him;
And your reward shall not fail.
[9] Ye that fear the Lord, hope for good things,
And for eternal gladness and mercy.
[10] Look at the generations of old, and see:
Who did ever put his trust in the Lord, and was ashamed?
Or who did abide in his fear, and was forsaken?
Or who did call upon him, and he despised him?
[11] For the Lord is full of compassion and mercy;
And he forgiveth sins, and saveth in time of affliction.

[12] Woe unto fearful hearts, and to faint hands,
And to the sinner that goeth two ways!
[13] Woe unto the faint heart! for it believeth not;
Therefore shall it not be defended.
[14] Woe unto you that have lost your patience!
And what will ye do when the Lord shall visit you?
[15] They that fear the Lord will not disobey his words;
And they that love him will keep his ways.
[16] They that fear the Lord will seek his good pleasure;
And they that love him shall be filled with the law.
[17] They that fear the Lord will prepare their hearts,
And will humble their souls in his sight,
[18] saying,
We will fall into the hands of the Lord,
And not into the hands of men:
For as his majesty is,
So also is his mercy.

[1] Hear me your father, O my children,
And do thereafter, that ye may be saved.
[2] For the Lord hath given the father glory as touching the children,
And hath confirmed the judgement of the mother as touching the sons.
[3] He that honoureth his father shall make atonement for sins:
[4] And he that giveth glory to his mother is as one that layeth up treasure.
[5] Whoso honoureth his father shall have joy of his children;

[6] He that giveth glory to his father shall have length of days;
And he that hearkeneth unto the Lord shall bring rest unto his mother,
[7] [*] And will do service under his parents, as unto masters.
[8] In deed and word honour thy father,
That a blessing may come upon thee from him.
[9] For the blessing of the father establisheth the houses of children;
But the curse of the mother rooteth out the foundations.

[10] Glorify not thyself in the dishonour of thy father;
For thy father's dishonour is no glory unto thee.
[11] For the glory of a man is from the honour of his father;
And a mother in dishonour is a reproach to her children.
[12] My son, help thy father in his old age;
And grieve him not as long as he liveth.
[13] And if he fail in understanding, have patience with him;
And dishonour him not while thou art in thy full strength.
[14] For the relieving of thy father shall not be forgotten:
And instead of sins it shall be added to build thee up.
[15] In the day of thine affliction it shall remember thee;
As fair weather upon ice,
So shall thy sins also melt away.
[16] He that forsaketh his father is as a blasphemer;
And he that provoketh his mother is cursed of the Lord.

[17] My son, go on with thy business in meekness;
So shalt thou be beloved of an acceptable man.
[18] The greater thou art, humble thyself the more,
And thou shalt find favour before the Lord. [19] [†]
[20] For great is the potency of the Lord,
And he is glorified of them that are lowly.
[21] Seek not things that are too hard for thee,
And search not out things that are above thy strength.
[22] The things that have been commanded thee, think thereupon;
For thou hast no need of the things that are secret.
[23] Be not over busy in thy superfluous works:
For more things are shewed unto thee than men can understand.
[24] For the conceit of many hath led them astray;
And evil surmising hath caused their judgement to slip. [25] [‡]

[26] A stubborn heart shall fare ill at the last;
And he that loveth danger shall perish therein.
[27] A stubborn heart shall be laden with troubles;
And the sinner shall heap sin upon [§] sin.
[28] The calamity of the proud is no healing;
For a plant of wickedness hath taken root in him.
[29] The heart of the prudent will understand a parable;
And the ear of a listener is the desire of a wise man.
[30] Water will quench a flaming fire;

[1] My son, deprive not the poor of his living,
And make not the needy eyes to wait long.
[2] Make not a hungry soul sorrowful;
Neither provoke a man in his distress.
[3] To a heart that is provoked add not more trouble;
And defer not to give to him that is in need.
[4] Reject not a suppliant in his affliction;
And turn not away thy face from a poor man.
[5] Turn not away thine eye from one that asketh of thee,
And give none occasion to a man to curse thee:
[6] For if he curse thee in the bitterness of his soul,
He that made him will hear his supplication.

[7] Get thyself the love of the congregation;

[10] Be as a father unto the fatherless,

And his generations shall have her in possession.
[17] For at the first she will walk with him in crooked ways,
And will bring fear and dread upon him,
And torment him with her discipline,
Until she may trust his soul, and try him by her judgements:

For the Lord will surely take vengeance on thee.

4 Say not, I sinned, and what happened unto me?
For the Lord is longsuffering. *
5 Concerning atonement, be not without fear,
To add sin upon sins:
6 And say not, His compassion is great;
He will be pacified for the multitude of my sins:
For mercy and wrath are with him,
And his indignation will rest upon sinners.
7 Make no tarrying to turn to the Lord;

And he shall leave them to others, and die.
20 Be stedfast in thy covenant, and be conversant therein,
And wax old in thy work.

21 Marvel not at the works of a sinner;
But trust the Lord, and abide in thy labour:
For it is an easy thing in the sight of the Lord swiftly on the sudden to make a poor man rich.
22 The blessing of the Lord is in the reward of the godly;
And in an hour that cometh swiftly he maketh his blessing to flourish.
23 Say not, What use is there of me?
And what from henceforth shall my good things be?

And from henceforth what harm shall happen unto me?
25 In the day of good things there is a forgetfulness of evil things;
And in the day of evil things a man will not remember things that are good.
26 For it is an easy thing in the sight of the Lord
To reward a man in the day of death according to his ways.
27 The affliction of an hour causeth forgetfulness of delight;

One cometh to an end, and another is born.
19 Every work rotteth and falleth away,
And the worker thereof shall depart with it.

20 Blessed is the man that shall ‡ meditate in wisdom,
And that shall discourse by his understanding.
21 He that considereth her ways in his heart
Shall also have knowledge in her secrets.
22 Go forth after her as one that tracketh,
And lie in wait in her ways.
23 He that prieth in at her windows
Shall also hearken at her doors.
24 He that lodgeth close to her house
Shall also fasten a nail in her walls.
25 He shall pitch his tent nigh at hand to her,
And shall lodge in a lodging where good things are.
26 He shall set his children under her shelter,
And shall rest under her branches.
27 By her he shall be covered from heat,
And shall lodge in her glory.

1 He that feareth the Lord will do this;
And he that hath possession of the law shall obtain her.
2 And as a mother shall she meet him,
And receive him as a wife married in her virginity.
3 With bread of understanding shall she feed him,
And give him water of wisdom to drink.
4 He shall be stayed upon her, and shall not be moved;
And shall rely upon her, and shall not be confounded.
5 And she shall exalt him above his neighbours;
And in the midst of the congregation shall she open his mouth.
6 He shall inherit joy, and a crown of gladness,
And an everlasting name.
7 Foolish men shall not obtain her;
And sinners shall not see her.
8 She is far from pride;
And liars shall not remember her.
9 Praise is not comely in the mouth of a sinner;
For it was not sent him from the Lord.
10 For praise shall be spoken in wisdom;
And the Lord will prosper it.

11 Say not thou, It is through the Lord that I fell away;
For thou shalt not do the things that he hateth.
12 Say not thou, It is he that caused me to err;
For he hath no need of a sinful man.
13 The Lord hateth every abomination;
And they that fear him love it not.
14 He himself made man from the beginning,
And left him in the hand of his own counsel.

[15] If thou wilt, thou shalt keep the commandments;
And to perform faithfulness is of thine own good pleasure.
[16] He hath set fire and water before thee:
Thou shalt stretch forth thy hand unto whichsoever thou wilt.
[17] Before man is life and death;
And whichsoever he liketh, it shall be given him.
[18] For great is the wisdom of the Lord:
He is mighty in power, and beholdeth all things;
[19] And his eyes are upon them that fear him;
And he will take knowledge of every work of man.
[20] He hath not commanded any man to be ungodly;
And he hath not given any man licence to sin.

[1] Desire not a multitude of unprofitable children,
Neither delight in ungodly sons.
[2] If they multiply, delight not in them,
Except the fear of the Lord be with them.
[3] Trust not thou in their life,
Neither rely on their condition:
For one is better than a thousand;
And to die childless than to have ungodly children.
[4] For from one that hath understanding shall a city be peopled;
But a race of wicked men shall be made desolate.
[5] Many such things have I seen with mine eyes;
And mine ear hath heard mightier things than these.

[6] In the congregation of sinners shall a fire be kindled;
And in a disobedient nation wrath is kindled.
[7] He was not pacified toward the giants of old time,

Who were gathered together in the hardness of their hearts.
[11] Even if there be one stiffnecked person,
It is marvel if he shall be unpunished:
For mercy and wrath are with him;
He is mighty to forgive, and he poureth out wrath.
[12] As his mercy is great, so is his correction also:
He judgeth a man according to his works.
[13] The sinner shall not escape with his plunder;
And the patience of the godly shall not be frustrate.
[14] He will make room for every work of mercy;
Each man shall find according to his works. [15-16] [*]

[25] I will shew forth instruction by weight,
And declare knowledge exactly.
[26] In the judgement of the Lord are his works from the beginning;
And from the making of them he disposed the parts thereof.
[27] He garnished his works for ever,
And the beginnings of them unto their generations:
They neither hunger, nor are weary,
And they cease not from their works.

[27] A wise man will fear in everything;
And in days of sinning he will beware of offence. [†]
[28] Every man of understanding knoweth wisdom;
And he will give thanks unto him that found her.
[29] They that were of understanding in sayings became also wise themselves,

12 There is that buyeth much for a little,
And payeth for it again sevenfold.
13 He that is wise in words shall make himself beloved;
But the pleasantries of fools shall be wasted.
14 The gift of a fool shall not profit thee; [†]
For his eyes are many instead of one.
15 He will give little, and upbraid much;
And he will open his mouth like a crier:
To-day he will lend, and to-morrow he will ask it again:
Such an one is a hateful man.
16 The fool will say, I have no friend,
And I have no thanks for my good deeds;
They that eat my bread are of evil tongue.
17 How oft, and of how many, shall he be laughed to scorn! [‡]

18 A slip on a pavement is better than a slip with the tongue;
So the fall of the wicked shall come speedily.
19 A man without grace is as a tale out of season:
It will be continually in the mouth of the ignorant.
20 A [§] wise sentence from a fool's mouth will be rejected;

24 A lie is a foul blot in a man:
It will be continually in the mouth of the ignorant.
25 A thief is better than a man that is continually lying:
But they both shall inherit destruction.
26 The disposition of a liar is dishonour;

1 My son, hast thou sinned? add no more thereto;
And make supplication for thy former sins.
2 Flee from sin as from the face of a serpent;
For if thou draw nigh it will bite thee:
The teeth thereof are the teeth of a lion,
Slaying the souls of men.
3 All iniquity is as a two-edged sword;
Its stroke hath no healing.

4 Terror and violence will lay waste riches;
So the house of a haughty man shall be laid waste.
5 Supplication from a poor man's mouth reacheth to the ears of [*] God,
And his judgement cometh speedily.
6 One that hateth reproof is in the path of the sinner;

8 He that buildeth his house with other men's money

9 The congregation of wicked men is as tow wrapped together;
And the end of them is a flame of fire.
10 The way of sinners is made smooth with stones;
And at the last end thereof is the pit of Hades.

11 He that keepeth the law becometh master of the intent thereof;
And the end of the fear of the Lord is wisdom.
12 He that is not clever will not be instructed;
And there is a cleverness which maketh bitterness to abound.
13 The knowledge of a wise man shall be made to abound as a flood;
And his counsel as a fountain of life.
14 The inward parts of a fool are like a broken vessel;
And he will hold no knowledge.

15 If a man of knowledge hear a wise word,
He will commend it, and add unto it:
The dissolute man heareth it, and it displeaseth him,
And he putteth it away behind his back.
16 The discourse of a fool is like a burden in the way;
But grace shall be found on the lips of the wise.
17 The mouth of the prudent man shall be sought for in the congregation;
And they will ponder his words in their heart.

18 As a house that is destroyed, so is wisdom to a fool;
And the knowledge of an unwise man is as [†] talk without sense.
19 Instruction is as fetters on the feet of an unwise man,
And as manacles on the right hand.
20 A fool lifteth up his voice with laughter;
But a clever man will scarce smile quietly.
21 Instruction is to a prudent man as an ornament of gold,
And as a bracelet upon his right arm.

24 It is a want of instruction in a man to listen at the door;
But the prudent man will be grieved with the disgrace.
25 [‡] The lips of strangers will be grieved at these things;

5 And turn away concupiscense from me. §
6 Let not  greediness and chambering overtake me;
And give me not over to a shameless mind.

7 Hear ye, my children, the discipline of the mouth;
And he that keepeth it shall not be taken.
8 The sinner shall be †† overtaken in his lips;
And the reviler and the proud man shall stumble therein.
9 Accustom not thy mouth to an oath;
And be not accustomed to the naming of the Holy One.
10 For as a servant that is continually scourged shall not lack a bruise,
So he also that sweareth and nameth God continually shall not be cleansed from sin.
11 A man of many oaths shall be filled with iniquity;
And the scourge shall not depart from his house:
If he shall offend, his sin shall be upon him;
And if he disregard it, he hath sinned doubly;
And if he hath sworn in vain, he shall not be justified;
For his house shall be filled with calamities.
12 There is a manner of speech that is clothed about with death:
Let it not be found in the heritage of Jacob;
For all these things shall be far from the godly,
And they shall not wallow in sins.
13 Accustom not thy mouth to gross rudeness,
For therein is the word of sin.
14 Remember thy father and thy mother,
For thou sittest in the midst of great men;
That thou be not forgetful before them,
And become a fool by thy custom;
So shalt thou wish that thou hadst not been born,
And curse the day of thy nativity.
15 A man that is accustomed to words of reproach
Will not be corrected all the days of his life.

16 Two sorts of men multiply sins,
And the third will bring wrath:
A hot mind, as a burning fire, will not be quenched till it be consumed:
A fornicator in the body of his flesh will never cease till he hath ‡‡ burned out the fire.
17 All bread is sweet to a fornicator:
He will not leave off till he die.
18 A man that goeth astray from his own bed,
Saying in his heart, Who seeth me?
Darkness is round about me, and the walls hide me,
And no man seeth me; of whom am I afraid?
The Most High will not remember my sins;
19 - And the eyes of men are his terror,

Beholding all the ways of men,
And looking into secret places.
[20] All things were known unto him or ever they were created;
And in like manner also after they were perfected.
[21] This man shall be punished in the streets of the city;
And where he suspected not he shall be taken.
[22] So also a wife that leaveth her husband,
And bringeth in an heir by a stranger.
[23] For first, she was disobedient in the law of the Most High;
And secondly, she trespassed against her own husband;
And thirdly, she played the adulteress in whoredom,
And brought in children by a stranger.
[24] She shall be brought out into the congregation;
And upon her children shall there be visitation.
[25] Her children shall not spread into roots,
And her branches shall bear no fruit.
[26] She shall leave her memory for a curse;

[5] Alone I compassed the circuit of heaven,
And walked in the depth of the abyss.
[6] In the waves of the sea, and in all the earth,
And in every people and nation, I got a possession.
[7] With all these I sought rest;
And in whose inheritance shall I lodge?
[8] Then the Creator of all things gave me a commandment;
And he that created me made my tabernacle to rest,
And said, Let thy tabernacle be in Jacob,
And thine inheritance in Israel.
[9] He created me from the beginning before the world;
And to the end I shall not fail.
[10] In the holy tabernacle I ministered before him;
And so was I established in Sion.

[1] In three things I was beautified,
And stood up beautiful before the Lord and men:
The concord of brethren, and friendship of neighbours,
And a woman and her husband that walk together in agreement.
[2] But three sorts of men my soul hateth,
And I am greatly offended at their life:
A poor man that is haughty, and a rich man that is a liar,
And an old man that is an adulterer lacking understanding.

[3] In thy youth thou hast not gathered,
And how shouldest thou find in thine old age?
[4] How beautiful a thing is judgement for gray hairs,
And for elders to know counsel!
[5] How beautiful is the wisdom of old men,
And thought and counsel to men that are in honour!
[6] Much experience is the crown of old men;
And their glorying is the fear of the Lord.

[7] There be nine things that I have thought of, and in mine heart counted happy;
And the tenth I will utter with my tongue:
A man that hath joy of his children;
A man that liveth and looketh upon the fall of his enemies:
[8] Happy is he that dwelleth with a wife of understanding;
And he that hath not slipped with his tongue;
And he that hath not served a man that is unworthy of him:
[9] Happy is he that hath found prudence;
And he that discourseth in the ears of them that listen.
[10] How great is he that hath found wisdom!
Yet is there none above him that feareth the Lord.
[11] The fear of the Lord passeth all things:
He that holdeth it, to whom shall he be likened? [12] [*]

[13] Give me any plague but the plague of the heart;
And any wickedness but the wickedness of a woman;
[14] Any calamity, but a calamity from them that hate me;
And any vengeance, but the vengeance of enemies.
[15] There is no head above the head of a serpent;
And there is no wrath above the wrath of an enemy.

[16] I will rather dwell with a lion and a dragon,
Than keep house with a wicked woman.
[17] The wickedness of a woman changeth her look,
And darkeneth her countenance as a bear doth.
[18] Her husband shall sit at meat among his neighbours,
And when he heareth it he sigheth bitterly.
[19] All malice is but little to the malice of a woman:
Let the portion of a sinner fall on her.

[20] As the going up a sandy way is to the feet of the aged,
So is a wife full of words to a quiet man.
[21] Throw not thyself upon the beauty of a woman;
And desire not a woman for her beauty.
[22] There is anger, and impudence, and great reproach,
If a woman maintain her husband.
[23] A wicked woman is abasement of heart,
And sadness of countenance, and a wounded heart:
A woman that will not make her husband happy
Is as hands that hang down, and palsied knees.
[24] From a woman was the beginning of sin;
And because of her we all die.
[25] Give not water an outlet;
Neither to a wicked woman freedom of speech.
[26] If she go not † as thou wouldest have her,
Cut her off from thy flesh. ‡

[1] Happy is the husband of a good wife;
And the number of his days shall be twofold.
[2] A brave woman rejoiceth her husband;
And he shall fulfil his years in peace.
[3] A good wife is a good portion:
She shall be given in the portion of such as fear the Lord.
[4] Whether a man be rich or poor,
A good heart maketh at all times a cheerful countenance.

[5] Of three things my heart was afraid;
And concerning the fourth * kind I made supplication:
The slander of a city, and the assembly of a multitude, and a false accusation:
All these are more grievous than death.
[6] A grief of heart and sorrow is a woman that is jealous of another woman,
And the scourge of a tongue communicating to all.
[7] A wicked woman is as a yoke of oxen shaken to and fro:
He that taketh hold of her is as one that graspeth a scorpion.
[8] A drunken woman causeth great wrath;

28 For two things my heart is grieved;

[16] He that revealeth secrets destroyeth credit,
And shall not find a friend to his mind.
[17] Love a friend, and keep faith with him:
But if thou reveal his secrets,
Thou shalt not pursue after him;
[18] For as a man hath destroyed his enemy,
So hast thou destroyed the friendship of thy neighbour.
[19] And as a bird which thou hast loosed out of thy hand,
So hast thou let thy neighbour go, and thou wilt not catch him again:
[20] Pursue him not, for he is gone far away,
And hath escaped as a gazelle out of the snare.

[6] Remember thy last end, and cease from enmity:
Remember corruption and death, and abide in the commandments.
[7] Remember the commandments, and be not wroth with thy neighbour;
And remember the covenant of the Highest, and wink at ignorance.

[8] Abstain from strife, and thou shalt diminish thy sins:
For a passionate man will kindle strife;
[9] And a man that is a sinner will trouble friends,
And will make debate among them that be at peace.
[10] * As is the fuel of the fire, so will it burn;
And as the stoutness of the strife is, so will it burn:
As is the strength of the man, so will be his wrath;
And as is his wealth, so will he exalt his anger.
[11] A contention begun in haste kindleth a fire;
And a hasty fighting sheddeth blood.
[12] If thou blow a spark, it shall burn;
And if thou spit upon it, it shall be quenched:
And both these shall come out of thy mouth.

[13] Curse the whisperer and double-tongued:
For he hath destroyed many that were at peace.
[14] A third person’s tongue hath shaken many,
And dispersed them from nation to nation;
And it hath pulled down strong cities,

[14] A good man will be surety for his neighbour;
And he that hath lost shame will fail him.
[15] Forget not the good offices of thy surety;

[22] Hear me, my son, and despise me not,
And at the last thou shalt find my words true:
In all thy works be quick,
And no disease shall come unto thee.

[23] Him that is liberal of his meat the lips shall bless;
And the testimony of his excellence shall be believed.
[24] Him that is a niggard of his meat the city shall murmur at;
And the testimony of his niggardness shall be sure.

[25] Shew not thyself valiant in wine;
For wine hath destroyed many.
[26] The furnace proveth the temper of steel by dipping;
So doth wine prove hearts in the quarreling of the proud.
[27] Wine is as good as life to men,
If thou drink it in its measure:
What life is there to a man that is without wine?
And it hath been created to make men glad.
[28] Wine drunk in season and to satisfy
Is joy of heart, and gladness of soul:
[29] Wine drunk largely is bitterness of soul,
With provocation and conflict.

‡ 31:12 Gr. open not thy throat upon it.

[30] Drunkenness increaseth the rage of a fool unto his hurt;
It diminisheth strength, and addeth wounds.

[31] Rebuke not thy neighbour at a banquet of wine,
Neither set him at nought in his mirth:
Speak not unto him a word of reproach,
And press not upon him by asking back a debt.

32

[1] Have they made thee ruler of a feast?
Be not lifted up,
Be thou among them as one of them;
Take thought for them, and so sit down.
[2] And when thou hast done all thy office, take thy place,
That thou mayest be gladdened on their account,
And receive a crown for thy well ordering.

[3] Speak, thou that art the elder, for it becometh thee, but with sound knowledge;
And hinder not music.
[4] Pour not out talk where there is a performance of music,
And display not thy wisdom out of season.
[5] As a signet of carbuncle in a setting of gold,
So is a concert of music in a banquet of wine.
[6] As a signet of emerald in a work of gold,
So is a strain of music with pleasant wine.

[7] Speak, young man, if there be need of thee;
Yet scarcely if thou be twice asked.
[8] Sum up thy speech, many things in few words;
Be as one that knoweth and yet holdeth his tongue.
[9] If thou be among great men, behave not as their equal;
And when another is speaking, make not much babbling.
[10] Before thunder speedeth lightning;
And before a shamefast man favour shall go forth.
[11] Rise up betimes, and be not the last;
Get thee home quickly and loiter not:
[12] There take thy pastime, and do what is in thy heart;
And sin not by proud speech:
[13] And for these things bless him that made thee,
And giveth thee to drink freely of his good things.

[14] He that feareth the Lord will receive his discipline;
And they that seek him early shall find favour.
[15] He that seeketh the law shall be filled therewith:
But the hypocrite shall stumble thereat.
[16] They that fear the Lord shall find judgement,
And shall kindle righteous acts as a light.
[17] A sinful man shunneth reproof,
And will find a judgement according to his will.

[18] A man of counsel will not neglect a thought;
A strange and proud man will not crouch in fear,

Even after he hath done a thing by himself without counsel.
19 Do nothing without counsel;
And when thou hast once done, repent not.
20 Go not in a way of conflict;
And stumble not in stony places.
21 Be not confident in a * smooth way.
22 And beware of thine own children.
23 In every work trust thine own soul;
For this is the keeping of the commandments.

24 He that believeth the law giveth heed to the commandment;
And he that trusteth in the Lord shall suffer no loss.

33

1 There shall no evil happen unto him that feareth the Lord;
But in temptation once and again will he deliver him.
2 A wise man will not hate the law;
But he that is a hypocrite therein is as a ship in a storm.
3 A man of understanding will put his trust in the law;
And the law is faithful unto him, as when one asketh at the oracle.

4 Prepare thy speech, and so shalt thou be heard;
Bind up instruction, and make thine answer.
5 The heart of a fool is as a cartwheel;
And his thoughts like a rolling axletree.
6 A stallion horse is as a mocking friend;
He neigheth under every one that sitteth upon him.

7 Why doth one day excel another,
When all the light of every day in the year is of the sun?
8 By the knowledge of the Lord they were distinguished;
And he varied seasons and feasts:
9 Some of them he exalted and hallowed,
And some of them hath he made ordinary days.
10 And all men are from the ground,
And Adam was created of earth.
11 In the abundance of his knowledge the Lord distinguished them,
And made their ways various:
12 Some of them he blessed and exalted,
And some of them he hallowed and brought nigh to himself:
Some of them he cursed and brought low,
And overthrew them from their place.
13 As the clay of the potter in his hand,
All his ways are according to his good pleasure;
So men are in the hand of him that made them,
To render unto them according to his judgement.
14 Good is set over against evil,
And life over against death:
So is * the sinner over against the godly.
15 And thus look upon all the works of the Most High;
Two and two, one against another.

* 32:21 Gr. without stumbling-blocks.

* 33:14 A line of this verse is here omitted by the best authorities.

[16] And I waked up last,
As one that gleaneth after the grape-gatherers:
By the blessing of the Lord I got before them,
And filled my winepress as one that gathereth grapes.
[17] Consider that I laboured not for myself alone,
But for all them that seek instruction.
[18] Hear me, ye great men of the people,
And hearken with your ears, ye rulers of the congregation.

[19] To son and wife, to brother and friend,
Give not power over thee while thou livest;
And give not thy goods to another,
Lest thou repent and make supplication for them again.
[20] Whilst thou yet livest, and breath is in thee,
Give not thyself over to anybody.
[21] For better it is that thy children should supplicate thee,
Than that thou shouldest look to the hand of thy sons.
[22] In all thy works keep the upper hand;
Bring not a stain on thine honour.
[23] In the day that thou endest the days of thy life,
And in the time of death, distribute thine inheritance.

[24] Fodder, a stick, and burdens, for an ass;
Bread, and discipline, and work, for a servant.
[25] Set thy servant to work, and thou shalt find rest:
Leave his hands idle, and he will seek liberty.
[26] Yoke and thong will bow the neck:
And for an evil servant there are racks and tortures.
[27] Send him to labour, that he be not idle;
For idleness teacheth much mischief.
[28] Set him to work, as is fit for him;
And if he obey not, make his fetters heavy.
[29] And be not excessive toward any;
And without judgement do nothing.

[30] If thou hast a servant, let him be as thyself,
Because thou hast bought him with blood.
[31] If thou hast a servant, treat him as thyself;
[†] For as thine own soul wilt thou have need of him:
If thou treat him ill, and he depart and run away,
Which way wilt thou go to seek him?

34

[1] Vain and false hopes are for a man void of understanding;
And dreams give wings to fools.
[2] As one that catcheth at a shadow, and followeth after the wind,
So is he that setteth his mind on dreams.
[3] The vision of dreams is as this thing against that,
The likeness of a face over against a face.
[4] Of an unclean thing what shall be cleansed?
And of that which is false what shall be true?

[†] 33:31 The Greek text of this line is probably corrupt.

[5] Divinations, and soothsayings, and dreams, are vain:
And the heart fancieth, as a woman's in travail.
[6] If they be not sent from the Most High in thy visitation,
Give not thy heart unto them. [7] For dreams have led many astray:
And they have failed by putting their hope in them.
[8] Without lying shall the law be accomplished;
And wisdom is perfection to a faithful mouth.

[9] A well-instructed man knoweth many things;
And he that hath much experience will declare understanding.
[10] He that hath no experience knoweth few things:
But he that hath wandered shall increase his skill.
[11] In my wandering I have seen many things;
And more than my words is my understanding.
[12] Ofttimes was I in danger even unto death;
And I was preserved because of these things.
[13] The spirit of those that fear the Lord shall live;
For their hope is upon him that saveth them.
[14] Whoso feareth the Lord shall not be afraid, and shall not play the coward;
For he is his hope.
[15] Blessed is the soul of him that feareth the Lord:
To whom doth he give heed? and who is his stay?
[16] The eyes of the Lord are upon them that love him,
A mighty protection and strong stay,
A cover from the hot blast, and a cover from the noonday,
A guard from stumbling, and a succour from falling.
[17] He raiseth up the soul, and enlighteneth the eyes:
He giveth healing, life, and blessing.

[18] He that sacrificeth of a thing wrongfully gotten, his offering is made in mockery;
And the mockeries of wicked men are not well-pleasing.
[19] The Most High hath no pleasure in the offerings of the ungodly;
Neither is he pacified for sins by the multitude of sacrifices.
[20] As one that killeth the son before his father's eyes
Is he that bringeth a sacrifice from the goods of the poor.
[21] The bread of the needy is the life of the poor:
He that depriveth him thereof is a man of blood.
[22] As one that slayeth his neighbour is he that taketh away his living;
And as a shedder of blood is he that depriveth a hireling of his hire.
[23] One building, and another pulling down,
What profit have they had but toil?
[24] One praying, and another cursing,
Whose voice will the Lord listen to?
[25] He that washeth himself after touching a dead body, and toucheth it again,
What profit hath he in his washing?
[26] Even so a man fasting for his sins,
And going again, and doing the same;
Who will listen to his prayer?
And what profit hath he in his humiliation?

35

1 He that keepeth the law multiplieth offerings;
He that taketh heed to the commandments sacrificeth a peace offering.
2 He that requiteth a good turn offereth fine flour;
And he that giveth alms sacrificeth a thank offering.
3 To depart from wickedness is a thing pleasing to the Lord;
And to depart from unrighteousness is a propitiation.
4 See that thou appear not in the presence of the Lord empty.
5 For all these things are to be done because of the commandment.
6 The offering of the righteous maketh the altar fat;
And the sweet savour thereof is before the Most High.
7 The sacrifice of a righteous man is acceptable;
And the memorial thereof shall not be forgotten.
8 Glorify the Lord with a good eye,
And stint not the firstfruits of thine hands.
9 In every gift shew a cheerful countenance,
And dedicate thy tithe with gladness.
10 Give unto the Most High according as he hath given;
And as thy hand hath found, give with a good eye.
11 For the Lord recompenseth,
And he will recompense thee sevenfold.

12 Think not to corrupt with gifts; for he will not receive them:
And set not thy mind on an unrighteous sacrifice;
For the Lord is judge,
And with him is no respect of persons.
13 He will not accept any person against a poor man;
And he will listen to the prayer of him that is wronged.
14 He will in no wise despise the supplication of the fatherless;
Nor the widow, [*] when she poureth out her tale.
15 Do not the tears of the widow run down her cheek?
And is not her cry against him that hath caused them to fall?
16 He that serveth God according to his good pleasure shall be accepted,
And his supplication shall reach unto the clouds.
17 The prayer of the humble pierceth the clouds;
And till it come nigh, he will not be comforted;
And he will not depart, till the Most High shall visit;
And he shall judge [†] righteously, and execute judgement.
18 And the Lord will not be slack, neither will he be longsuffering toward them,
Till he have crushed the loins of the unmerciful;
And he shall repay vengeance to the heathen;
Till he have taken away the multitude of the haughty,
And broken in pieces the sceptres of the unrighteous;
19 Till he have rendered to every man according to his doings,
And to the works of men according to their devices;
Till he have judged the cause of his people;
And he shall make them to rejoice in his mercy.
20 Mercy is seasonable in the time of his afflicting them,
As clouds of rain in the time of drought.

1 Have mercy upon us, O Lord the God of all, and behold;
2 And send thy fear upon all the nations: [*]
3 Lift up thy hand against the strange nations;
And let them see thy mighty power.
4 As thou wast sanctified in us before them,
So be thou magnified in them before us.
5 And let them know thee, as we also have known thee,
That there is no God but only thou, O God.
6 Shew new signs, and work divers wonders;
Glorify thy hand and thy right arm. [†]
7 Raise up indignation, and pour out wrath;
Take away the adversary, and destroy the enemy.
8 Hasten the time, and remember the oath;
And let them declare thy mighty works.
9 Let him that escapeth be devoured by the rage of fire;
And may they that harm thy people find destruction.
10 Crush the heads of the rulers of the enemies,
That say, There is none but we.
11 Gather all the tribes of Jacob together,
And [‡] take them for thine inheritance, as from the beginning.
12 O Lord, have mercy upon the people that is called by thy name,
And upon Israel, whom thou didst liken unto a firstborn.
13 Have compassion upon the city of thy sanctuary,
Jerusalem, the place of thy rest.
14 Fill Sion; exalt thine oracles,
And fill thy people with thy glory.
15 Give testimony unto those that were thy creatures in the beginning,
And raise up the prophecies that have been in thy name.
16 Give reward unto them that wait for thee:
And men shall put their trust in thy prophets.
17 Hearken, O Lord, to the prayer of thy suppliants,
According to the blessing of Aaron concerning thy people;
And all they that are on the earth shall know
That thou art the Lord, the [§] eternal God.

18 The belly will eat any meat;
Yet is one meat better than another.
19 The [] mouth tasteth meats taken in hunting:
So doth an understanding heart false speeches.
20 A froward heart will cause heaviness:
And a man of experience will recompense him.
21 A woman will receive any man;
But one daughter is better than another.
22 The beauty of a woman cheereth the countenance;
And a man desireth nothing so much.
23 If there is on her tongue mercy and meekness,
Her husband is not like the sons of men.

[24] He that getteth a wife entereth upon a possession:
A help meet for him, and a pillar of rest.
[25] Where no hedge is, the possession will be laid waste:
And he that hath no wife will mourn as he wandereth up and down.
[26] For who will trust a nimble robber, that skippeth from city to city?
Even so who shall trust a man that hath no nest, and lodgeth wheresoever he findeth himself at nightfall?

[1] Every friend will say, I also am his friend:
But there is a friend, which is only a friend in name.
[2] Is there not a grief in it even unto death,
When a companion and friend is turned to enmity?
[3] O wicked imagination, whence camest thou rolling in
To cover the dry land with deceitfulness?
[4] There is a companion, which rejoiceth in the gladness of a friend,
But in time of affliction will be against him.
[5] There is a companion, which for the belly's sake laboureth with his friend,
In the face of battle will take up the buckler.
[6] Forget not a friend in thy soul;
And be not unmindful of him in thy riches.

[7] Every counsellor extolleth counsel;
But there is that counselleth for himself.
[8] Let thy soul beware of a counsellor,
And know thou before what is his interest
(For he will take counsel for himself);
Lest he cast the lot upon thee,
[9] And say unto thee, Thy way is good:
And he will stand over against thee, to see what shall befall thee.
[10] Take not counsel with one that looketh askance at thee;
And hide thy counsel from such as are jealous of thee.
[11] Take not counsel with a woman about her rival;
Neither with a coward about war;
Nor with a merchant about exchange;
Nor with a buyer about selling;
Nor with an envious man about thankfulness;
Nor with an unmerciful man about kindliness;
Nor with a sluggard about any kind of work;
Nor with a hireling in thy house about finishing his work;
Nor with an idle servant about much business:
Give not heed to these in any matter of counsel.
[12] But rather be continually with a godly man,
Whom thou shalt have known to be a keeper of the commandments,
Who in his soul is as thine own soul,
And who will grieve with thee, if thou shalt miscarry.
[13] And make the counsel of thy heart to stand;
For there is none more faithful unto thee than it.
[14] For a man's soul is sometime wont to bring him tidings,
More than seven watchmen that sit on high on a watch-tower.
[15] And above all this intreat the Most High,
That he may direct thy way in truth.

16 Let reason be the beginning of every work,
And let counsel go before every action.
17 As a token of the changing of the heart,
18 four manner of things do rise up,
Good and evil, life and death;
And that which ruleth over them continually is the tongue.
19 There is one that is shrewd and the instructor of many,
And yet is unprofitable to his own soul.
20 There is one that is subtil in words, and is hated;
He shall be destitute of all food:
21 For grace was not given him from the Lord;
Because he is deprived of all wisdom.
22 There is one that is wise to his own soul;
And the fruits of his understanding are trustworthy in the mouth.
23 A wise man will instruct his own people;
And the fruits of his understanding are trustworthy.
24 A wise man shall be filled with blessing;
And all they that see him shall call him happy.
25 The life of man is numbered by days;
And the days of Israel are innumerable.
26 The wise man shall inherit confidence among his people,
And his name shall live for ever.

27 My son, prove thy soul in thy life,
And see what is evil for it, and give not that unto it.
28 For all things are not profitable for all men,
Neither hath every soul pleasure in every thing.
29 Be not insatiable in any luxury,
And be not greedy on the things that thou eatest.
30 For in multitude of meats there shall be disease,
And surfeiting shall come nigh unto colic.
31 Because of surfeiting have many perished;
But he that taketh heed shall prolong his life.

1 Honour a physician according to thy need of him with the honours due unto him:
For verily the Lord hath created him.
2 For from the Most High cometh healing;
And from the king he shall receive a gift.
3 The skill of the physician shall lift up his head;
And in the sight of great men he shall be admired.
4 The Lord created medicines out of the earth;
And a prudent man will have no disgust at them.
5 Was not water made sweet with wood,
That the virtue thereof might be known?
6 And he gave men skill,
That [*] they might be glorified in his marvellous works.
7 With them doth he heal a man,
And taketh away his pain.
8 With these will the apothecary make a confection;

[9] My son, in thy sickness be not negligent;
But pray unto the Lord, and he shall heal thee.
[10] Put away wrong doing, and order thine hands aright,
And cleanse thy heart from all manner of sin.
[11] Give a sweet savour, and a memorial of fine flour;
And make fat thine offering, as one that is not.
[12] Then give place to the physician, for verily the Lord hath created him;
And let him not go from thee, for thou hast need of him.
[13] There is a time when in their very hands is the issue for good.
[14] For they also shall beseech the Lord,
That he may prosper them in giving relief and in healing for the maintenance of life.
[15] He that sinneth before his Maker,
Let him fall into the hands of the physician.

[16] My son, let thy tears fall over the dead,
And as one that suffereth grievously begin lamentation;
And wind up his body according to his due,
And neglect not his burial.
[17] Make bitter weeping, and make passionate wailing,
And let thy mourning be according to his desert,
For one day or two, lest thou be evil spoken of:
And so be comforted for thy sorrow.
[18] For of sorrow cometh death,
And sorrow of heart will bow down the strength.
[19] In calamity sorrow also remaineth:
And the poor man's life is † grievous to the heart.
[20] Give not thy heart unto sorrow:
Put it away, remembering the last end:
[21] Forget it not, for there is no returning again:
Him thou shalt not profit, and thou wilt hurt thyself.
[22] Remember the sentence upon him; for so also shall thine be;
Yesterday for me, and today for thee.
[23] When the dead is at rest, let his remembrance rest;
And be comforted for him, when his spirit departeth from him.

[24] The wisdom of the scribe cometh by opportunity of leisure;
And ‡ he that hath little business shall become wise.
[25] How shall he become wise that holdeth the plough,
That glorieth in the shaft of the goad,
That driveth oxen, and is occupied in their labours,
And whose discourse is of the stock of bulls?
[26] He will set his heart upon turning his furrows;
And his wakefulness is to give his heifers their fodder.
[27] So is every artificer and workmaster,
That passeth his time by night as by day;
They that cut gravings of signets,
And his diligence is to make great variety;

† 38:19 Gr. against the heart. ‡ 38:24 Gr. he that is lessened in his business.

He will set his heart to preserve likeness in his portraiture,
And will be wakeful to finish his work.
28 So is the smith sitting by the anvil,
And considering the unwrought iron:
The vapour of the fire will waste his flesh;
And in the heat of the furnace will he wrestle with his work:
The noise of the hammer will [§] be ever in his ear,
And his eyes are upon the pattern of the vessel;
He will set his heart upon perfecting his works,
And he will be wakeful to adorn them perfectly.
29 So is the potter sitting at his work,
And turning the wheel about with his feet,
Who is alway anxiously set at his work,
And all his handywork is by number;
30 He will fashion the clay with his arm,
And will bend its strength in front of his feet;
He will apply his heart to finish the glazing;
And he will be wakeful to make clean the furnace.

31 All these put their trust in their hands;
And each becometh wise in his own work.
32 Without these shall not a city be inhabited,
And men shall not sojourn nor walk up and down therein.
33 [] They shall not be sought for in the council of the people,
And in the assembly they shall not mount on high;
They shall not sit on the seat of the judge,
And they shall not understand the covenant of judgement:
Neither shall they declare instruction and judgement;
And where parables are they shall not be found.
34 But they will maintain the fabric of the [††] world;
And in the handywork of their craft is their prayer.

39

1 [*] Not so he that hath applied his soul,
And meditateth in the law of the Most High;
He will seek out the wisdom of all the ancients,
And will be occupied in prophecies.
2 He will keep the discourse of the men of renown,
And will enter in amidst the subtilties of parables.
3 He will seek out the hidden meaning of proverbs,
And be conversant in the dark sayings of parables.
4 He will serve among great men,
And appear before him that ruleth:
He will travel through the land of strange nations;
For he hath tried good things and evil among men.
5 He will apply his heart to resort early to the Lord that made him,
And will make supplication before the Most High,
And will open his mouth in prayer,
And will make supplication for his sins.

[6] If the great Lord will,
He shall be filled with the spirit of understanding:
He shall pour forth the words of his wisdom,
And in prayer give thanks unto the Lord.
[7] He shall direct his counsel and knowledge,
And in his secrets shall he meditate.
[8] He shall shew forth the instruction which he hath been taught,
And shall glory in the law of the covenant of the Lord.
[9] Many shall commend his understanding;
And so long as the world endureth, it shall not be blotted out:
His memorial shall not depart,
And his name shall live from generation to generation.
[10] Nations shall declare his wisdom,
And the congregation shall tell out his praise.
[11] If he continue, he shall leave a greater name than a thousand:
And if he † die, he addeth thereto.

[12] Yet more will I utter, which I have thought upon;
And I am filled as the moon at the full.
[13] Hearken unto me, ye holy children,
And bud forth as a rose growing by a brook of water:
[14] And give ye a sweet savour as frankencense,
And put forth flowers as a lily,
Spread abroad a sweet smell, and sing a song of praise;
Bless ye the Lord for all his works.
[15] Magnify his name,
And give utterance to his praise
With the songs of your lips, and with harps;
And thus shall ye say when ye utter his praise:

[16] All the works of the Lord are exceeding good,
And every command shall be accomplished in his season.
[17] None can say, What is this? wherefore is that?
For in his season they shall all be sought out.
At his word the waters stood as a heap,
And the receptacles of waters at the word of his mouth.
[18] At his command is all his good pleasure done;
And there is none that shall hinder his salvation.
[19] The works of all flesh are before him;
And it is not possible to be hid from his eyes.
[20] He beholdeth from everlasting to everlasting;
And there is nothing wonderful before him.
[21] None can say, What is this? wherefore is that?
For all things are created for their uses.

[22] His blessing covered the dry land as a river,
And saturated it as a flood.
[23] As he hath turned the waters into saltness;
So shall the heathen inherit his wrath.
[24] His ways are plain unto the holy;
So are they stumblingblocks unto the wicked.
[25] Good things are created from the beginning for the good;

† 39:11 Gr. cease.

So are evil things for sinners.
[26] The chief of all things necessary for the life of man
Are water, and fire, and iron, and salt,
And flour of wheat, and honey, and milk,
The blood of the grape, and oil, and clothing.
[27] All these things are for good to the godly;
So to the sinners they shall be turned into evil.

[28] There be winds that are created for vengeance,
And in their fury lay on their scourges heavily;
In the time of consummation they pour out their strength,
And shall appease the wrath of him that made them.
[29] Fire, and hail, and famine, and death,
All these are created for vengeance;
[30] Teeth of wild beasts, and scorpions and adders,
And a sword punishing the ungodly unto destruction.
[31] They shall rejoice in his commandment,
And shall be made ready upon earth, when need is;
And in their seasons they shall not transgress his word.

[32] Therefore from the beginning I was resolved,
And I thought this, and left it in writing;
[33] All the works of the Lord are good:
And he will supply every need in its season.
[34] And none can say, This is worse than that:
For they shall all be well approved in their season.
[35] And now with all your heart and mouth sing ye praises,
And bless the name of the Lord.

[1] Great travail is created for every man,
And a heavy yoke is upon the sons of Adam,
From the day of their coming forth from their mother’s womb,
Until the day for their burial in the mother of all things.

[5] There is wrath, and jealousy, and trouble, and disquiet,
And fear of death, and anger, and strife;
And in the time of rest upon his bed
His night sleep doth change his knowledge.
[6] A little or nothing is his resting,
And afterward in his sleep, as in a day of keeping watch,
He is troubled in the vision of his heart,
As one that hath escaped from the front of battle.
[7] In the very time of his deliverance he awaketh,
And marvelleth that the fear is nought.

[1] O death, how bitter is the remembrance of thee to a man that is at peace in his possessions,
Unto the man that hath nothing to distract him, and hath prosperity in all things,
And that still hath strength to receive meat!
[2] O death, acceptable is thy sentence unto a man that is needy, and that faileth in strength,
That is in extreme old age, and is distracted about all things,
And is perverse, and hath lost patience!
[3] Fear not the sentence of death;

Because they shall be reproached for his sake.
[8] Woe unto you, ungodly men,
Which have forsaken the law of the Most High God! †
[9] If ye be born, ye shall be born to a curse;
If ye die, a curse shall be your portion.
[10] All things that are of the earth shall go back to the earth:

15 I will make mention now of the works of the Lord,

In the words of the Lord are his works.
16 The sun that giveth light looketh upon all things;

19 Abraham was a great father of a multitude of nations;
And there was none found like him in glory;
20 Who kept the law of the Most High,
And was taken into covenant with him:
In his flesh he established the covenant;
And when he was proved, he was found faithful.

21 Therefore he assured him by an oath,
That the nations should be blessed in his seed;
That he would multiply him as the dust of the earth,
And exalt his seed as the stars,
And cause them to inherit from sea to sea,
And from the River unto the utmost part of the earth.
22 In Isaac also did he establish likewise, for Abraham his father's sake,

He acknowledged him in his blessings,
And gave to him by inheritance,

[3] He played with lions as with kids,
And with bears as with lambs of the flock.
[4] In his youth did he not slay a giant,

When he lifted up his hand with a sling stone,
And beat down the boasting of Goliath?
[5] For he called upon the Most High Lord;
And he gave him strength in his right hand,

To exalt the horn of his people.
[6] So they glorified him for his ten thousands,
And praised him for the blessings of the Lord,
In that there was given him a diadem of glory.
[7] For he destroyed the enemies on every side,
And brought to nought the Philistines his adversaries,

[8] In every work of his he gave thanks to the Holy One Most High with words of glory;
With his whole heart he sang praise,
And loved him that made him.
[9] Also he set singers before the altar,
And to make sweet melody by their music. *
[10] He gave comeliness to the feasts,

And out of Ephraim ruled a disobedient kingdom.
[22] But the Lord will never forsake his mercy;
And he will not destroy any of his works,
Nor blot out the posterity of his elect;
And the seed of him that loved him he will not take away;
And he gave a remnant unto Jacob,
And unto David a root out of him.

[23] And so rested Solomon with his fathers;
And of his seed he left behind him Rehoboam,
Even the foolishness of the people, and one that lacked understanding,
Who made the people to revolt by his counsel.
Also Jeroboam the son of Nebat,

And his word burned like a torch:
[2] Who brought a famine upon them,
And by his zeal made them few in number.
[3] By the word of the Lord he shut up the heaven:
Thrice did he thus bring down fire.
[4] How wast thou glorified, O Elijah, in thy wondrous deeds!
And who shall glory like unto thee?
[5] Who did raise up a dead man from death,
And from * the place of the dead, by the word of the Most High:
[6] Who brought down kings to destruction,
And honourable men from their bed:

And judgements of vengeance in Horeb:
[8] Who anointed kings for retribution,
And prophets to succeed after him:

[9] Who was taken up in a tempest of fire,
In a chariot of fiery horses:
[10] Who was recorded for reproofs in their seasons,
To pacify anger, before it brake forth into wrath;
To turn the heart of the father unto the son,
And to restore the tribes of Jacob.
[11] Blessed are they that saw thee,
And they that have been beautified with love;
For we also shall surely live.

[12] Elijah it was, who was wrapped in a tempest:
And Elisha was filled with his spirit;
And in all his days he was not moved by the fear of any ruler,
And no one brought him into subjection.
[13] † Nothing was too high for him;
And when he was laid on sleep his body prophesied.
[14] As in his life he did wonders,
So in death were his works marvellous.
[15] For all this the people repented not,
And they departed not from their sins,
Till they were carried away as a spoil from their land,
And were scattered through all the earth;
And the people was left very few in number,
And a ruler was left in the house of David.
[16] Some of them did that which was pleasing to God,
And some multiplied sins.

He digged the sheer rock with iron,
And builded up wells for waters.
[18] In his days Sennacherib came up,
And sent Rabshakeh, and departed;
And he lifted up his hand against Sion,
And boasted great things in his arrogancy.
[19] Then were their hearts and their hands shaken,
And they were in pain, as women in travail;
[20] And they called upon the Lord which is merciful,
Spreading forth their hands unto him:
And the Holy One heard them speedily out of Heaven,
And delivered them by the hand of Isaiah.
[21] He smote the camp of the Assyrians,
And his angel utterly destroyed them.
[22] For Hezekiah did that which was pleasing to the Lord,
And was strong in the ways of David his father,
Which Isaiah the prophet commanded,
Who was great and faithful in his vision.

And he added life to the king.

[1] The memorial of Josiah is like the composition of incense
Prepared by the work of the apothecary:
It shall be sweet as honey in every mouth,
And as music at a banquet of wine.
[2] He behaved himself uprightly in the conversion of the people,
And took away the abominations of iniquity.
[3] He set his heart right toward the Lord;
In the days of wicked men he made godliness to prevail.

[4] Except David and Hezekiah and Josiah,
All committed trespass:
For they forsook the law of the Most High;
The kings of Judah failed.
[5] For they gave their * power unto others,

[6] They set on fire the chosen city of the sanctuary,
And made her streets desolate, as it was written by the hand of Jeremiah.

From lips that forge lies,
And wast my helper before them that stood by;
[3] And didst deliver me, according to the abundance of thy mercy, and greatness of thy name,
From the gnashings of teeth ready to devour,
Out of the hand of such as sought my life,
Out of the manifold afflictions which I had;
[4] From the choking of a fire on every side,
And out of the midst of fire which I kindled not;
[5] Out of the depth of the belly of [*] the grave,
And from an unclean tongue,
And from lying words,
[6] The slander of an unrighteous tongue unto the king.
My soul drew near even unto death,
And my life was near to [†] the grave beneath.
[7] They compassed me on every side,
And there was none to help me.
I was looking for the succour of men,
And it was not.
[8] And I remembered thy mercy, O Lord,
And thy working which hath been from everlasting,
How thou deliverest them that wait for thee,
And savest them out of the hand of the enemies.
[9] And I lifted up my supplication from the earth,
And prayed for deliverance from death.
[10] I called upon the Lord, the Father of my Lord,
That he would not forsake me in the days of affliction,
In the time when there was no help against the proud.
[11] I will praise thy name continually,
And will sing praise with thanksgiving;
And my supplication was heard:
[12] For thou savedst me from destruction,
And deliveredst me from the evil time:
Therefore will I give thanks and praise unto thee,
And bless the name of the Lord.

[13] When I was yet young,
Or ever I went abroad,
I sought wisdom openly in my prayer.
[14] Before the temple I asked for her,
And I will seek her out even to the end.
[15] From her flower as from the ripening grape my heart delighted in her:
My foot trod in uprightness,
From my youth I tracked her out.
[16] I bowed down mine ear a little, and received her,
And found for myself much instruction.
[17] I profited in her:
Unto him that giveth me wisdom I will give glory.

And I was zealous for that which is good;
And I shall never be put to shame.

BARUCH.

[1] AND these are the words of the book, which Baruch the son of Nerias, the son of Maaseas, the son of Sedekias, the son of Asadias, the son of Helkias, wrote in Babylon, [2] in the fifth year, and in the seventh day of the month, what time as the Chaldeans took Jerusalem, and burnt it with fire. [3] And Baruch did read the words of this book in the hearing of Jechonias the son of Joakim king of Judah, and in the hearing of all the people that came to hear the book, [4] and in the hearing of the mighty men, and of the kings' sons, and in the hearing of the elders, and in the hearing of all the people, from the least unto the greatest, even of all them that dwelt at Babylon by the river Sud. [5] And they wept, and fasted, * and prayed before the Lord; [6] they made also a collection of money according to every man's power: [7] and they sent it to Jerusalem unto Joakim the high priest, the son of Helkias, the son of Salom, and to the priests, and to all the people which were found with him at Jerusalem, [8] at the same time when he took the vessels of the house of the Lord, that had been carried out of the temple, to return them into the land of Judah, the tenth day of the month Sivan, namely, silver vessels, which Sedekias the son of Josias king of Judah had made, [9] after that Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon had carried away Jechonias, and the princes, and the captives, and the mighty men, and the people of the land, from Jerusalem, and brought them unto Babylon. [10] And they said, Behold, we have sent you money; buy you therefore with the money burnt offerings, and sin offerings, and incense, and prepare an oblation, and offer upon the altar of the Lord our God; [11] and pray for the life of Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon, and for the life of Baltasar his son, that their days may be † as the days of heaven above the earth: [12] and the Lord will give us strength, and lighten our eyes, and we shall live under the shadow of Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon, and under the shadow of Baltasar his son, and we shall serve them many days, and find favour in their sight. [13] Pray for us also unto the Lord our God, for we have sinned against the Lord our God; and unto this day the wrath of the Lord and his indignation is not turned from us. [14] And ye shall read this book which we have sent unto you, to make confession in the house of the Lord, upon the day of the feast and on the days of the solemn assembly.

[15] And ye shall say, To the Lord our God belongeth righteousness, but unto us confusion of face, as at this day, unto the men of Judah, and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem, [16] and to our kings, and to our princes, and to our priests, and to our prophets, and to our fathers: [17] for that we have sinned before the Lord, [18] and disobeyed him, and have not hearkened unto the voice of the Lord our God, to walk in the commandments of the Lord that he hath set before us: [19] since the day that the Lord brought our fathers out of the land of Egypt, unto this present day, we have been disobedient unto the Lord our God, and we have dealt unadvisedly in not hearkening unto his voice. [20] Wherefore the plagues clave unto us, and the curse, which the Lord commanded Moses his servant to pronounce in the day that he brought our fathers out of the land of Egypt, to give us a land that floweth with milk and honey, as at this day. Lord our God, according unto all the words of the prophets, whom he sent unto us: [22] but we walked every man in the imagination of his own wicked heart, to serve strange gods, and to do that which is evil in the sight of the Lord our God.

[1] Therefore the Lord hath made good his word, which he pronounced against us, and against our judges that judged Israel, and against our kings, and against our princes, and against the men of Israel and Judah, [2] to bring upon us great plagues, such as never happened under the whole heaven, [*] as it came to pass in Jerusalem, according to the things that are written in the law of Moses; [3] That we should eat every man the flesh of his own son, and every man the flesh of his own daughter. [4] Moreover he hath given them to be in subjection to all the kingdoms that are round about us, to be a reproach and a desolation among all the people round about, where the Lord hath scattered them. [5] Thus were they cast down, and not exalted, because we sinned against the Lord our God, in not hearkening unto his voice. [6] To the Lord our God belongeth righteousness: but unto us and to our fathers confusion of face, as at this day. [7] For all these plagues are come upon us, which the Lord hath pronounced against us. [8] Yet have we not intreated the favour of the Lord, in turning every one from the thoughts of his wicked heart. [9] Therefore hath the Lord kept watch over the plagues, and the Lord hath brought them upon us; for the Lord is righteous in all his works which he hath commanded us. [10] Yet we have not hearkened unto his voice, to walk in the commandments of the Lord that he hath set before us.

[11] And now, O Lord, thou God of Israel, that hast brought thy people out of the land of Egypt with a mighty hand, and with signs, and with wonders, and with great power, and with a high arm, and hast gotten thyself a name, as at this day: [12] O Lord our God, we have sinned, we have done ungodly, we have dealt unrighteously in all thine ordinances. [13] Let thy wrath turn from us: for we are but a few left among the heathen, where thou hast scattered us. [14] Hear our prayer, O Lord, and our petition, and deliver us for thine own sake, and give us favour in the sight of them which have led us away captive: [15] that all the earth may know that thou art the Lord our God, because Israel and his posterity is called by thy name. [16] O Lord, look down from thine holy house, and consider us: incline thine ear, O Lord, and hear: [17] open thine eyes, and behold: for the dead that are in [†] the grave, whose breath is taken from their bodies, will give unto the Lord neither glory nor righteousness: [18] but the soul that is greatly vexed, which goeth stooping and feeble, and the eyes that fail, and the hungry soul, will give thee glory and righteousness, O Lord. [19] For we do not present our supplication before thee, O Lord our God, for the righteousness of our fathers, and of our kings. [20] For thou hast sent thy wrath and thine indignation upon us, as thou hast spoken by thy servants the prophets, saying, [21] Thus saith the Lord, Bow your shoulders to serve the king of Babylon, and remain in the land that I gave unto your fathers. [22] But if ye will not hear the voice of the Lord, to serve the king of Babylon, [23] I will cause to cease out of the cities of Judah, and from without Jerusalem, the voice of mirth, and the voice of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom, and the voice of the bride: and the whole land shall be desolate without inhabitant. [25] And, lo, they are cast out to the heat by day, and to the frost by night, and they died in great miseries by famine, by sword, and by ‡ pestilence. [26] And the house which is called by thy name hast thou laid waste, as at this day, for the wickedness of the house of Israel and the house of Judah. [27] Yet, O Lord our God, thou hast dealt with us after all thy kindness, and according to all that great mercy of thine, [28] as thou spakest by thy servant Moses in the day when thou didst command him to write thy law before the children of Israel, saying, [29] If ye will not hear my voice, surely this very great multitude shall be turned into a small number among the nations, where I will scatter them. [30] For I know that they will not hear me, because it is a stiffnecked people: but in the land of their captivity they shall lay it to heart, [31] and shall know that I am the Lord their God: and I will give them a heart, and ears to hear: [32] and they shall praise me in the land of their captivity, and think upon my name, [33] and shall return from their stiff neck, and from their wicked deeds: for they shall remember the way of their fathers, which sinned before the Lord. [34] And I will bring them again into the land which I sware unto their fathers, to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob, and they shall be lords of it: and I will increase them, and they shall not be diminished. [1] O Lord Almighty, thou God of Israel, the soul in anguish, the troubled spirit, crieth unto thee. [2] Hear, O Lord, and have mercy; for thou art a merciful God: yea, have mercy upon us, because we have sinned before thee. [3] For thou sittest as king for ever, and we perish evermore. I have seen the captivity of my sons and daughters, which the Everlasting hath brought upon them. [11] For with joy did I nourish them; but sent them away with weeping and mourning. [18] For he that brought these plagues upon you will deliver you from the hand of your enemies. [19] Go your way, O my children, go your way: for I am left desolate. [20] I have put off the garment of peace, and put upon me the sackcloth of my petition: I will cry unto the Everlasting as long as I live. [21] Be of good cheer, O my children, cry unto God, and he shall deliver you from the power and hand of the enemies. [22] For I have trusted in the Everlasting, that he will save you; and joy is come unto me from the Holy One, because of the mercy which shall soon come unto you [†] from the Everlasting your Saviour. [23] For I sent you out with mourning and weeping: but God will give you to me again with joy and gladness for ever. [24] For like as now they that dwell about Sion have seen your captivity: so shall they see shortly your salvation from [‡] our God, which shall come upon you with great glory, and brightness of the Everlasting. [25] My children, suffer patiently the wrath that is come upon you from God: for thine enemy hath persecuted thee; but shortly thou shalt see his destruction, and shalt tread upon their necks. [26] My delicate ones have gone rough ways; they were taken away as a flock carried off by the enemies. [27] Be of good cheer, O my children, and cry unto God: for ye shall be remembered of him that hath brought these things upon you. [28] For as it was your mind to go astray from God: so, return and seek him ten times more. [29] For he that brought these plagues upon you shall bring you everlasting joy again with your salvation. [30] Be of good cheer, O Jerusalem: for he that called thee by name will comfort thee. [31] Miserable are they that afflicted thee, and rejoiced at thy fall. [32] Miserable are the cities which thy children served: miserable is she that received thy sons. [33] For as she rejoiced at thy fall, and was glad of thy ruin: so shall she be grieved for her own desolation. [34] And I will take away her exultation in her great multitude, and her boasting shall be turned into mourning. [35] For fire shall come upon her from the Everlasting, long to endure; and she shall be inhabited of [§] devils for a great time.

[36] O Jerusalem, look about thee toward the east, and behold the joy that cometh unto thee from God. [37] Lo, thy sons come, whom thou sentest away, they come gathered together from the east to the west at the word of the Holy One, rejoicing in the glory of God.

about thee the robe of the righteousness which cometh from God; set a diadem on thine head of the glory of the Everlasting. [3] For God will shew thy brightness unto every region under heaven. [4] For thy name shall be called of God for ever The peace of righteousness, and The glory of godliness. [5] Arise, O Jerusalem, and stand upon the height, and look about thee toward the east, and behold thy children gathered from the going down of the sun unto the rising thereof at the word of the Holy One, rejoicing that God hath remembered them. [6] For they went from thee on foot, being led away of their enemies: but God bringeth them in unto thee borne on high with glory, * as on a royal throne. [7] For God hath appointed that every high mountain, and the everlasting hills, should be made low, and the valleys filled up, to make plain the ground, that Israel may go safely in the glory of God. [8] Moreover the woods and every sweet-smelling tree have overshadowed Israel by the commandment of God. [9] For God shall lead Israel with joy in the light of his glory with the mercy and righteousness that cometh from him.

THE EPISTLE OF JEREMY.

[1] A copy of an epistle, which Jeremy sent unto them which were to be led captives into Babylon by the king of the Babylonians, to certify them, as it was commanded him of God.

[2] Because of the sins which ye have committed before God, ye shall be led away captives unto Babylon by Nabuchodonosor king of the Babylonians. [3] So when ye come unto Babylon, ye shall remain there many years, and for a long season, even for seven generations: and after that I will bring you out peaceably from thence. [4] But now shall ye see in Babylon gods of silver, and of gold, and of wood, borne upon shoulders, which cause the nations to fear. [5] Beware therefore that ye in no wise become like unto the strangers, neither let fear take hold upon you because of them, when ye see the multitude before them and behind them, worshipping them. [6] But say ye in your hearts, O Lord, we must worship thee. [7] For mine angel is with you, * and I myself do care for your † souls. [8] For their tongue is polished by the workman, and they themselves are overlaid with gold and with silver; yet are they but false, and cannot speak. [9] And taking gold, as it were for a virgin that loveth to go gay, they make crowns for the heads of their gods: [10] and sometimes also the priests convey from their gods gold and silver, and bestow it upon themselves; [11] and will even give thereof to the common harlots: and they deck them as men with garments, even the gods of silver, and gods of gold, and of wood. [12] Yet cannot these gods save themselves from rust and moths, though they be covered with purple raiment. [13] They wipe their faces because of the dust of the temple, which is thick upon them. [14] And he that cannot put to death one that offendeth against him holdeth a sceptre, as though he were judge of a country. [15] He hath also a dagger in his right hand, and an axe: but cannot deliver himself from war and robbers. [16] Whereby they are known not to be gods: therefore fear them not. [17] For like as a vessel that a man useth is nothing worth when it is broken; even so it is with their gods: when they be set up in the temples their eyes be full of dust through the feet of them that come in. [18] And as the courts are made sure on every side upon him that offendeth the king, as being committed to suffer death; even so the priests make fast their temples with doors, with locks, and bars, lest they be carried off by robbers. [19] They light them candles, yea, more than for themselves, whereof they cannot see one. [20] They are as one of the beams of the temple; and men say their hearts are eaten out, when things creeping out of the earth devour both them and their raiment: they feel it not [21] when their faces are blacked through the smoke that cometh out of the temple: [22] upon their bodies and heads alight bats, swallows, and birds; and in like manner the cats also. [23] Whereby ye may know that they are no gods: therefore fear them not. [24] Notwithstanding the gold wherewith they are beset to make them beautiful, except one wipe off the rust, they will not shine: for not even when they were molten did they feel it. [25] Things wherein there is no breath are bought at any cost. [26] Having no feet, they are borne upon shoulders, whereby they declare unto men that they be nothing worth. [27] They also that serve them are ashamed: for if they fall to the ground at any time, they cannot rise up again of themselves: neither, if they be set awry, can they make themselves straight: but the offerings are set before them, as if they were dead men. [28] And the things that are sacrificed unto them, their priests sell and spend; and in like manner their wives also lay up part thereof in salt; but unto the poor and to the impotent will they give nothing thereof. [29] The menstruous woman and the woman in childbed touch their sacrifices: knowing therefore by these things that they are no gods, fear them not. [30] For how can they be called gods? because women set meat before the gods of silver, gold, and wood. [31] And in their temples the priests ‡ sit on seats, having their clothes rent, and their heads and beards shaven, and nothing upon their heads. [32] They roar and cry before their gods, as men do at the feast when one is dead. [33] The priests also take off garments from them, and clothe their wives and children withal. [34] Whether it be evil that one doeth unto them, or good, they are not able to recompense it: they can neither set up a king, nor put him down. [35] In like manner, they can neither give riches nor money: though a man make a vow unto them, and keep it not, they will never exact it. [36] They can save no man from death, neither deliver the weak from the mighty. [37] They cannot restore a blind man to his sight, nor deliver any that is in distress. [38] They can shew no mercy to the widow, nor do good to the fatherless. [39] They are like the stones that be hewn out of the mountain, these gods of wood, and that are overlaid with gold and with silver: they that minister unto them shall be confounded. [40] How should a man then think or say that they are gods, when even the Chaldeans themselves dishonour them? [41] Who if they shall see one dumb that cannot speak, they bring him, and intreat him to call upon Bel, as though he were able to understand. [42] Yet they cannot perceive this themselves, and forsake them: for they have no understanding. [43] The women also with cords about them sit in the ways, burning bran for incense: but if any of them, drawn by some that passeth by, lie with him, she reproacheth her fellow, that she was not thought as worthy as herself, nor her cord broken. [44] Whatsoever is done among them is false: how should a man then think or say that they are gods? [45] They are fashioned by carpenters and goldsmiths: they can be nothing else than the workmen will have them to be. [46] And they themselves that fashioned them can never continue long; how then should the things that are fashioned by them? [47] For they have left lies and reproaches to them that come after. [48] For when there cometh any war or plague upon them, the priests consult with themselves, where they may be hidden with them. [49] How then cannot men understand that they be no gods, which can neither save themselves from war, nor from plague? [50] For seeing they be but of wood, and overlaid with gold and with silver, it shall be known hereafter that they are false: [51] and it shall be manifest to all nations and kings that they are no gods, but the works of men's hands, and that there is no work of God in them. [52] Who then may not know that they are no gods? [53] For neither can they set up a king in a land, nor give rain unto men. [54] Neither can they judge their own cause, nor § redress a wrong, being unable: for they are as crows between heaven and earth. [55] For even when fire falleth upon the house of gods of wood, or overlaid with gold or with silver, their priests will flee away, and escape, but they themselves shall be burnt asunder like beams. [56] Moreover they cannot withstand any king or enemies: how should a man then allow or think that they be gods? [57] Neither are those gods of wood, and overlaid with silver or with gold, able to escape either from thieves or robbers. [58] Whose gold, and silver, and garments wherewith they are clothed, they that are strong will take from them, and go away withal: neither shall they be able to help themselves. [59] Therefore it is better to be a king that sheweth his manhood, or else a vessel in a house profitable for that whereof the owner shall have need, than such false gods; or even a door in a house, to keep the things safe that be therein, than such false gods; or a pillar of wood in a palace, than such false gods. [60] For sun, and moon, and stars, being bright and sent to do their offices, are obedient. [61] Likewise also the lightning when it glittereth is fair to see; and after the same manner the wind also bloweth in every country. [62] And when God commandeth the clouds to go over the whole world, they do as they are bidden. [63] And the fire sent from above to consume mountains and woods doeth as it is commanded: but these are to be likened unto them neither in shew nor power. [64] Wherefore a man should neither think nor say that they are gods, seeing they are able neither to judge causes, nor to do good unto men. [65] Knowing therefore that they are no gods, fear them not. [66] For they can neither curse nor bless kings: [67] neither can they shew signs in the heavens among the nations, nor shine as the sun, nor give light as the moon. [68] The beasts are better than they: for they can get under a covert, and help themselves. [69] In no wise then is it manifest unto us that they are gods: therefore fear them not. [70] For as a scarecrow in a garden of cucumbers that keepeth nothing, so are their gods of wood, and overlaid with gold and with silver. [71] Likewise also their gods of wood, and overlaid with gold and with silver, are like to a white thorn in an orchard, that every bird sitteth upon; as also to a dead body, that is cast forth into the dark. [72] And ye shall know them to be no gods by the  bright purple that rotteth upon them: And they themselves afterward shall be consumed, and shall be a reproach in the country. [73] Better therefore is the just man that hath none idols: for he shall be far from reproach.

THE SONG OF THE THREE HOLY CHILDREN,

Which followeth in the third Chapter of DANIEL after this place, —fell down bound into the midst of the burning fiery furnace. — Verse 23. That which followeth is not in the Hebrew, to wit, And they walked — unto these words, Then Nebuchadnezzar — Verse 24.

[1] AND they walked in the midst of the fire, praising God, and blessing the Lord. [2] Then Azarias stood, and prayed on this manner; and opening his mouth in the midst of the fire said, [3] Blessed art thou, O Lord, thou God of our fathers, * and worthy to be praised; and thy name is glorified for evermore: [4] For thou art righteous in all the things that thou hast done: yea, true are all thy works, and thy ways are right, and all thy judgements truth. [5] In all the things that thou hast brought upon us, and upon the holy city of our fathers, even Jerusalem, thou hast executed true judgements: for according to truth and justice hast thou brought all these things upon us because of our sins. [6] For we have sinned and committed iniquity, in departing from thee. [7] In all things have we trespassed, and not obeyed thy commandments, nor kept them, neither done as thou hast commanded us, that it might go well with us. [8] Wherefore all that thou hast brought upon us, and everything that thou hast done to us, thou hast done in true judgement. [9] And thou didst deliver us into the hands of lawless enemies, and most hateful forsakers of God, and to an unjust king, and the most wicked in all the world. [10] And now we cannot open our mouth; shame and reproach have befallen thy servants, and them that worship thee. [11] Deliver us not up utterly, for thy name's sake, neither disannul thou thy covenant: [12] and cause not thy mercy to depart from us, for the sake of Abraham that is beloved of thee, and for the sake of Isaac thy servant, and Israel thy holy one; [13] to whom thou didst promise, that thou wouldest multiply their seed as the stars of heaven, and as the sand that is upon the sea shore. [14] For we, O Lord, are become less than any nation, and be kept under this day in all the world because of our sins. [15] Neither is there at this time prince, or prophet, or leader, or burnt offering, or sacrifice, or oblation, or incense, or place to offer before thee, and to find mercy. [16] Nevertheless in a contrite heart and a humble spirit let us be accepted; [17] like as in the burnt offerings of rams and bullocks, and like as in ten thousands of fat lambs; so let our sacrifice be in thy sight this day, and grant that we may wholly go after thee, for they shall not be ashamed that put their trust in thee. [18] And now we follow thee with all our heart, we fear thee, and seek thy face. [19] Put us not to shame: but deal with us after thy kindness, and according to the multitude of thy mercy. [20] Deliver us also according to thy marvellous works, and give glory to thy name, O Lord: and let all them that do thy servants hurt be confounded; [21] and let them be ashamed of all their † power and might, and let their strength be broken; [22] and let them know that thou art the Lord, the only God, and glorious over the whole world.

[23] And the king's servants, that put them in, ceased not to make the furnace hot with naphtha, pitch, tow, and small wood; [24] so that the flame streamed forth above the furnace forty and nine cubits. [25] And it spread, and burned those Chaldeans whom it found about the furnace. [26] But the angel of the Lord came down into the furnace together with Azarias and his fellows, and he smote the flame of the fire out of the furnace; [27] and made the midst of the furnace as it had been a moist whistling wind, so that the fire touched them not at all, neither hurt nor troubled them.

[28] Then the three, as out of one mouth, praised, and glorified, and blessed God in the furnace, saying, [29] Blessed art thou, O Lord, thou God of our fathers: and to be praised and exalted above all for ever. [30] And blessed is thy glorious and holy name: and to be praised and exalted above all for ever. THE HISTORY OF SUSANNA,

Set apart from the beginning of DANIEL, because it is not in the Hebrew, as neither the Narration of Bel and the Dragon.

[1] THERE dwelt a man in Babylon, and his name was Joakim: [2] and he took a wife, whose name was Susanna, the daughter of Helkias, a very fair woman, and one that feared the Lord. [3] Her parents also were righteous, and taught their daughter according to the law of Moses. [4] Now Joakim was a great rich man, and had a fair garden joining unto his house: and to him resorted the Jews; because he was more honourable than all others. [5] And the same year there were appointed two of the ancients of the people to be judges, such as the Lord spake of, that wickedness came from Babylon from ancient judges, who were accounted to govern the people. [6] These kept much at Joakim's house: and all that had any suits in law came unto them. [7] Now when the people departed away at noon, Susanna went into her husband's garden to walk. [8] And the two elders beheld her going in every day, and walking; and they were inflamed with love for her. [9] And they perverted their own mind, and turned away their eyes, that they might not look unto heaven, nor remember just judgements. [10] And albeit they both were wounded with her love, yet durst not one shew another his grief. [11] For they were ashamed to declare their lust, that they desired to have to do with her. [12] Yet they watched jealously from day to day to see her. [13] And the one said to the other, Let us now go home: for it is dinner time. [14] So when they were gone out, they parted the one from the other, and turning back again they came to the same place; and after that they had asked one another the cause, they acknowledged their lust: and then appointed they a time both together, when they might find her alone. [15] And it fell out, as they watched a fit day, she went in as aforetime with two maids only, and she was desirous to wash herself in the garden: for it was hot. [16] And there was nobody there save the two elders, that had hid themselves, and watched her. [17] Then she said to her maids, Bring me oil and washing balls, and shut the garden doors, that I may wash me. [18] And they did as she bade them, and shut the garden doors, and went out themselves at the side doors to fetch the things that she had commanded them: and they saw not the elders, because they were hid. [19] Now when the maids were gone forth, the two elders rose up, and ran unto her, saying, [20] Behold, the garden doors are shut, that no man can see us, and we are in love with thee; therefore consent unto us, and lie with us. [21] If thou wilt not, we will bear witness against thee, that a young man was with thee: and therefore thou didst send away thy maids from thee. [22] Then Susanna sighed, and said, I am straitened on every side: for if I do this thing, it is death unto me: and if I do it not, I cannot escape your hands. [23] It is better for me to fall into your hands, and not do it, than to sin in the sight of the Lord. [24] With that Susanna cried with a loud voice: and the two elders cried out against her. [25] Then ran the one, and opened the garden doors. [26] So when the servants of the house heard the cry in the garden, they rushed in at the side door, to see what had befallen her. [27] But when the elders had told their tale, the servants were greatly ashamed: for there was never such a report made of Susanna. [28] And it came to pass on the morrow, when the people assembled to her husband Joakim, the two elders came full of their wicked intent against Susanna to put her to death; [29] and said before the people, Send for Susanna, the daughter of Helkias, Joakim's wife. So they sent; [30] and she came with her father and mother, her children, and all her kindred. [31] Now Susanna was a very delicate woman, and beauteous to behold. [32] And these wicked men commanded her to be unveiled, (for she was veiled) that they might be filled with her beauty. [33] Therefore her friends and all that saw her wept. [34] Then the two elders stood up in the midst of the people, and laid their hands upon her head. [35] And she weeping looked up toward heaven: for her heart trusted in the Lord. [36] And the elders said, As we walked in the garden alone, this woman came in with two maids, and shut the garden doors, and sent the maids away. [37] Then a young man, who there was hid, came unto her, and lay with her. [38] And we, being in a corner of the garden, saw this wickedness, and ran unto them. [39] And when we saw them together, the man we could not hold: for he was stronger than we, and opened the doors, and leaped out. [40] But having taken this woman, we asked who the young man was, but she would not tell us: these things do we testify. [41] Then the assembly believed them, as those that were elders of the people and judges: so they condemned her to death. [42] Then Susanna cried out with a loud voice, and said, O everlasting God, that knowest the secrets, that knowest all things before they be: [43] thou knowest that they have borne false witness against me, and, behold, I must die; whereas I never did such things as these men have maliciously invented against me. [44] And the Lord heard her voice. [45] Therefore when she was led away to be put to death, God raised up the holy spirit of a young youth, whose name was Daniel: [46] and he cried with a loud voice, I am clear from the blood of this woman. [47] Then all the people turned them toward him, and said, What mean these words that thou hast spoken? [48] So he standing in the midst of them said, Are ye such fools, ye sons of Israel, that without examination or knowledge of the truth ye have condemned a daughter of Israel? [49] Return again to the place of judgement: for these have borne false witness against her. [50] Wherefore all the people turned again in haste, and the elders said unto him, Come, sit down among us, and shew it us, seeing God hath given thee the honour of an elder. [51] Then said Daniel unto them, Put them asunder one far from another, and I will examine them. [52] So when they were put asunder one from another, he called one of them, and said unto him, O thou that art waxen old in wickedness, now are thy sins come home to thee which thou hast committed aforetime, [53] in pronouncing unjust judgement, and condemning the innocent, and letting the guilty go free; albeit the Lord saith, The innocent and righteous shalt thou not slay. [54] Now then, if thou sawest her, tell me, Under what tree sawest thou them companying together? Who answered, Under a mastick tree. [55] And Daniel said, Right well hast thou lied against thine own head; for even now the angel of God hath received the sentence of God and shall cut thee in two. [56] So he put him aside, and commanded to bring the other, and said unto him, O thou seed of Canaan, and not of Judah, beauty hath deceived thee, and lust hath perverted thine heart. [57] Thus have ye dealt with the daughters of Israel, and they for fear companied with you: but the daughter of Judah would not abide your wickedness. [58] Now therefore tell me, Under what tree didst thou take them companying together? Who answered, Under a holm tree. [59] Then said Daniel unto him, Right well hast thou also lied against thine own head: for the angel of God waiteth with the sword to cut thee in two, that he may destroy you. [60] With that all the assembly cried out with a loud voice, and blessed God, who saveth them that hope in him. [61] And they arose against the two elders, for Daniel had convicted them of false witness out of their own mouth: [62] and according to the law of Moses they did unto them in such sort as they maliciously intended to do to their neighbour: and they put them to death, and the innocent blood was saved the same day. [63] Therefore Helkias and his wife praised God for their daughter Susanna, with Joakim her husband, and all the kindred, because there was no dishonesty found in her. [64] And from that day forth was Daniel had in great reputation in the sight of the people.

Bel and the Dragon.

[1] AND king Astyages was gathered to his fathers, and Cyrus the Persian received his kingdom. [2] And Daniel lived with the king, and was honoured above all his friends. [3] Now the Babylonians had an idol, called Bel, and there were spent upon him every day twelve great measures of fine flour, and forty sheep, and six firkins of wine. [4] And the king did honour to it, and went daily to worship it: but Daniel worshipped his own God. And the king said unto him, Why dost thou not worship Bel? [5] And he said, Because I may not do honour to idols made with hands, but to the living God, who hath created the heaven and the earth, and hath sovereignty over all flesh. [6] Then said the king unto him, Thinkest thou not that Bel is a living god? or seest thou not how much he eateth and drinketh every day? [7] Then Daniel laughed, and said, O king, be not deceived: for this is but clay within, and brass without, and did never eat or drink anything. [8] So the king was wroth, and called for his priests, and said unto them, If ye tell me not who this is that devoureth these expenses, ye shall die. [9] But if ye can shew me that Bel devoureth them, then Daniel shall die: for he hath spoken blasphemy against Bel. And Daniel said unto the king, Let it be according to thy word. [10] Now the priests of Bel were threescore and ten, beside their wives and children. And the king went with Daniel into the temple of Bel. [11] So Bel's priests said, Lo, we will get us out: but thou, O king, set on the meat, and mingle the wine and set it forth, and shut the door fast, and seal it with thine own signet; [12] and when thou comest in the morning, if thou find not that Bel hath eaten up all, we will suffer death: or else Daniel, that speaketh falsely against us. [13] And they little regarded it: for under the table they had made a privy entrance, whereby they entered in continually, and consumed those things. [14] And it came to pass, when they were gone forth, the king set the meat before Bel. Now Daniel had commanded his servants to bring ashes, and they strewed all the temple with them in the presence of the king alone: then went they out, and shut the door, and sealed it with the king's signet, and so departed. [15] Now in the night came the priests with their wives and children, as they were wont to do, and did eat and drink up all. [16] In the morning betime the king arose, and Daniel with him. [17] And the king said, Daniel, are the seals whole? And he said, Yea, O king, they be whole. [18] And as soon as he had opened the door, the king looked upon the table, and cried with a loud voice, Great art thou, O Bel, and with thee is no deceit at all. [19] Then laughed Daniel, and held the king that he should not go in, and said, Behold now the pavement, and mark well whose footsteps are these. [20] And the king said, I see the footsteps of men, women, and children. And then the king was angry, [21] and took the priests with their wives and children, who shewed him the privy doors, where they came in, and consumed such things as were upon the table. [22] Therefore the king slew them, and delivered Bel into Daniel's power, who overthrew him and his temple.

[23] And in that same place there was a great [*] dragon, which they of Babylon worshipped. [24] And the king said unto Daniel, Wilt thou also say that this is of brass? lo, he liveth, and eateth and drinketh; thou canst not say that he is no living god: therefore worship him. [25] Then said Daniel, I will worship the Lord my God: for he is a living God. [26] But give me leave, O king, and I shall slay this dragon without sword or staff. The king said, I give thee leave. [27] Then Daniel took pitch, and fat, and hair, and did seethe them together, and made lumps thereof: this he put in the dragon's mouth, so the dragon did eat and burst in sunder: and Daniel said, Lo, these are the gods ye worship. [28] When they of Babylon heard that, they took great indignation, and conspired against the king, saying, The king is become a Jew, and he hath pulled down Bel, and slain the dragon, and put the priests to the sword. [29] So they came to the king, and said, Deliver us Daniel, or else we will destroy thee and thine house. [30] Now when the king saw that they pressed him sore, being constrained, the king delivered Daniel unto them: [31] who cast him into the lion's den: where he was six days. [32] And in the den there were seven lions, and they had given them every day two carcases, and two sheep: which then were not given to them, to the intent they might devour Daniel.

[33] Now there was in Jewry the prophet [†] Habakkuk, who had made pottage, and had broken bread into a bowl, and was going into the field, for to bring it to the reapers. [34] But the angel of the Lord said unto Habakkuk, Go carry the dinner that thou hast into Babylon unto Daniel, in the lions' den. [35] And Habakkuk said, Lord, I never saw Babylon; neither do I know where the den is. [36] Then the angel of the Lord took him by the crown, and lifted him up by the hair of his head, and with the blast of his breath set him in Babylon over the den. [37] And Habakkuk cried, saying, O Daniel, Daniel, take the dinner which God hath sent thee. [38] And Daniel said, Thou hast remembered me, O God: neither hast thou forsaken them that love thee. [39] So Daniel arose, and did eat: and the angel of God set Habakkuk in his own place again immediately. [40] Upon the seventh day the king came to bewail Daniel: and when he came to the den, he looked in, and, behold, Daniel was sitting. [41] Then cried the king with a loud voice, saying, Great art thou, O Lord, thou God of Daniel, and there is none other beside thee. [42] And he drew him out, and cast those that were the cause of his destruction into the den: and they were devoured in a moment before his face.

THE FIRST BOOK OF THE MACCABEES.

[1] AND it came to pass, after that Alexander the Macedonian, the son of Philip, who came out of the land of Chittim, and smote Darius king of the Persians and Medes, it came to pass, after he had smitten him, that he reigned in his stead, in former time, over [*] Greece. [2] And he fought many battles, and won many strongholds, and slew the kings of the earth, [3] and went through to the ends of the earth, and took spoils of a multitude of nations. And the earth was quiet before him, and he was exalted, and his heart was lifted up, [4] and he gathered together an exceeding strong host, and ruled over countries and nations and principalities, and they became tributary unto him. [5] And after these things he fell sick, and perceived that he should die. [6] And he called his servants, which were honourable, which had been brought up with him from his youth, and he divided unto them his kingdom, while he was yet alive. [7] And Alexander reigned twelve years, and he died. [8] And his servants bare rule, each one in his place. [9] And they did all put diadems upon themselves after that he was dead, and so did their sons after them many years: and they multiplied evils in the earth.

[10] And there came forth out of them a sinful root, Antiochus Epiphanes, son of Antiochus the king, who had been a hostage at Rome, and he reigned in [†] the hundred and thirty and seventh year of the kingdom of the Greeks.

[11] In those days came there forth out of Israel transgressors of the law, and persuaded many, saying, let us go and make a covenant with the [‡] Gentiles that are round about us; for since we were parted from them many evils have befallen us. [12] And the saying was good in their eyes. [13] And certain of the people were forward herein and went to the king, and he gave them licence to do after the ordinances of the [§] Gentiles. [14] And [] they built a place of exercise in Jerusalem according to the laws of the [††] Gentiles; [15] and they made themselves uncircumcised, and forsook the holy covenant, and joined themselves to the [‡‡] Gentiles, and sold themselves to do evil.

[16] And the kingdom was well ordered in the sight of Antiochus, and he thought to reign over Egypt, that he might reign over the two kingdoms. [17] And he entered into Egypt with a [§§] great multitude, with chariots, and with elephants, and with horsemen, and with a great [] navy; [18] and he made war against Ptolemy king of Egypt; and Ptolemy was put to shame before him, and fled; and many fell wounded to death. [19] And they got possession of the strong cities in the land of Egypt; and he took the spoils of Egypt.

[20] And Antiochus, after that he had smitten Egypt, returned in [†††] the hundred and forty and third year, and went up against Israel and Jerusalem with a [‡‡‡] great multitude, [21] and entered presumptuously into the sanctuary, and took the golden altar, and the candlestick of the light, and all that pertained thereto, [22] and the table of the shewbread, and the cups to pour withal, and the bowls, and the golden censers, and the veil, and the crowns, and the adorning of gold which was on the face of the temple, and he scaled it all off. [23] And he took the silver and the gold and the precious vessels; and he took the hidden treasures which he found. [24] And when he had taken all, he went away into his own land, and he made a great slaughter, and spake very presumptuously. [25] And there came great mourning upon Israel, in every place where they were; [26] and the rulers and elders groaned, the virgins and young men were made feeble, and the beauty of the women was changed. [27] Every bridegroom took up lamentation, she that sat in the marriage chamber was in heaviness. [28] And the land was moved for the inhabitants thereof, and all the house of Jacob was clothed with shame.

[29] And §§§ after * two full years the king sent a chief collector of tribute unto the cities of Judah, and he came unto Jerusalem with a † great multitude. [30] And he spake words of peace unto them in subtilty, and they gave him credence: and he fell upon the city suddenly, and smote it very sore, and destroyed much people out of Israel. [31] And he took the spoils of the city, and set it on fire, and pulled down the houses thereof and the walls thereof on every side. [32] And they led captive the women and the children, and the cattle they took in possession. [33] And they builded the city of David with a great and strong wall, with strong towers, and it became unto them a citadel. [34] And they put there a sinful nation, transgressors of the law, and they strengthened themselves therein. [35] And they stored up arms and victuals, and gathering together the spoils of Jerusalem, they laid them up there, and they became a sore snare: [36] and it became a place to lie in wait in against the sanctuary, and an evil adversary to Israel continually. [37] And they shed innocent blood on every side of the sanctuary, and defiled the sanctuary. [38] And the inhabitants of Jerusalem fled because of them; and she became a habitation of strangers, and she became strange to them that were born in her, and her children forsook her. [39] Her sanctuary was laid waste like a wilderness, ‡ her feasts were turned into mourning, her sabbaths into reproach, her honour into contempt. [40] According to her glory, so was her dishonour multiplied, and her high estate was turned into mourning.

[41] And king Antiochus wrote to his whole kingdom, that all should be one people, [42] and that each should forsake his own laws. And all the nations agreed according to the word of the king; [43] and many of Israel consented to his worship, and sacrificed to the idols, and profaned the sabbath. [44] And the king sent letters by the hand of messengers unto Jerusalem and the cities of Judah, that they should follow laws strange to the land, [45] and should forbid whole burnt offerings and sacrifice and drink offerings in the sanctuary; and should profane the sabbaths and feasts, [46] and pollute the sanctuary and them that were holy; [47] that they should build altars, and temples, and shrines for idols, and should sacrifice swine's flesh and unclean beasts: [48] and that they should leave their sons uncircumcised, that they should make their souls abominable with all manner of uncleanness and profanation; [49] so that they might forget the law, and change all the ordinances. [50] And whosoever shall not do according to the word of the king, he shall die. [51] According to all these words wrote he to his whole kingdom; and he appointed overseers over all the people, and he commanded the cities of Judah to sacrifice, city by city. [52] And from the people were gathered together unto them many, every one that had forsaken the law; and they did evil things in the land; [53] and they made Israel to hide themselves in every place of refuge which they had.

[54] And on the fifteenth day of Chislev, in § the hundred and forty and fifth year, they builded an abomination of desolation upon the  altar, and in the cities of Judah on every side they builded idol †† altars. [55] And at the doors of the houses and in the streets they burnt incense. [56] And they rent in pieces the books of the law which they found, and set them on fire. [57] And wheresoever was found with any a book of the covenant, and if any consented to the law, the king's sentence delivered him to death. [58] Thus did they in their might unto Israel, to those that were found month by month in the cities. [59] And on the five and twentieth day of the month they sacrificed upon the idol ‡‡ altar of God. [60] And §§ the women that had circumcised their children they put to death according to the commandment. [61] And they hanged their babes about their necks, and destroyed their houses, and them that had circumcised them. [62] And many in Israel were fully resolved and confirmed in themselves not to eat unclean things. [63] And  they chose to die, that they might not be defiled with the meats, and that they might not profane the holy covenant: and they died. [64] And there came exceeding great wrath uponn Israel.

[1] In those days rose up Mattathias the son of John, the son of Simeon, a priest of the sons of Joarib, from Jerusalem; and he dwelt at Modin. [2] And he had five sons, * John, who was surnamed Gaddis; [3] Simon, who was called Thassi; [4] Judas, who was called Maccabaeus; [5] Eleazar, who was called Avaran; Jonathan, who was called Apphus.

[6] And he saw the blasphemies that were committed in Judah and in Jerusalem, [7] and he said,

Woe is me! wherefore was I born to see the destruction of my people, and the destruction of the holy city, and to dwell there, when it was given into the hand of the enemy, the sanctuary into the hand of aliens? [8] Her temple is become as a man † that was glorious: [9] her vessels of glory are carried away into captivity, her infants are slain in her streets, her young men with the sword of the enemy. [10] What nation hath not inherited her palaces, and gotten possession of her spoils? [11] her adorning is all taken away; instead of a free woman she is become a bond woman: [12] and, behold, our holy things and our beauty and our glory are laid waste, and the Gentiles have profaned them. [13] Wherefore should we live any longer?

[14] And Mattathias and his sons rent their clothes, and put on sackcloth, and mourned exceedingly.

[15] And the king's officers, that were enforcing the apostasy, came into the city Modin to sacrifice. [16] And many of Israel came unto them, and Mattathias and his sons were gathered together. [17] And the king's officers answered and spake to Mattathias, saying, Thou art a ruler and an honourable and great man in this city, and strengthened with sons and brethren: [18] now therefore come thou first and do the commandment of the king, as all the nations have done, and the men of Judah, and they that remain in Jerusalem: and thou and thy house shall be in the number of the king's [‡] Friends, and thou and thy sons shall be honoured with silver and gold and many gifts. [19] And Mattathias answered and said with a loud voice, If all the nations that are in the house of the king's dominion hearken unto him, to fall away each one from the worship of his fathers, and have made choice to follow his commandments, [20] yet will I and my sons and my brethren walk in the covenant of our fathers. [21] [§] Heaven forbid that we should forsake the law and the ordinances. [22] We will not hearken to the king's words, to go aside from our worship, on the right hand, or on the left. [23] And when he had left speaking these words, there came a Jew in the sight of all to sacrifice on the altar which was at Modin, according to the king's commandment. [24] And Mattathias saw it, and his zeal was kindled, and his reins trembled, and he shewed forth his wrath according to judgement, and ran, and slew him upon the altar. [25] And the king's officer, who compelled men to sacrifice, he killed at that time, and pulled down the altar. [26] And he was zealous for the law, even as Phinehas did unto Zimri the son of Salu. [27] And Mattathias cried out in the city with a loud voice, saying, Whosoever is zealous for the law, and maintaineth the covenant, let him come forth after me. [28] And he and his sons fled into the mountains, and forsook all that they had in the city.

[29] Then many that sought after justice and judgement went down into the wilderness, to dwell there, [30] they, and their sons, and their wives, and their cattle; because evils were multiplied upon them. [31] And it was told the king's officers, and the forces that were in Jerusalem, the city of David, that certain men, who had broken the king's commandment, were gone down into the secret places in the wilderness; [32] and many pursued after them, and having overtaken them, they encamped against them, and set the battle in array against them on the sabbath day. [33] And they said unto them, Thus far. Come forth, and do according to the word of the king, and ye shall live. [34] And they said, We will not come forth, neither will we do the word of the king, to profane the sabbath day. [35] And they hasted to give them battle. [36] And they answered them not, neither cast they a stone at them, nor stopped up the secret places, [37] saying, Let us die all in our innocency: heaven and earth witness over us, that ye put us to death without trial. [38] And they rose up against them in battle on the sabbath, and they died, they and their wives and their children, and their cattle, to the number of a thousand [] souls.

[39] And Mattathias and his friends knew it, and they mourned over them exceedingly. [40] And one said to another, If we all do as our brethren have done, and fight not against the Gentiles for our lives and our ordinances, they will now quickly destroy us from off the earth. [41] And they took counsel on that day, saying, whosoever shall come against us to battle on the sabbath day, let us fight against him, and we shall in no wise all die, as our brethren died in the secret places. [42] Then were gathered together unto them a company of [††] Hasidaeans, mighty men of Israel, every one that offered himself willingly for the law. [43] And all they that fled from the evils were added to them, and became a stay unto them. [44] And they mustered a host, and smote sinners in their anger, and lawless men in their wrath: and the rest fled to the Gentiles for safety. [45] And Mattathias and his friends went round about, and pulled down the altars; [46] and they circumcised by force the children that were uncircumcised, as many as they found in the coasts of Israel. [47] And they pursued after the sons of pride, and the work prospered in their hand. [48] And they rescued the law out of the hand of the Gentiles, and out of the hand of the kings, neither ‡‡ suffered they the sinner to triumph.

[49] And the days of Mattathias drew near that he should die, and he said unto his sons,

Now have pride and rebuke gotten strength, and a season of overthrow, and wrath of indignation. [50] And now, my children, be ye zealous for the law, and give your lives for the covenant of your fathers. [51] And call to remembrance the deeds of our fathers which they did in their generations; and receive great glory and an everlasting name. [52] Was not Abraham found faithful in temptation, and it was reckoned unto him for righteousness? [53] Joseph in the time of his distress kept the commandment, and became lord of Egypt. [54] Phinehas our father, for that he was zealous exceedingly, obtained the covenant of an everlasting priesthood. [55] Joshua for fulfilling the word became a judge in Israel. [56] Caleb for bearing witness in the congregation obtained a heritage in the land. [57] David for being merciful inherited the throne of a kingdom for ever and ever. [58] Elijah, for that he was exceeding zealous for the law, was taken up into heaven. [59] Hananiah, Azariah, Mishael, believed, and were saved out of the flame. [60] Daniel for his innocency was delivered from the mouth of lions. [61] And thus consider ye from generation to generation, that none that put their trust in him shall want for strength. [62] And be not afraid of the words of a sinful man; for his glory shall be dung and worms. [63] To-day he shall be lifted up, and to-morrow he shall in no wise be found, because he is returned unto his dust, and his thought is perished. [64] And ye, my children, be strong, and shew yourselves men in behalf of the law; for therein shall ye obtain glory. [65] And, behold, Simon your brother, I know that he is a man of counsel; give ear unto him alway: he shall be a father unto you. [66] And Judas Maccabaeus, he hath been strong and mighty from his youth: he shall be your captain, and §§ shall fight the battle of the people. [67] And take ye unto you all the doers of the law, and avenge the wrong of your people. [68] Render a recompense to the Gentiles, and take heed to the commandments of the law. [69] And he blessed them, and was gathered to his fathers. [70] And he died in  the hundred and forty and sixth year, and his sons buried him in the sepulchres of his fathers at Modin, and all Israel made great lamentation for him.

[1] And his son Judas, who was called Maccabaeus, rose up in his stead. [2] And all his brethren helped him, and so did all they that clave unto his father, and they fought with gladness the battle of Israel. [3] And he gat his people great glory, and put on a breastplate as a giant, and girt his warlike harness about him, and set battles in array, protecting the army with his sword. [4] And he was like a lion in his deeds, and as a lion's whelp roaring for prey. [5] And he pursued the lawless, seeking them out, and he burnt up those that troubled his people. [6] And the lawless shrunk for fear of him, and all the workers of lawlessness were sore troubled, and salvation prospered in his hand. [7] And he angered many kings, and made Jacob glad with his acts, and his memorial is blessed for ever. [8] And he went about among the cities of Judah, and destroyed the ungodly [*] out of the land, and turned away wrath from Israel: [9] and he was renowned unto the utmost part of the earth, and he gathered together such as were ready to perish.

[10] And Apollonius gathered the Gentiles together, and a great host from Samaria, to fight against Israel. [11] And Judas perceived it, and he went forth to meet him, and smote him, and slew him: and many fell wounded to death, and the rest fled. [12] And they took their spoils, and Judas took the sword of Apollonius, and therewith he fought all his days.

[13] And Seron, the commander of the host of Syria, heard say that Judas had gathered a gathering and a congregation of faithful men with him, and of such as went out to war; [14] And he said, I will make myself a name and get me glory in the kingdom; and I will fight against Judas and them that are with him, that set at nought the word of the king. [15] And there went up with him also a mighty army of the ungodly to help him, to take vengeance on the children of Israel.

[16] And he came near unto the going up of Bethhoron, and Judas went forth to meet him with a small company. [17] But when they saw the army coming to meet them, they said unto Judas, What? shall we be able, being a small company, to fight against so great and strong a multitude? and we for our part are faint, having tasted no food this day. [18] And Judas said, It is an easy thing for many to be shut up in the hands of a few; and with [†] heaven it is all one, to save by many or by few: [19] for victory in battle standeth not in the multitude of a host; but strength is from heaven. [20] They come unto us in fulness of insolence and lawlessness, to destroy us and our wives and our children, for to spoil us: [21] but we fight for our lives and our laws. [22] And he himself will discomfit them before our face: but as for you, be ye not afraid of them.

[23] Now when he had left off speaking, he leapt suddenly upon them, and Seron and his army were discomfited before him. [24] And they pursued them in the going down of Bethhoron unto the plain, and there fell of them about eight hundred men; but the residue fled into the land of the Philistines.

[25] And the fear of Judas and his brethren, and the dread of them, began to fall upon the nations round about them: [26] and his name came near even unto the king, and every nation told of the battles of Judas.

[27] But when king Antiochus heard these words, he was full of indignation: and he sent and gathered together all the forces of his realm, an exceeding strong army. [28] And he opened his treasury, and gave his forces pay for a year, and commanded them to be ready for every need. [29] And he saw that the money failed from his treasures, and that the tributes of the country were small, because of the dissension and plague which he had brought upon the land, to the end that he might take away the laws which had been from the first days; [30] and he feared that he should not have enough as at other times for the charges and the gifts which he gave aforetime with a liberal hand, and he abounded above the kings that were before him. [31] And he was exceedingly perplexed in his mind, and he determined to go into Persia, and to take the tributes of the countries, and to gather much money. [32] And he left Lysias, an honourable man, and one of the seed royal, to be over the affairs of the king from the river Euphrates unto the borders of Egypt, [33] and to bring up his son Antiochus, until he came again. [34] And he delivered unto him the half of his forces, and the elephants, and gave him charge of all the things that he would have done, and concerning them that dwelt in Judaea and in Jerusalem, [35] that he should send a host against them, to root out and destroy the strength of Israel, and the remnant of Jerusalem, and to take away their memorial from the place; [36] And that he should make strangers to dwell on all their coasts, and should divide their land to them by lot. [37] And the king took the half that remained of the forces, and removed from Antioch, from his royal city, ‡ the hundred and forty and seventh year; and he passed over the river Euphrates, and went through the upper countries.

[38] And Lysias chose Ptolemy the son of Dorymenes, and Nicanor, and Gorgias, mighty men of the king's § Friends; [39] and with them he sent forty thousand footmen, and seven thousand horse, to go into the land of Judah, and to destroy it, according to the word of the king. [40] And they removed with all their host, and came and pitched near unto Emmaus in the plain country. [41] And the merchants of the country heard the fame of them, and took silver and gold exceeding much, with  fetters, and came into the camp to take the children of Israel for servants: and there were added unto them the forces of Syria and of the land of the †† Philistines.

[42] And Judas and his brethren saw that evils were multiplied, and that the forces were encamping in their borders; and they took knowledge of the king's words which he had commanded, to destroy the people and make an end of them; [43] and they said each man to his neighbour, Let us raise up the ruin of our people, and let us fight for our people and the holy place. [44] And the congregation was gathered together, that they might be ready for battle, and that they might pray, and ask for mercy and compassion. [45] And Jerusalem was without inhabitant as a wilderness, there was none of her offspring that went in or went out; and the sanctuary was trodden down, and the sons of strangers were in the citadel, the Gentiles lodged therein; and joy was taken away from Jacob, and the pipe and the harp ceased. [46] And they gathered themselves together, and came to Mizpeh, over against Jerusalem; for in Mizpeh was there a place of prayer aforetime for Israel. [47] And they fasted that day, and put on sackcloth, and put ashes upon their heads, and rent their clothes, [48] and laid open the book of the law, concerning which the Gentiles were wont to inquire, seeking the likenesses of their idols. [49] And they brought the priests' garments, and the firstfruits, and the tithes: and they stirred up the Nazarites, who had accomplished their days. [50] And they cried aloud toward heaven, saying, What shall we do with these men, and whither shall we carry them away? [51] And thy holy place is trodden down and profaned, and thy priests are in heaviness and brought low. [52] And, behold, the Gentiles are assembled together against us to destroy us: thou knowest what things they imagine against us. [53] How shall we be able to stand before them, except thou be our help? [54] And they sounded with the trumpets, and cried with a loud voice.

[55] And after this Judas appointed leaders of the people, captains of thousands, and captains of hundreds, and captains of fifties, and captains of tens. [56] And he said to them that were building houses, and were betrothing wives, and were planting vineyards, and were fearful, that they should return, each man to his own house, according to the law. [57] And the army removed, and encamped upon the south side of Emmaus. [58] And Judas said, Gird yourselves, and be valiant men, and be in readiness against the morning, that ye may fight with these Gentiles, that are assembled together against us to destroy us, and our holy place: [59] for it is better for us to die in battle, than to look upon the evils of our nation and the holy place. [60] Nevertheless, as may be the will in heaven, so shall he do.

[1] And Gorgias took five thousand footmen, and a thousand chosen horse, and the army removed by night, [2] that it might fall upon the army of the Jews and smite them suddenly: and the men of the citadel were his guides. [3] And Judas heard thereof, and removed, he and the valiant men, that he might smite the king's host which was at Emmaus, [4] while as yet the forces were dispersed from the camp. [5] And Gorgias came into the camp of Judas by night, and found no man; and he sought them in the mountains; for he said, These men flee from us. [6] And as soon as it was day, Judas appeared in the plain with three thousand men: howbeit they had not armour nor swords to their minds. [7] And they saw the camp of the Gentiles strong and fortified, and horsemen compassing it round about; and these were expert in war. [8] And Judas said to the men that were with him, Fear ye not their multitude, neither be ye afraid of their onset. [9] Remember how our fathers were saved in the Red sea, when Pharaoh pursued them with a host. [10] And now let us cry unto heaven, if he will have us, and will remember the covenant of our fathers, and destroy this army before our face today: [11] and all the Gentiles shall know that there is one who redeemeth and saveth Israel. [12] And the strangers lifted up their eyes, and saw them coming over against them: [13] and they went out of the camp to battle. And they that were with Judas sounded their trumpets, [14] and joined battle, and the Gentiles were discomfited, and fled into the plain. [15] But all the hindmost fell by the sword: and they pursued them unto [*] Gazara, and unto the plains of Idumaea and Azotus and Jamnia, and there fell of them about three thousand men. [16] And Judas and his host returned from pursuing after them, [17] and he said unto the people, Be not greedy of the spoils, inasmuch as there is a battle before us; [18] and Gorgias and his host are nigh unto us in the mountain. But stand ye now against our enemies, and fight against them, and afterwards take the spoils with boldness. [19] While Judas was yet making an end of these words, there appeared a part of them looking out from the mountain: [20] and they saw that their host had been put to flight, and that the Jews were burning the camp; for the smoke that was seen declared what was done. [21] But when they perceived these things, they were sore afraid; and perceiving also the army of Judas in the plain ready for battle, [22] they fled all of them into the land of the [†] Philistines. [23] And Judas returned to spoil the camp, and they got much gold, and silver, and blue, and sea purple, and great riches. [24] And they returned home, and sang a song of thanksgiving, and gave praise [‡] unto heaven; because his mercy is good, because his mercy endureth for ever. [25] And Israel had a great deliverance that day.

[26] But the strangers, as many as had escaped, came and told Lysias all the things that had happened: [27] but when he heard thereof, he was confounded and discouraged, because neither had such things as he would been done unto Israel, nor had such things as the king commanded him come to pass.

[28] And in the next year he gathered together threescore thousand chosen footmen, and five thousand horse, that he might subdue them. [29] And they came into Idumaea, and encamped at Bethsura; and Judas met them with ten thousand men. [30] And he saw that the army was strong, and he prayed and said,

Blessed art thou, O Saviour of Israel, who didst quell the onset of the mighty man by the hand of thy servant David, and didst deliver the army of the § Philistines into the hands of Jonathan the son of Saul, and of his armourbearer: [31] shut up this army in the hand of thy people Israel, and let them be ashamed for their host and their horsemen: [32] give them faintness of heart, and cause the boldness of their strength to melt away, and let them quake at their destruction: [33] cast them down with the sword of them that love thee, and let all that know thy name praise thee with thanksgiving.

[34] And they joined battle; and there fell of the army of Lysias about five thousand men, and they fell down over against them. [35] But when Lysias saw that his array was put to flight, and the boldness that had come upon them that were with Judas, and how they were ready either to live or to die nobly, he removed to Antioch, and gathered together hired soldiers, that he might come again into Judaea with even a greater company.

[36] But Judas and his brethren said, Behold, our enemies are discomfited: let us go up to cleanse the holy place, and to dedicate it afresh. [37] And all the army was gathered together, and they went up unto mount Sion. [38] And they saw the sanctuary laid desolate, and the altar profaned, and the gates burned up, and shrubs growing in the courts as in a forest or as on one of the mountains, and the priests' chambers pulled down; [39] and they rent their clothes, and made great lamentation, and put ashes upon their heads, [40] and fell on their faces to the ground, and  blew with the †† solemn trumpets, and cried toward heaven. [41] Then Judas appointed certain men to fight against those that were in the citadel, until he should have cleansed the holy place.

[42] And he chose blameless priests, such as had pleasure in the law: [43] and they cleansed the holy place, and bare out the stones of defilement into an unclean place. [44] And they took counsel concerning the altar of burnt offerings, which had been profaned, what they should do with it: [45] and there came into their mind a good counsel, that they should pull it down, lest it should be a reproach to them, because the Gentiles had defiled it: and they pulled down the altar, [46] and laid up the stones in the mountain of the house in a convenient place, until there should come a prophet to give an answer concerning them. [47] And they took whole stones according to the law, and built a new altar after the fashion of the former; [48] and they built the holy place, and the inner parts of the house; and they hallowed the courts. [49] And they made the holy vessels new, and they brought the candlestick, and the altar of burnt offerings and of incense, and the table, into the temple. [50] And they burned incense upon the altar, and they lighted the lamps that were upon the candlestick, and they gave light in the temple. [51] And they set loaves upon the table, and spread out the veils, and finished all the works which they made.

[52] And they rose up early in the morning, on the five and twentieth day of the ninth month, which is the month Chislev, in ‡‡ the hundred and forty and eighth year, [53] and offered sacrifice according to the law upon the new altar of burnt offerings which they had made. [54] At what time and on what day the Gentiles had profaned it, even on that day was it dedicated afresh, with songs and harps and lutes, and with cymbals. [55] And all the people fell upon their faces, and worshipped, and §§ gave praise unto heaven, which had given them good success. [56] And they kept the dedication of the altar eight days, and offered burnt offerings with gladness, and sacrificed a sacrifice of deliverance and praise. [57] And they decked the forefront of the temple with crowns of gold and small shields, and dedicated afresh the gates and the priests' chambers, and made doors for them. [58] And there was exceeding great gladness among the people, and the reproach of the Gentiles was turned away. [59] And Judas and his brethren and the whole congregation of Israel ordained, that the days of the dedication of the altar should be kept in their seasons from year to year by the space of eight days, from the five and twentieth day of the month Chislev, with gladness and joy. [60] And at that season they builded up the mount Sion with high walls and strong towers round about, lest haply the Gentiles should come and tread them down, as they had done aforetime. [61] And he set there a force to keep it, and they fortified Bethsura to keep it; that the people might have a stronghold over against Idumaea.

[1] And it came to pass, when the Gentiles round about heard that the altar was built, and the sanctuary dedicated as aforetime, they were exceeding wroth. [2] And they took counsel to destroy the race of Jacob that was in the midst of them, and they began to slay and destroy among the people. [3] And Judas fought against the children of Esau in Idumaea at Akrabattine, because they besieged Israel: and he smote them with a great slaughter, and brought down their pride, and took their spoils. [4] And he remembered the wickedness of the children of * Baean, who were unto the people a snare and a stumblingblock, lying in wait for them in the ways. [5] And they were shut up by him in the towers; and he encamped against them, and destroyed them utterly, and burned with fire the towers of the place, with all that were therein. [6] And he passed over to the children of Ammon, and found a mighty band, and much people, with Timotheus for their leader. [7] And he fought many battles with them, and they were discomfited before his face; and he smote them, [8] and gat possession of Jazer, and the † villages thereof, and returned again into Judaea.

[9] And the Gentiles that were in Gilead gathered themselves together against the Israelites that were on their borders, to destroy them. And they fled to the stronghold of Dathema, [10] and sent letters unto Judas and his brethren, saying, The Gentiles that are round about us are gathered together against us to destroy us: [11] and they are preparing to come and get possession of the stronghold whereunto we are fled for refuge, and Timotheus is the leader of their host. [12] Now therefore come and deliver us from their hand, for many of us are fallen. [13] And all our brethren that were in the land of ‡ Tubias have been put to death; and they have carried into captivity their wives and their children and their stuff; and they destroyed there about a thousand men. [14] While the letters were yet reading, behold, there came other messengers from Galilee with their clothes rent, bringing a report after this wise, [15] saying, That there were gathered together against them those of Ptolemais, and of Tyre, and of Sidon, and all Galilee of the [§] Gentiles to consume them. [16] Now when Judas and the people heard these words, there assembled together a great congregation, to consult what they should do for their brethren, that were in tribulation, and were assaulted of them. [17] And Judas said unto Simon his brother, Choose thee out men, and go and deliver thy brethren that are in Galilee, but I and Jonathan my brother will go into the land of Gilead. [18] And he left Joseph the son of Zacharias, and Azarias, as leaders of the people, with the remnant of the host, in Judaea, for to keep it. [19] And he gave commandment unto them, saying, Take ye the charge of this people, and fight no battle with the Gentiles until that we come again. [20] And unto Simon were divided three thousand men to go into Galilee, but unto Judas eight thousand men to go into the land of Gilead.

[21] And Simon went into Galilee, and fought many battles with the Gentiles, and the Gentiles were discomfited before him. [22] And he pursued them unto the gate of Ptolemais; and there fell of the Gentiles about three thousand men, and he took their spoils. [23] And they took to them those that were in Galilee, and in Arbatta, with their wives and their children, and all that they had, and brought them into Judaea with great gladness. [24] And Judas Maccabaeus and his brother Jonathan passed over Jordan, and went three days' journey in the wilderness; [25] and they met with the Nabathaeans, and these met them in a peaceable manner, and told them all things that had befallen their brethren in the land of Gilead: [26] and how that many of them were shut up in Bosora, and Bosor, and Alema, [] Casphor, Maked, and [††] Carnaim; all these cities are strong and great: [27] and how that they were shut up in the rest of the cities of the land of Gilead, and that tomorrow they have appointed to encamp against the strongholds, and to take them, and to destroy all these men in one day. [28] And Judas and his army turned suddenly by the way of the wilderness unto Bosora; and he took the city, and slew all the males with the edge of the sword, and took all their spoils, and burned the city with fire. [29] And he removed from thence by night, and went till he came to the stronghold. [30] And the morning came, and they lifted up their eyes, and, behold, much people which could not be numbered, bearing ladders and engines of war, to take the stronghold; and they were fighting against them. [31] And Judas saw that the battle was begun, and that the cry of the city went up to heaven, with trumpets and a great sound, [32] and he said unto the men of his host, Fight this day for your brethren. [33] And he went forth behind them in three companies, and they sounded with their trumpets, and cried out in prayer. [34] And the army of Timotheus perceived that it was Maccabaeus, and they fled from before him: and he smote them with a great slaughter; and there fell of them on that day about eight thousand men. [35] And he turned aside to Mizpeh and fought against it, and took it, and slew all the males thereof, and took the spoils thereof, and burned it with fire. [36] From thence he removed, and took [‡‡] Casphor, Maked, Bosor, and the other cities of the land of Gilead.

[37] Now after these things Timotheus gathered another army, and encamped over against Raphon beyond the brook. [38] And Judas sent men to espy the army; and they brought him word, saying, All the Gentiles that be round about us are gathered together unto them, an exceeding great host.

[39] And they have hired Arabians to help them, and are encamping beyond the brook, ready to come against thee to battle. And Judas went to meet them. [40] And Timotheus said unto the captains of his host, when Judas and his army drew nigh unto the brook of water, If he pass over first unto us, we shall not be able to withstand him; for he will mightily prevail against us: [41] but if he be afraid, and encamp beyond the river, we will cross over unto him, and prevail against him. [42] Now when Judas came nigh unto the brook of water, he caused the scribes of the people to remain by the brook, and gave commandment unto them, saying, Suffer no man to encamp, but let all come to the battle. [43] And he crossed over the first against them, and all the people after him: and all the Gentiles were discomfited before his face, and cast away their arms, and fled unto the temple at §§ Carnaim. [44] And they took the city, and burned the temple with fire, together with all that were therein. And Carnaim was subdued, neither could they stand any longer before the face of Judas.

[45] And Judas gathered together all Israel, them that were in the land of Gilead, from the least unto the greatest, and their wives, and their children, and their stuff, an exceeding great army, that they might come into the land of Judah. [46] And they came as far as Ephron, and this same city was great, and it was in the way as they should go, exceeding strong: they could not turn aside from it on the right hand or on the left, but must needs pass through the midst of it. [47] And they of the city shut them out, and stopped up the gates with stones. [48] And Judas sent unto them with words of peace, saying, We will pass through thy land to go into our own land, and none shall do you any hurt, we will only pass by on our feet. And they would not open unto him. [49] And Judas commanded proclamation to be made in the army, that each man should encamp in the place where he was. [50] And the men of the host encamped, and fought against the city all that day and all that night, and the city was delivered into his hands; [51] and he destroyed all the males with the edge of the sword, and rased the city, and took the spoils thereof, and passed through the city over them that were slain. [52] And they went over Jordan into the great plain over against Bethshan. [53] And Judas gathered together those that lagged behind, and encouraged the people all the way through, until he came into the land of Judah. [54] And they went up to mount Sion with gladness and joy, and offered whole burnt offerings, because not so much as one of them was slain until they returned in peace.

[55] And in the days when Judas and Jonathan were in the land of Gilead, and Simon his brother in Galilee before Ptolemais, [56] Joseph the son of Zacharias, and Azarias, rulers of the host, heard of their exploits and of the war, what things they had done; [57] and they said, Let us also get us a name, and let us go fight against the Gentiles that are round about us. [58] And they gave charge unto the men of the host that was with them, and went toward Jamnia. [59] And Gorgias and his men came out of the city to meet them in battle. [60] And Joseph and Azarias were put to flight, and were pursued unto the borders of Judaea; and there fell on that day of the people of Israel about two thousand men. [61] And there was a great overthrow among the people, because they hearkened not unto Judas and his brethren, thinking to do some exploit. [62] But they were not of the seed of those men, by whose hand deliverance was given unto Israel.

[63] And the man Judas and his brethren were glorified exceedingly in the sight of all Israel, and of all the Gentiles, wheresoever their name was heard of; [64] and men gathered together unto them, acclaiming them.

[65] And Judas and his brethren went forth, and fought against the children of Esau in the land toward the south; and he smote Hebron and the [] villages thereof, and pulled down the strongholds thereof, and burned the towers thereof round about. [66] And he removed to go into the land of the [†††] Philistines, and he went through [‡‡‡] Samaria. [67] In that day certain priests, desiring to do exploits there, were slain in battle, when as [§§§] he went out to battle unadvisedly. [1] And king Antiochus was journeying through the upper countries; and he heard say, that in Elymais in Persia there was a city renowned for riches, for silver and gold; [2] and that the temple which was in it was rich exceedingly, and that therein were golden shields, and breastplates, and arms, which Alexander, son of Philip, the Macedonian king, who reigned first among the Greeks, left behind there. [3] And he came and sought to take the city, and to pillage it; and he was not able, because the thing was known to them of the city, [4] and they rose up against him to battle: and he fled, and removed thence with great heaviness, to return unto Babylon.

[5] And there came one bringing him tidings into Persia, that the armies, which went against the land of Judah, had been put to flight; [6] and that Lysias went first with a strong host, and was put to shame before them; and that they had waxed strong by reason of arms and power, and with store of spoils, which they took from the armies that they had cut off; [7] and that they had pulled down the abomination which he had built upon the altar that was in Jerusalem; and that they had compassed about the sanctuary with high walls, as before, and Bethsura, his city. [8] And it came to pass, when the king heard these words, he was astonished and moved exceedingly: and he laid him down upon his bed, and fell sick for grief, because it had not befallen him as he looked for. [9] And he was there many days, because great grief was renewed upon him, and he made account that he should die. [10] And he called for all his [*] Friends, and said unto them, Sleep departeth from mine eyes, and my heart faileth for care. [11] And I said in my heart, Unto what tribulation am I come, and how great a flood is it, wherein I now am! for I was gracious and beloved in my power. [12] But now I remember the evils which I did at Jerusalem, and that I took all the vessels of silver and gold that were therein, and sent forth to destroy the inhabitants of Judah without a cause. [13] I percieve that on this account these evils are come upon me, and, behold, I perish through great grief in a strange land. [14] And he called for Philip, one of his [†] Friends, and set him over all his kingdom, [15] and gave him his diadem, and his robe, and his signet ring, to the end he should bring Antiochus his son, and nourish him up that he might be king. in ‡ the hundred and forty and ninth year. [17] And Lysias knew that the king was dead, and he set up Antiochus his son to reign, whom he had nourished up being young, and he called his name Eupator.

[18] And they that were in the citadel shut up Israel round about the sanctuary, and sought always their hurt, and the strengthening of the Gentiles. [19] And Judas thought to destroy them, and called all the people together to besiege them. [20] And they were gathered together, and besieged them in § the hundred and fiftieth year, and he made mounds to shoot from, and engines of war. [21] And there came forth some of them that were shut up, and there were joined unto them certain ungodly men of Israel. [22] And they went unto the king, and said, How long wilt thou not execute judgement, and avenge our brethren? [23] We were willing to serve thy father, and to walk after his words, and to follow his commandments; [24] and for this cause the children of our people besieged  the citadel, and were alienated from us; but as many of us as they could light on they slew, and spoiled our inheritances. [25] And not against us only did they stretch out their hand, but also against all their borders. [26] And, behold, they are encamped this day against the citadel at Jerusalem, to take it: and the sanctuary and Bethsura have they fortified. [27] And if ye are not beforehand with them quickly, they will do greater things than these, and thou shalt not be able to control them.

[28] And when the king heard this, he was angry, and gathered together all his †† Friends, even the rulers of his host, and them that were over the horse. [29] And there came unto him from other kingdoms, and from isles of the sea, bands of hired soldiers. [30] And the number of his forces was a hundred thousand footmen, and twenty thousand horsemen, and two and thirty elephants trained for war. [31] And they went through Idumaea, and encamped against Bethsura, and fought against it many days, and made engines of war; and they of Bethsura came out, and burned them with fire, and fought valiantly. [32] And Judas removed from the citadel, and encamped at Bethzacharias, over against the king's camp. [33] And the king rose early in the morning, and removed his army ‡‡ at full speed along the road to Bethzacharias, and his forces made them ready to battle, and sounded with the trumpets. [34] And they shewed the elephants the blood of grapes and mulberries, that they might prepare them for the battle. [35] And they divided the beasts among the phalanxes, and they set by each elephant a thousand men armed with coats of mail, and helmets of brass on their heads; and for each beast were appointed five hundred chosen horsemen. [36] These were ready beforehand, wheresoever the beast was; and whithersoever the beast went, they went with him; they departed not from him. [37] And towers of wood were upon them, strong and covered, one upon each beast, girt fast upon him with cunning contrivances; and upon each beast were two and thirty valiant men that fought upon them, beside his Indian [38] (and the residue of the horsemen he set on this side and that side at the two parts of the army), striking terror into the enemy, and protected by the phalanxes. [39] Now when the sun shone upon the shields of gold and brass, the mountains shone therewith, and blazed like torches of fire. [40] And a part of the king's army was spread upon the high mountains, and some on the low ground, and they went on firmly and in order. [41] And all that heard the noise of their multitude, and the marching of the multitude, and the rattling of the arms, did quake: for the army was exceeding great and strong. [42] And Judas and his army drew near for battle, and there fell of the king's army six hundred men. [43] And Eleazar, who was called Avaran, saw one of the beasts armed with royal breastplates, and he was higher than all the beasts, and the king seemed to be upon him; [44] and he gave himself to deliver his people, and to get him an everlasting name; [45] and he ran upon him courageously into the midst of the phalanx, and slew on the right hand and on the left, and they parted asunder from him on this side and on that. [46] And he crept under the elephant, and thrust him from beneath, and slew him; and the elephant fell to the earth upon him, and he died there. [47] And they saw the strength of the kingdom, and the fierce onset of the hosts, and turned away from them.

[48] But they of the king's army went up to Jerusalem to meet them, and the king encamped toward Judaea, and toward mount Sion. [49] And he made peace with them of Bethsura; and he came out of the city, because they had no food there to endure the siege, because it was a sabbath to the land. [50] And the king took Bethsura, and appointed a garrison there to keep it. [51] And he encamped against the sanctuary many days; and set there mounds to shoot from, and engines of war, and instruments for casting fire and stones, and pieces to cast darts, and slings. [52] And they also made engines against their engines, and fought for many days. [53] But there were no victuals in the sanctuary, because it was the seventh year, and they that fled for safety into Judaea from among the Gentiles had eaten up the residue of the store; [54] and there were but a few left in the sanctuary, because the famine prevailed against them, and they were scattered, each man to his own place.

[55] And Lysias heard say, that Philip, whom Antiochus the king, whiles he was yet alive, appointed to nourish up his son Antiochus, that he might be king, [56] was returned from Persia and Media, and with him the forces that went with the king, and that he was seeking to take unto him the government. [57] And he made haste, and gave consent to depart; and he said to the king and the leaders of the host and to the men, We decay daily, and our food is scant, and the place where we encamp is strong, and the affairs of the kingdom lie upon us: [58] now therefore let us give the right hand to these men, and make peace with them and with all their nation, [59] and covenant with them, that they shall walk after their own laws, as aforetime: for because of their laws which we abolished they were angered, and did all these things. [60] And the saying pleased the king and the princes, and he sent unto them to make peace; and they accepted thereof. [61] And the king and the princes sware unto them: thereupon they came forth from the stronghold. [62] And the king entered into mount Sion; and he saw the strength of the place, and set at nought the oath which he had sworn, and gave commandment to pull down the wall round about. [63] And he removed in haste, and returned unto Antioch, and found Philip master of the city; and he fought against him, and took the city by force.

[1] In [*] the hundred and one and fiftieth year Demetrius the son of Seleucus came forth from Rome, and went up with a few men unto a city by the sea, and reigned there. [2] And it came to pass, when he would go into the house of the kingdom of his fathers, that the army laid hands on Antiochus and Lysias, to bring them unto him. [3] And the thing was known to him, and he said, shew me not their faces. [4] And the army slew them. And Demetrius sat upon the throne of his kingdom. [5] And there came unto him all the lawless and ungodly men of Israel; and Alcimus was their leader, desiring to be high priest; [6] and they accused the people to the king, saying, Judas and his brethren have destroyed all thy friends, and have scattered us from our own land. [7] Now therefore send a man whom thou trustest, and let him go and see all the havock which he hath made of us, and of the king's country, and how he hath punished them and all that helped them. [8] And the king chose Bacchides, one of the king's † Friends, who was ruler in the country beyond the river, and was a great man in the kingdom, and faithful to the king. [9] And he sent him, and that ungodly Alcimus, and made sure to him the high priesthood, and he commanded him to take vengeance upon the children of Israel.

[10] And they removed, and came with a great host into the land of Judah, and he sent messengers to Judas and his brethren with words of peace deceitfully. [11] And they gave no heed to their words; for they saw that they were come with a great host. [12] And there were gathered together unto Alcimus and Bacchides a company of scribes, to seek for justice. [13] And the ‡ Hasidaeans were the first among the children of Israel that sought peace of them; [14] for they said, One that is a priest of the seed of Aaron is come with the forces, and he will do us no wrong. [15] And he spake with them words of peace, and sware unto them, saying, We will seek the hurt neither of you nor your friends. [16] And they gave him credence: and he laid hands on threescore men of them, and slew them in one day, according to the word which the psalmist wrote,

And their blood did they shed round about Jerusalem;
And there was no man to bury them.

[18] And the fear and the dread of them fell upon all the people, for they said, There is neither truth nor judgement in them; for they have broken the covenant and the oath which they sware. [19] And Bacchides removed from Jerusalem, and encamped in Bezeth; and he sent and took away many of the deserters that were with him, and certain of the people, and he slew them, and cast them into the great pit. [20] And he made sure the country to Alcimus, and left with him a force to aid him; and Bacchides went away unto the king.

[21] And Alcimus strove for his high priesthood. [22] And there were gathered unto him all they that troubled their people, and they got the mastery of the land of Judah, and did great hurt in Israel. [23] And Judas saw all the mischief that Alcimus and his company had done among the children of Israel, even above the Gentiles, [24] and he went out into all the coasts of Judaea round about, and took vengeance on the men that had deserted from him, and they were restrained from going forth into the country. [25] But when Alcimus saw that Judas and his company waxed strong, and knew that he was not able to withstand them, he returned to the king, and brought evil accusations against them.

[26]  And the king sent Nicanor, one of his honourable princes, a man that hated Israel and was their enemy, and commanded him to destroy the people. [27] And Nicanor came to Jerusalem with a great host; and he sent unto Judas and his brethren deceitfully with words of peace, saying, [28] Let there be no battle between me and you; I will come with a few men, that I may see your faces in peace. [29] And he came to Judas, and they saluted one another peaceably. And the enemies were ready to take away Judas by violence. [30] And the thing was known to Judas, to wit, that he came unto him with deceit, and he was sore afraid of him, and would see his face no more. [31] And Nicanor knew that his counsel was discovered; and he went out to meet Judas in battle beside Capharsalama; [32] and there fell of Nicanor's side about [††] five hundred men, and they fled into the city of David.

[33] And after these things Nicanor went up to mount Sion: and there came some of the priests out of the sanctuary, and some of the elders of the people, to salute him peaceably, and to shew him the whole burnt sacrifice that was being offered for the king. [34] And he mocked them, and laughed at them, and [‡‡] entreated them shamefully, and spake haughtily, [35] and sware in a rage, saying, Unless Judas and his army be now delivered into my hands, it shall be that, if I come again in peace, I will burn up this house: and he went out in a great rage. [36] And the priests entered in, and stood before the altar and the temple; and they wept, and said, [37] Thou didst choose this house to be called by thy name, to be a house of prayer and supplication for thy people: [38] take vengeance on this man and his army, and let them fall by the sword: remember their blasphemies, and suffer them not to live any longer.

[39] And Nicanor went forth from Jerusalem, and encamped in Bethhoron, and there met him the host of Syria. [40] And Judas encamped in Adasa with three thousand men: and Judas prayed and said, [41] When they that came from the king blasphemed, thine angel went out, and smote among them a hundred and fourscore and five thousand. [42] Even so discomfit thou this army before us to-day, and let all the rest know that he hath spoken wickedly against thy sanctuary, and judge thou him according to his wickedness. [43] And on the thirteenth day of the month Adar the armies joined battle: and Nicanor's army was discomfited, and he himself was the first to fall in the battle. [44] Now when his army saw that Nicanor was fallen, they cast away their arms, and fled. [45] And they pursued after them a day's journey from Adasa until thou comest to [§§] Gazara, and they sounded an alarm after them with the [] solemn trumpets. [46] And they came forth out of all the villages of Judaea round about, and [†††] closed them in; and these turned them back on those, and they all fell by the sword, and there was not one of them left. [47] And they took the spoils, and the booty, and they smote off Nicanor's head, and his right hand, which he stretched out so haughtily, and brought them, and [‡‡‡] hanged them up beside Jerusalem. [48] And the people were exceeding glad, and they kept that day as a day of great gladness. [49] And [§§§] they ordained to keep this day year by year, to wit, the thirteenth day of Adar. [50] And the land of Judah had rest [*] a little while.

[1] And Judas heard of the fame of the Romans, that they are valiant men, and have pleasure in all that join themselves unto them, and make amity with all such as come unto them, [2] and that they are valiant men. And they told him of their wars and exploits which they do among the Gauls, and how that they conquered them, and brought them under tribute; [3] and what things they did in the land of Spain, that they might become masters of the mines of silver and gold which were there; [4] and how that by their policy and persistence they conquered all the place (and the place was exceeding far from them), and the kings that came against them from the uttermost part of the earth, until they had discomfited them, and smitten them very sore; and how the rest give them tribute year by year: [5] and Philip, and Perseus, king of Chittim, and them that lifted up themselves against them, did they discomfit in battle, and conquered them: [6] Antiochus also, the great king of Asia, who came against them to battle, having a hundred and twenty elephants, with horse, and chariots, and an exceeding great host, and he was discomfited by them, [7] and they took him alive, and appointed that both he and such as reigned after him should give them a great tribute, and should give hostages, and a parcel of land, to wit, [8] the country of India, and Media, and Lydia, and of the goodliest of their countries; and they took them from him, and gave them to king Eumenes: [9] and how they of Greece took counsel to come and destroy them; [10] and the thing was known to them, and they sent against them a captain, and fought against them, and many of them fell down wounded to death, and they made captive their wives and their children, and spoiled them, and conquered their land, and pulled down their strongholds, and spoiled them, and brought them into bondage unto this day: [11] and the residue of the kingdoms and of the isles, as many as rose up against them at any time, they destroyed and made them to be their servants; [12] but with their friends and such as relied upon them they kept amity; and they conquered the kingdoms that were nigh and those that were far off, and all that heard of their fame were afraid of them: [13] moreover, whomsoever they will to succour and to make kings, these do they make kings; and whomsoever they will, do they depose; and they are exalted exceedingly: [14] and for all this none of them did ever put on a diadem, neither did they clothe themselves with purple, to be magnified thereby: [15] and how they had made for themselves a senate house, and day by day three hundred and twenty men sat in council, consulting alway for the people, to the end they might be well ordered: [16] and how they commit their government to one man year by year, that he should rule over them, and be lord over all their country, and all are obedient to that one, and there is neither envy nor emulation among them.

[17] And Judas chose Eupolemus the son of John, the son of Accos, and Jason the son of Eleazar, and sent them to Rome, to make a league of amity and confederacy with them, [18] and that they should take the yoke from them; for they saw that the kingdom of the Greeks did keep Israel in bondage. [19] And they went to Rome (and the way was exceeding long), and they entered into the senate house, and answered and said, [20] Judas, who is also called Maccabaeus, and his brethren, and the people of the Jews, have sent us unto you, to make a confederacy and peace with you, and that we might be registered your confederates and friends.

[21] And the thing was well-pleasing in their sight. [22] And this is the copy of the writing which they wrote back again on tables of brass, and sent to Jerusalem, that it might be with them there for a memorial of peace and confederacy:

[23] Good success be to the Romans, and to the nation of the Jews, by sea and by land for ever: the sword also and the enemy be far from them. [24] But if war arise for Rome first, or any of their confederates in all their dominion,

[25] the nation of the Jews shall help them as confederates, as the occasion shall prescribe to them, with all their heart: [26] and unto them that make war upon them they shall not give, neither supply, food, arms, money, or ships, as it hath seemed good unto Rome, and they shall keep their ordinances without taking anything therefore. [27] In the same manner, moreover, if war come first upon the nation of the Jews, the Romans shall help them as confederates with all their soul, as the occasion shall prescribe to them: [28] and to them that are confederates with their foes there shall not be given food, arms, money, or ships, as it hath seemed good unto Rome; and they shall keep these ordinances, and that without deceit. [29] According to these words have the Romans made a covenant thus with the people of the Jews. [30] But if hereafter the one party and the other shall take counsel to add or diminish anything, they shall do it at their pleasure, and whatsoever they shall add or take away shall be established. [31] And as touching the evils which king Demetrius doeth unto them, we have written to him, saying, Wherefore hast thou made thy yoke heavy upon our friends and confederates the Jews? [32] If therefore they plead any more against thee, we will do them justice, and fight with thee by sea and by land.

[1] And Demetrius heard that Nicanor was fallen with his forces in battle, and he sent Bacchides and Alcimus again into the land of Judah a second time, and the right wing of his army with them: [2] and they went by the way that leadeth to Gilgal, and encamped against Mesaloth, which is in Arbela, and gat possession of it, and destroyed much people. [3] And the first month of * the hundred and fifty and second year they encamped against Jerusalem: [4] and they removed, and went to Berea, with twenty thousand footmen and two thousand horse. [5] And Judas was encamped at Elasa, and three thousand chosen men with him: [6] and they saw the multitude of the forces, that they were many, and they feared exceedingly: and many slipped away out of the army; there were not left of them more than eight hundred men. [7] And Judas saw that his army slipped away, and that the battle pressed upon him, and he was sore troubled in heart, for that he had no time to gather them together, and he waxed faint. [8] And he said to them that were left, Let us arise and go up against our adversaries, if peradventure we may be able to fight with them. [9] And they would have dissuaded him, saying, We shall in no wise be able: but let us rather save our lives now: let us return again, we and our brethren, and fight against them: but we are few. [10] And Judas said, let it not be so that I should do this thing, to flee from them: and if our time is come, let us die manfully for our brethren's sake, and not leave a cause of reproach against our glory. [11] And the host removed from the camp, and stood to encounter them, and the horse was parted into two companies, and the slingers and the archers went before the host, and all the mighty men that fought in the front of the battle. [12] But Bacchides was in the right wing; and the phalanx drew near on the two parts, and they blew with their trumpets. [13] And the men of Judas' side, even they sounded with their trumpets, and the earth shook with the shout of the armies, and the battle was joined, and continued from morning until evening. [14] And Judas saw that Bacchides and the strength of his army were on the right side, and there went with him all that were brave in heart, [15] and the right wing was discomfited by them, and he pursued after them unto the mount Azotus. [16] And they that were on the left wing saw that the right wing was discomfited, and they turned and followed upon the footsteps of Judas and of those that were with him: [17] and the battle waxed sore, and many on both parts fell wounded to death. [18] And Judas fell, and the rest fled. [19] And Jonathan and Simon took Judas their brother, and buried him in the sepulchre of his fathers at Modin. [20] And they bewailed him, and all Israel made great lamentation for him, and mourned many days, and said, [21] How is the mighty fallen, the saviour of Israel! [22] And the rest of the acts of Judas, and his wars, and the valiant deeds which he did, and his greatness, they are not written; for they were exceeding many.

[23] And it came to pass after the death of Judas, that the lawless put forth their heads in all the coasts of Israel, and all they that wrought iniquity rose up [24] (in those days there was an exceeding great famine), and the country went over with them. [25] And Bacchides chose out the ungodly men, and made them lords of the country. [26] And they sought out and searched for the friends of Judas, and brought them unto Bacchides, and he took vengeance on them, and used them despitefully. [27] And there was great tribulation in Israel, such as was not since the time that no prophet appeared unto them. [28] And all the friends of Judas were gathered together, and they said unto Jonathan, [29] Since thy brother Judas hath died, we have no man like him to go forth against our enemies and Bacchides, and among them of our nation that hate us. [30] Now therefore we have chosen thee this day to be our prince and leader in his stead, that thou mayest fight our battles. [31] And Jonathan took the governance upon him at that time, and rose up in the stead of his brother Judas.

[32] And Bacchides knew it, and he sought to slay him. [33] And Jonathan, and Simon his brother, and all that were with him, knew it; and they fled into the wilderness of Tekoah, and encamped by the water of the pool Asphar. [34] And Bacchides knew it on the sabbath day, and came, he and all his army, over Jordan. [35] And Jonathan sent his brother, a leader of the multitude, and besought his friends the Nabathaeans, that they might leave with them their baggage, which was much. [36] And the children of Jambri came out of Medaba, and took John, and all that he had, and went their way with it.

[37] But after these things they brought word to Jonathan and Simon his brother, that the children of Jambri were making a great marriage, and were bringing the bride from Nadabath with a great train, a daughter of one of the great nobles of Canaan. [38] And they remembered John their brother, and went up, and hid themselves under the covert of the mountain: [39] and they lifted up their eyes, and saw, and, behold, a great ado and much baggage: and the bridegroom came forth, and his friends and his brethren, to meet them with timbrels, and minstrels, and many weapons. [40] And they rose up against them from their ambush, and slew them, and many fell wounded to death, and the remnant fled into the mountain, and they took all their spoils. [41] And the marriage was turned into mourning, and the voice of their minstrels into lamentation. [42] And they avenged fully the blood of their brother, and turned back to the marsh of Jordan

[43] And Bacchides heard it, and he came on the sabbath day unto the banks of Jordan with a great host. [44] And Jonathan said to his company, Let us stand up now and fight for our lives, for it is not with us to-day, as yesterday and the day before. [45] For, behold, the battle is before us and behind us; moreover the water of the Jordan is on this side and on that side, and marsh and wood; and there is no place to turn aside. [46] Now therefore cry unto heaven, that ye may be delivered out of the hand of your enemies. [47] And the battle was joined, and Jonathan stretched forth his hand to smite Bacchides, and he turned away back from him. [48] And Jonathan and they that were with him leapt into the Jordan, and swam over to the other side: and they did not pass over Jordan against them. [49] And there fell of Bacchides' company that day about a thousand men; [50] and he returned to Jerusalem. And they builded strong cities in Judaea, the stronghold that was in Jericho, and Emmaus, and Bethhoron, and Bethel, and Timnath, Pharathon, and Tephon, with high walls and gates and bars. [51] And in them he set a garrison, to vex Israel. [52] And he fortified the city Bethsura, and Gazara, and the citadel, and put forces in them, and store of victuals. [53] And he took the sons of the chief men of the country for hostages, and put them in ward in the citadel at Jerusalem.

[54] And in † the hundred and fifty and third year, in the second month, Alcimus commanded to pull down the wall of the inner court of the sanctuary; he pulled down also the works of the prophets; [55] and he began to pull down. At that time was Alcimus stricken, and his works were hindered; and his mouth was stopped, and he was taken with a palsy, and he could no more speak anything and give order concerning his house. [56] And Alcimus died at that time with great torment. [57] And Bacchides saw that Alcimus was dead, and he returned to the king: and the land of Judah had rest two years.

[58] And all the lawless men took counsel, saying, Behold, Jonathan and they of his part are dwelling at ease, and in security: now therefore we will bring Bacchides, and he shall lay hands on them all in one night. [59] And they went and consulted with him. [60] And he removed, and came with a great host, and sent letters privily to all his confederates that were in Judaea, that they should lay hands on Jonathan and those that were with him: and they could not, because their counsel was known unto them. [61] And they that were of Jonathan's part laid hands on about fifty of the men of the country, that were authors of the wickedness, and he slew them. [62] And Jonathan, and Simon, and they that were with him, gat them away to Bethbasi, which is in the wilderness, and he built up that which had been pulled down thereof, and they made it strong. [63] And Bacchides knew it, and he gathered together all his multitude, and sent word to them that were of Judaea. [64] And he went and encamped against Bethbasi, and fought against it many days, and made engines of war. [65] And Jonathan left his brother Simon in the city, and went forth into the country, and he went with a few men. [66] And he smote Odomera and his brethren, and the children of Phasiron in their tent. [67] And they began to smite them, and to go up with their forces. And Simon and they that were with him went out of the city, and set on fire the engines of war, [68] and fought against Bacchides, and he was discomfited by them, and they afflicted him sore; for his counsel was in vain, and his inroad. [69] And they were very wroth with the lawless men that gave him counsel to come into the country, and they slew many of them. And he took counsel to depart into his own land. [70] And Jonathan had knowledge thereof, and sent ambassadors unto him, to the end that they should make peace with him, and that he should restore unto them the captives. [71] And he accepted the thing, and did according to his words, and sware unto him that he would not seek his hurt all the days of his life. [72] And he restored unto him the captives which he had taken aforetime out of the land of Judah, and he returned and departed into his own land, and came not any more into their borders. [73] And the sword ceased from Israel. And Jonathan dwelt at Michmash; and Jonathan began to judge the people; and he destroyed the ungodly out of Israel.

[1] And in [*] the hundred and sixtieth year Alexander Epiphanes, the son of Antiochus, went up and took possession of Ptolemais: and they received him, and he reigned there. [2] And king Demetrius heard thereof, and he gathered together exceeding great forces, and went forth to meet him in battle.

[3] And Demetrius sent letters unto Jonathan with words of peace, so as to magnify him. [4] For he said, let us be beforehand to make peace with them, ere he make peace with Alexander against us: [5] for he will remember all the evils that we have done against him, and unto his brethren and unto his nation. [6] And he gave him authority to gather together forces, and to provide arms, and that he should be his confederate: and he commanded that they should deliver up to him the hostages that were in the citadel.

[7] And Jonathan came to Jerusalem, and read the letters in the audience of all the people, and of them that were in the citadel: [8] and they were sore afraid, when they heard that the king had given him authority to gather together a host. [9] And they of the citadel delivered up the hostages unto Jonathan, and he restored them unto their parents. [10] And Jonathan dwelt in Jerusalem, and began to build and renew the city. [11] And he commanded them that did the work to build the walls and the mount Sion round about with [†] square stones for defence; and they did so. [12] And the strangers, that were in the strongholds which Bacchides had built, fled away; [13] and each man left his place, and departed into his own land. [14] Only at Bethsura were there left certain of those that had forsaken the law and the commandments; for it was a place of refuge unto them.

[15] And king Alexander heard all the promises which Demetrius had sent unto Jonathan: and they told him of the battles and the valiant deeds which he and his brethren had done, and of the toils which they had endured; [16] And he said, Shall we find such another man? and now we will make him our [‡] Friend and confederate. [17] And he wrote letters, and sent them unto him, according to these words, saying, [18] King Alexander to his brother Jonathan, greeting: [19] We have heard of thee, that thou art a mighty man of valour, and meet to be our [§] Friend. [20] And now we have appointed thee this day to be high priest of thy nation, and to be called the king’s [] Friend (and he sent unto him a purple robe and a crown of gold), and to take our part, and to keep friendship with us.

[21] And Jonathan put on the holy garments in the seventh month of [††] the hundred and sixtieth year, at the feast of tabernacles, and he gathered together forces, and provided arms in abundance.

[22] And Demetrius heard these things, and he was grieved, and said, [23] What is this that we have done, that Alexander hath been beforehand with us in establishing friendship with the Jews, to strengthen himself? [24] I also will write unto them words of encouragement and of honour and of gifts, that they may be with me to aid me. [25] And he sent unto them according to these words:

King Demetrius unto the nation of the Jews, greeting: [26] Forasmuch as ye have kept your covenants with us, and continued in our friendship, and have not joined yourselves to our enemies, we have heard hereof, and are glad. [27] And now continue ye still to keep faith with us, and we will recompense unto you good things in return for your dealings with us, [28] and will grant you many immunities, and give you gifts. [29] And now do I free you, and release all the Jews, from the tributes, and from the customs of salt, and from the crowns. [30] And instead of the third part of the seed, and instead of the half of the fruit of the trees, which falleth to me to receive, I release it from this day and henceforth, so that I will not take it from the land of Judah, and from the three governments which are added thereunto from the country of Samaria and Galilee, from this day forth and for all time. [31] And let Jerusalem be holy and free, and her borders; the tenths and the tolls also. [32] I yield up also my authority over the citadel which is at Jerusalem, and give it to the high priest, that he may appoint in it such men as he shall choose to keep it. [33] And every soul of the Jews, that hath been carried captive from the land of Judah into any part of my kingdom, I set at liberty without price; and let all remit the tributes of their cattle also. [34] And all the feasts, and the sabbaths, and new moons, and appointed days, and three days before a feast, and three days after a feast, let them all be days of immunity and release for all the Jews that are in my kingdom. [35] And no man shall have authority to exact from any of them, or to trouble them concerning any matter. [36] And let there be enrolled among the king's forces about thirty thousand men of the Jews, and pay shall be given unto them, as belongeth to all the king's forces. [37] And of them some shall be placed in the king's great strongholds, and some of them shall be placed over the affairs of the kingdom, which are of trust: and let those that are over them, and their rulers, be of themselves, and let them walk after their own laws, even as the king hath commanded in the land of Judah. [38] And the three governments that have been added to Judaea from the country of Samaria, let them be added to Judaea, that they may be reckoned to be under one, that they may not obey other authority than the high priest's. [39] As for Ptolemais, and the land pertaining thereto, I have given it as a gift to the sanctuary that is at Jerusalem, for the expenses that befit the sanctuary. [40] And I give every year fifteen thousand shekels of silver from the king's revenues from the places that are convenient. [41] And all the overplus, which they that manage the king's affairs paid not in as in the first years, they shall give from henceforth toward the works of the house. [42] And beside this, the five thousand shekels of silver, which they received from the uses of the sanctuary from the revenue year by year, this also is released, because it appertaineth to the priests that minister. [43] And whosoever shall flee unto the temple that is at Jerusalem, and be found within all the borders thereof, whether one owe moneys to the king, or any other matter, let them go free, and all that they have in my kingdom. [44] And for the building and renewing of the works of the sanctuary the expense shall be given also out of the king's revenue. [45] And for the building of the walls of Jerusalem, and the fortifying thereof round about, shall the expense be given also out of the king's revenue, and for the building of the walls in Judaea.

[46] Now when Jonathan and the people heard these words, they gave no credence unto them, nor received them, because they remembered the great evil which he had done in Israel, and that he had afflicted them very sore. [47] And they were well pleased with Alexander, because he was the first that spake words of peace unto them, and they were confederate with him always. [48] And king Alexander gathered together great forces, and encamped over against Demetrius. [49] And the two kings joined battle, and the army of Alexander fled; and Demetrius followed after him, and prevailed against them. [50] And he strengthened the battle exceedingly until the sun went down: and Demetrius fell that day.

[51] And Alexander sent ambassadors to Ptolemy king of Egypt according to these words, saying, [52] Forasmuch as I am returned to my kingdom, and am set on the throne of my fathers, and have gotten the dominion, and have overthrown Demetrius, and have gotten possession of our country; [53] yea, I joined the battle with him, and he and his army were discomfited by us, and we sat upon the throne of his kingdom: [54] now also let us establish amity one with the other, and give me now thy daughter to wife: and I will make affinity with thee, and will give both thee and her gifts worthy of thee. [55] And Ptolemy the king answered, saying, Happy is the day wherein thou didst return into the land of thy fathers, and didst sit on the throne of their kingdom. [56] And now will I do to thee, as thou hast written: but meet me at Ptolemais, that we may see one another; and I will make affinity with thee, even as thou hast said. [57] And Ptolemy went out of Egypt, himself and Cleopatra his daughter, and came unto Ptolemais in [‡‡] the hundred and threescore and second year: [58] and king Alexander met him, and he bestowed on him his daughter Cleopatra, and celebrated her marriage at Ptolemais with great pomp, as the manner of kings is.

[59] And king Alexander wrote unto Jonathan, that he should come to meet him. [60] And he went with pomp to Ptolemais, and met the two kings, and gave them and their [§§] Friends silver and gold, and many gifts, and found favour in their sight. [61] And there were gathered together against him certain pestilent fellows out of Israel, men that were transgressors of the law, to complain against him: and the king gave no heed to them. [62] And the king commanded, and they took off Jonathan's garments, and clothed him in purple: and thus they did. [63] And the king made him sit with him, and said unto his princes, Go forth with him into the midst of the city, and make proclamation, that no man complain against him of any matter, and let no man trouble him for any manner of cause. [64] And it came to pass, when they that complained against him saw his glory according as the herald made proclamation, and saw him clothed in purple, they all fled away. [65] And the king gave him honour, and wrote him among his [] Chief Friends, and made him a captain, and governor of a province. [66] And Jonathan returned to Jerusalem with peace and gladness.

[67] And in [†††] the hundred and threescore and fifth year came Demetrius, son of Demetrius, out of Crete into the land of his fathers: [68] and king Alexander heard thereof, and he grieved exceedingly, and returned unto Antioch. [69] And Demetrius appointed Apollonius, who was over Coelesyria, and he gathered together a great host, and encamped in Jamnia, and sent unto Jonathan the high priest, saying,

[70] Thou alone liftest up thyself against us, but I am had in derision and in reproach because of thee. And why dost thou vaunt thy power against us in the mountains? [71] Now therefore, if thou trustest in thy forces, come down to us into the plain, and there let us try the matter together; for with me is the power of the cities. [72] Ask and learn who I am, and the rest that help us; and they say, Your foot cannot stand before our face; for thy fathers have been twice put to flight in their own land. [73] And now thou shalt not be able to abide the horse and such a host as this in the plain, where is neither stone nor flint, nor place to flee unto.

[74] Now when Jonathan heard the words of Apollonius, he was moved in his mind, and he chose out ten thousand men, and went forth from Jerusalem, and Simon his brother met him for to help him. [75] And he encamped against Joppa: and they of the city shut him out, because Apollonius had a garrison in Joppa: [76] and they fought against it. And they of the city were afraid, and opened unto him: and Jonathan became master of Joppa. [77] And Apollonius heard, and he gathered an army of three thousand horse, and a great host, and went to Azotus as though he were on a journey, and therewithal drew onward into the plain, because he had a multitude of horse, and trusted therein. [78] And he pursued after him to Azotus, and the armies joined battle‡‡‡. [79] And Apollonius had left a thousand horse behind them privily. [80] And Jonathan knew that there was an ambushment behind him. And they compassed round his army, and cast their darts at the people, from morning until evening: [81] but the people stood still, as Jonathan commanded them: and their horses were wearied. [82] And Simon drew forth his host, and joined battle with the phalanx (for the horsemen were spent), and they were discomfited by him, and fled. [83] And the horsemen were scattered in the plain, and they fled to Azotus, and entered into Beth-dagon, their idol's temple, to save themselves. [84] And Jonathan burned Azotus, and the cities round about it, and took their spoils; and the temple of Dagon, and them that fled into it, he burned with fire. [85] And they that had fallen by the sword, with them that were burned, were about eight thousand men. [86] And from thence Jonathan removed, and encamped against Ascalon, and they of the city came forth to meet him with great pomp. [87] And Jonathan, with them that were on his side, returned unto Jerusalem, having many spoils. [88] And it came to pass, when king Alexander heard these things, he honoured Jonathan yet more; [89] and he sent unto him a buckle of gold, as the use is to give to such as are of the kindred of the kings: and he gave him Ekron and all the coasts thereof for a possession.

[1] And the king of Egypt gathered together great forces, as the sand which is by the sea shore, and many ships, and sought to make himself master of Alexander's kingdom by deceit, and to add it to his own kingdom. [2] And he went forth into Syria with words of peace, and they of the cities opened unto him, and met him; For king Alexander's commandment was that they should meet him, because he was his father in law. [3] Now as he entered into the cities of Ptolemais, he set his forces for a garrison in each city. [4] But when he came near to Azotus, they shewed him the temple of Dagon burned with fire, and Azotus and the suburbs thereof pulled down, and the bodies cast abroad, and them that had been burned, whom he burned in the war, for they had made heaps of them in his way. [5] And they told the king what things Jonathan had done, that they might cast blame on him: and the king held his peace. [6] And Jonathan met the king with pomp at Joppa, and they saluted one another, and they slept there. [7] And Jonathan went with the king as far as the river that is called Eleutherus, and returned to Jerusalem. [8] But king Ptolemy became master of the cities upon the sea coast, unto Selucia which is by the sea, and he devised evil devices concerning Alexander. [9] And he sent ambassadors unto king Demetrius, saying, Come, let us make a covenant with one another, and I will give thee my daughter whom Alexander hath, and thou shalt reign over thy father's kingdom; [10] for I have repented that I gave my daughter unto him, for he sought to slay me. [11] And he cast blame on him, because he coveted his kingdom. [12] And taking his daughter from him, he gave her to Demetrius, and was estranged from Alexander, and their enmity was openly seen. [13] And Ptolemy entered into Antioch, and put on himself the diadem of Asia; and he put two diadems upon his head, the diadem of Egypt and that of Asia. [14] But king Alexander was in Cilicia at that season, because they of those parts were in revolt. [15] And Alexander heard of it, and he came against him in war: and Ptolemy led forth his host, and met him with a strong force, and put him to flight. [16] And Alexander fled into Arabia, that he might be sheltered there; but king Ptolemy was exalted. [17] And Zabdiel the Arabian took off Alexander's head, and sent it to Ptolemy. [18] And king Ptolemy died the third day after, and they that were in his strongholds were slain by them that were in the strongholds. [19] And Demetrius reigned in * the hundred and threescore and seventh year.

[20] In those days Jonathan gathered together them of Judaea, to take the citadel that was at Jerusalem: and he made many engines of war against it. [21] And certain that hated their own nation, men that transgressed the law, went unto the king, and reported to him that Jonathan was besieging the citadel. [22] And he heard, and was angered; but when he heard it, he set forth immediately, and came to Ptolemais, and wrote unto Jonathan, that he should not besiege it, and that he should meet him and speak with him at Ptolemais with all speed. [23] But when Jonathan heard this, he commanded to besiege it still: and he chose certain of the elders of Israel and of the priests, and put himself in peril, [24] and taking silver and gold and raiment and divers presents besides, went to Ptolemais unto the king. And he found favour in his sight. [25] And certain lawless men of them that were of the nation made complaints against him, [26] and the king did unto him even as his predecessors had done unto him, and exalted him in the sight of all his † Friends, [27] and confirmed to him the high priesthood, and all the other honours that he had before, and gave him preeminence among his ‡ Chief Friends. [28] And Jonathan requested of the king, that he would make Judaea free from tribute, and the three § provinces, and the country of Samaria; and promised him three hundred talents. [29] And the king consented, and wrote letters unto Jonathan concerning all these things after this manner:

[30] King Demetrius unto his brother Jonathan, and unto the nation of the Jews, greeting: [31] The copy of the letter which we wrote unto Lasthenes our kinsman concerning you, we have written also unto you, that ye may see it. [32] King Demetrius unto Lasthenes his father, greeting: [33] We have determined to do good to the nation of the Jews, who are our friends, and observe what is just toward us, because of their good will toward us. [34] We have confirmed therefore unto them the borders of Judaea, and also the three governments of Aphaerema and Lydda and Ramathaim (these were added unto Judaea from the country of Samaria), and all things appertaining unto them, for all such as do sacrifice in Jerusalem, instead of the king's dues which the king received of them yearly aforetime from the produce of the earth and the fruits of trees. [35] And as for the other things that pertain unto us from henceforth, of the tenths and the tolls that pertain unto us, and the saltpits, and the crowns that pertain unto us, all these we will bestow upon them. [36] And not one of these things shall be annulled from this time forth and for ever. [37] Now therefore be careful to make a copy of these things, and let it be given unto Jonathan, and let it be set up on the holy mount in a meet and conspicuous place.

[38] And king Demetrius saw that the land was quiet before him, and that no resistance was made to him, and he sent away all his forces, each man to his own place, except the foreign forces, which he had raised from the isles of the Gentiles: and all the forces of his fathers hated him. [39] Now Tryphon was of those who aforetime had been of Alexander's part, and he saw that all the forces murmured against Demetrius, and he went to Imalcue the Arabian, who was nourishing up Antiochus the young child of Alexander, [40] and pressed sore upon him that he should deliver him unto him, that he might reign in his father's stead: and he told him all that Demetrius had done, and the hatred wherewith his forces hated him; and he abode there many days.

[41] And Jonathan sent unto king Demetrius, that he should cast out of Jerusalem them of the citadel, and them that were in the strongholds; for they fought against Israel continually. [42] And Demetrius sent unto Jonathan, saying, I will not only do this for thee and thy nation, but I will greatly honour thee and thy nation, if I find fair occasion. [43] Now therefore thou shalt do well, if thou send me men who shall fight for me; for all my forces are revolted. [44] And Jonathan sent him three thousand valiant men unto Antioch: and they came to the king, and the king was glad at their coming. [45] And they of the city gathered themselves together into the midst of the city, to the number of a hundred and twenty thousand men, and they were minded to slay the king. [46] And the king fled into the court of the palace, and they of the city seized the passages of the city, and began to fight. [47] And the king called the Jews to help him, and they were gathered together unto him all at once, and they dispersed themselves in the city, and slew that day to the number of a hundred thousand. [48] And they set the city on fire, and gat many spoils that day, and saved the king. [49] And they of the city saw that the Jews had made themselves masters of the city as they would, and they waxed faint in their hearts, and they cried out to the king with supplication, saying, [50] Give us thy right hand, and let the Jews cease from fighting against us and the city. [51] And they cast away their arms, and made peace; and the Jews were glorified in the sight of the king, and before all that were in his kingdom; and they returned to Jerusalem, having many spoils. [52] And king Demetrius sat on the throne of his kingdom, and the land was quiet before him. [53] And he lied in all that he spake, and estranged himself from Jonathan, and recompensed him not according to the benefits with which he had recompensed him, and afflicted him exceedingly.

[54] Now after this Tryphon returned, and with him the young child Antiochus; and he reigned, and put on a diadem. [55] And there were gathered unto him all the forces which Demetrius had sent away with disgrace, and they fought against him, and he fled and was put to the rout. [56] And Tryphon took the elephants, and became master of Antioch. [57] And the young Antiochus wrote unto Jonathan, saying, I confirm unto thee the high priesthood, and appoint thee over the four governments, and to be one of the king's [] Friends. [58] And he sent unto him golden vessels and furniture for the table, and gave him leave to drink in golden vessels, and to be clothed in purple, and to have a golden buckle. [59] And his brother Simon he made captain from the Ladder of Tyre unto the borders of Egypt. [60] And Jonathan went forth, and took his journey beyond the river and through the cities; and all the forces of Syria gathered themselves unto him for to be his confederates. And he came to Ascalon, and they of the city met him honourably. [61] And he departed thence to Gaza, and they of Gaza shut him out; and he laid siege unto it, and burned the suburbs thereof with fire, and spoiled them. [62] And they of Gaza made request unto Jonathan, and he gave them his right hand, and took the sons of their princes for hostages, and sent them away to Jerusalem; and he passed through the country as far as Damascus.

[63] And Jonathan heard that Demetrius' princes were come to Kedesh, which is in Galilee, with a great host, purposing to remove him from his office; [64] and he went to meet them, but Simon his brother he left in the country. [65] And Simon encamped against Bethsura, and fought against it many days, and shut it up: [66] and they made request to him that he would give them his right hand, and he gave it to them; and he put them out from thence, and took possession of the city, and set a garrison over it. [67] And Jonathan and his army encamped at the water of Gennesareth, and early in the morning they gat them to the plain of Hazor. [68] And, behold, an army of strangers met him in the plain, and they laid an ambush for him in the mountains, but themselves met him face to face. [69] But they that lay in ambush rose out of their places, and joined battle; and all they that were of Jonathan's side fled: [70] not one of them was left, except Mattathias the son of Absalom, and Judas the son of Chalphi, captains of the forces. [71] And Jonathan rent his clothes, and put earth upon his head, and prayed. [72] And he turned again unto them in battle, and put them to the rout, and they fled. [73] And they of his side that fled saw it, and returned unto him, and pursued with him unto Kedesh unto their camp, and they encamped there. [74] And there fell of the strangers on that day about three thousand men: and Jonathan returned to Jerusalem.

[1] And Jonathan saw that the time served him, and he chose men, and sent them to Rome, to confirm and renew the friendship that they had with them. [2] And to the Spartans, and to other places, he sent letters after the same manner. [3] And they went unto Rome, and entered into the senate house, and said, Jonathan the high priest, and the nation of the Jews, have sent us, to renew for them the friendship and the confederacy, as in former time. [4] And they gave them letters unto the men in every place, that they should bring them on their way to the land of Judah in peace. [5] And this is the copy of the letters which Jonathan wrote to the Spartans:

[6] Jonathan the high priest, and the senate of the nation, and the priests, and the rest of the people of the Jews, unto their brethren the Spartans, greeting: [7] Even before this time were letters sent unto Onias the high priest from [*] Arius, who was reigning among you, to signify that ye are our brethren, as the copy here underwritten sheweth. [8] And Onias entreated honourably the man that was sent, and received the letters, wherein declaration was made of confederacy and friendship. [9] Therefore we also, albeit we need none of these things, having for our encouragement the holy books which are in our hands, [10] have assayed to send that we might renew our brotherhood and friendship with you, to the end that we should not become estranged from you altogether: for long time is passed since ye sent unto us. [11] We therefore at all times without ceasing, both in our feasts, and on the other convenient days, do remember you in the sacrifices which we offer, and in our prayers, as it is right and meet to be mindful of brethren: [12] and moreover are glad for your glory. [13] But as for ourselves, many afflictions and many wars have encompassed us, and the kings that are round about us have fought against us. [14] We were not minded therefore to be troublesome unto you, and to the rest of our confederates and friends, in these wars; [15] for we have the help which is from heaven to help us, and we have been delivered from our enemies, and our enemies have been brought low. [16] We chose therefore Numenius the son of Antiochus, and Antipater the son of Jason, and have sent them unto the Romans, to renew the friendship that we had with them, and the former confederacy. [17] We commanded them therefore to go also unto you, and to salute you, and to deliver you our letters concerning the renewing of friendship and our brotherhood. [18] And now ye shall do well if ye give us an answer thereto.

[20] Arius king of the Spartans to Onias the chief priest, greeting: [21] It hath been found in writing, concerning the Spartans and the Jews, that they are brethren, and that they are of the stock of Abraham: [22] and now, since this is come to our knowledge, ye shall do well to write unto us of your † prosperity. [23] And we moreover do write on our part to you, that your cattle and goods are ours, and ours are yours. We do command therefore that they make report unto you on this wise.

[24] And Jonathan heard that Demetrius' princes were returned to fight against him with a greater host than afore, [25] and he removed from Jerusalem, and met them in the country of Hamath; for he gave them no respite to set foot in his country. [26] And he sent spies into his camp, and they came again, and reported to him that they were appointed in such and such a way to fall upon them in the night season. [27] But as soon as the sun was down, Jonathan commanded his men to watch, and to be in arms, that all the night long they might be ready for battle: and he put forth sentinels round about the camp. [28] And the adversaries heard that Jonathan and his men were ready for battle, and they feared, and trembled in their hearts, and they kindled fires in their camp ‡ [29] But Jonathan and his men knew it not till the morning; for they saw the lights burning. [30] And Jonathan pursued after them, and overtook them not; for they were gone over the river Eleutherus. [31] And Jonathan turned aside to the Arabians, who are called Zabadaeans, and smote them, and took their spoils. [32] And he came out from thence, and came to Damascus, and took his journey through all the country. [33] And Simon went forth, and took his journey as far as Ascalon, and the strongholds that were near unto it. And he turned aside to Joppa, and took possession of it; [34] for he had heard that they were minded to deliver the stronghold unto the men of Demetrius; and he set a garrison there to keep it.

[35] And Jonathan returned, and called the elders of the people together; and he took counsel with them to build strongholds in Judaea, [36] and to make the walls of Jerusalem higher, and to raise a great mound between the citadel and the city, for to separate it from the city, that so it might be all alone, that men might neither buy nor sell. [37] And they were gathered together to build the city, and there fell down part of the wall of the brook that is on the east side, and he repaired that which is called Chaphenatha. [38] And Simon also built Adida in the § plain country, and made it strong, and set up gates and bars.

[39] And Tryphon sought to reign over Asia and to put on himself the diadem, and to stretch forth his hand against Antiochus the king. [40] And he was afraid lest haply Jonathan should not suffer him, and lest he should fight against him; and he sought a way how to take him, that he might destroy him. And he removed, and came to Bethshan. [41] And Jonathan came forth to meet him with forty thousand men chosen for battle, and came to Bethshan. [42] And Tryphon saw that he came with a great host, and he was afraid to stretch forth his hand against him: [43] and he received him honourably, and commended him unto all his  Friends, and gave him gifts, and commanded his forces to be obedient unto him, as unto himself. [44] And he said unto Jonathan, Why hast thou put all this people to trouble, seeing there is no war betwixt us? [45] And now send them away to their homes, but choose for thyself a few men who shall be with thee, and come thou with me to Ptolemais, and I will give it up to thee, and the rest of the strongholds and the rest of the forces, and all the king’s officers: and I will return and depart; for this is the cause of my coming. [46] And he put his trust in him, and did even as he said, and sent away his forces, and they departed into the land of Judah. [47] But he reserved to himself three thousand men, of whom he left two thousand in Galilee, but one thousand went with him. [48] Now as soon as Jonathan entered into Ptolemais, they of Ptolemais shut the gates, and laid hands on him; and all them that came in with him they slew with the sword. [49] And Tryphon sent forces and horsemen into Galilee, and into the great plain, to destroy all Jonathan’s men. [50] And they perceived that he was taken and had perished, and they that were with him; and they encouraged one another, and went on their way close together, prepared to fight. [51] And they that followed upon them saw that they were ready to fight for their lives, and turned back again. [52] And they all came in peace into the land of Judah, and they mourned for Jonathan, and them that were with him, and they were sore afraid; and all Israel mourned with a great mourning. [53] And all the Gentiles that were round about them sought to destroy them utterly: for they said, They have no ruler, nor any to help them: now therefore let us fight against them, and take away their memorial from among men.

[1] And Simon heard that Tryphon had gathered together a mighty host to come into the land of Judah, and destroy it utterly. [2] And he saw that the people trembled and was in great fear; and he went up to Jerusalem, and gathered the people together; [3] and he encouraged them, and said unto them, Ye yourselves know all the things that I, and my brethren, and my father’s house, have done for the laws and the sanctuary, and the battles and the distresses which we have seen: [4] by reason hereof all my brethren have perished for Israel's sake, and I am left alone. [5] And now be it far from me, that I should spare mine own life in any time of affliction; for I am not better than my brethren. [6] Howbeit I will take vengeance for my nation, and for the sanctuary, and for our wives and children; because all the Gentiles are gathered to destroy us of very hatred. [7] And the spirit of the people revived, as soon as they heard these words. [8] And they answered with a loud voice, saying, Thou art our leader instead of Judas and Jonathan thy brother. [9] Fight thou our battles, and all that thou shalt say unto us, that will we do. [10] And he gathered together all the men of war, and made haste to finish the walls of Jerusalem, and he fortified it round about. [11] And he sent Jonathan the son of Absalom, and with him a great host, to Joppa: and he cast out them that were therein, and abode there in it

[12] And Tryphon removed from Ptolemais with a mighty host to enter into the land of Judah, and Jonathan was with him in ward. [13] But Simon encamped at Adida, over against the plain. [14] And Tryphon knew that Simon was risen up instead of his brother Jonathan, and meant to join battle with him, and he sent ambassadors unto him, saying, [15] It is for money which Jonathan thy brother owed unto the king's treasure, by reason of the offices which he had, that we hold him fast. [16] And now send a hundred talents of silver, and two of his sons for hostages, that when he is set at liberty he may not revolt from us, and we will set him at liberty. [17] And Simon knew that they spake unto him deceitfully; and he sendeth the money and the children, lest peradventure he should procure to himself great hatred of the people, [18] and they should say, Because I sent him not the money and the children, he perished. [19] And he sent the children and the hundred talents. And he dealt falsely, and did not set Jonathan at liberty. [20] And after this Tryphon came to invade the land, and destroy it, and he went round about by the way that leadeth unto Adora: and Simon and his army marched over against him to every place, wheresoever he went. [21] Now they of the citadel sent unto Tryphon ambassadors, hastening him to come unto them through the wilderness, and to send them victuals. [22] And Tryphon made ready all his horse to come: and on that night there fell a very great snow, and he came not by reason of the snow. And he removed, and came into the country of Gilead. [23] But when he came near to Bascama, he slew Jonathan, and he was buried there. [24] And Tryphon returned, and went away into his own land.

[25] And Simon sent, and took the bones of Jonathan his brother, and buried him at Modin, the city of his fathers. [26] And all Israel made great lamentation over him, and mourned for him many days. [27] And Simon built a monument upon the sepulchre of his father and his brethren, and raised it aloft to the sight, with polished stone behind and before. [28] And he set up seven pyramids, one over against another, for his father, and his mother, and his four brethren. [29] And for these he made cunning devices, setting about them great pillars, and upon the pillars he fashioned [*] all manner of arms for a perpetual memory, and beside the [†] arms ships carved, that they should be seen of all that sail on the sea. [30] This is the sepulchre which he made at Modin, and it is there unto this day.

[31] Now Tryphon dealt deceitfully with the young king Antiochus, and slew him, [32] and reigned in his stead, and put on himself the diadem of Asia, and brought a great calamity upon the land. [33] And Simon built the strongholds of Judaea, and fenced them about with high towers, and great walls, and gates, and bars; and he laid up victuals in the strongholds. [34] And Simon chose men, and sent to king Demetrius, to the end he should give the country an immunity, because all that Tryphon did was to plunder. [35] And king Demetrius sent unto him according to these words, and answered him, and wrote a letter unto him, after this manner:

[36] King Demetrius unto Simon the high priest and ‡ Friend of kings, and unto the elders and nation of the Jews, greeting: [37] The golden crown, and the palm branch, which ye sent, we have received: and we are ready to make a § stedfast peace with you, yea, and to write unto our officers, to grant immunities unto you. [38] And whatsoever things we confirmed unto you, they are confirmed; and the strongholds, which ye have builded, let them be your own. [39] As for any oversights and faults committed unto this day, we forgive them, and the crown which ye owed us: and if there were any other toll exacted in Jerusalem, let it be exacted no longer. [40] And if there be any among you meet to be enrolled in our court, let them be enrolled, and let there be peace betwixt us.

[41] In  the hundred and seventieth year was the yoke of the heathen taken away from Israel. [42] And the people began to write in their instruments and contracts, In the first year of Simon, the great high priest and captain and leader of the Jews.

[43] In those days he encamped against †† Gazara, and compassed it round about with armies; and he made an engine of siege, and brought it up to the city, and smote a tower, and took it. [44] And they that were in the engine leaped forth into the city; and there was a great uproar in the city: [45] and they of the city rent their clothes, and went up on the walls with their wives and children, and cried with a loud voice, making request to Simon to give them ‡‡ his right hand. [46] And they said, Deal not with us according to our wickednesses, but according to thy mercy. [47] And Simon was reconciled unto them, and did not fight against them: and he put them out of the city, and cleansed the houses wherein the idols were, and so entered into it with singing and giving praise. [48] And he put all uncleanness out of it, and placed in it such men as would keep the law, and made it stronger than it was before, and built therein a dwelling place for himself.

[49] But they of the citadel in Jerusalem were hindered from going forth, and from going into the country, and from buying and selling; and they hungered exceedingly, and a great number of them perished through famine. [50] And they cried out to Simon, that he should give them his right hand; and he gave it to them: and he put them out from thence, and he cleansed the citadel from its pollutions. [51] And he entered into it on the three and twentieth day of the second month, in §§ the hundred and seventy and first year, with praise and palm branches, and with harps, and with cymbals, and with viols, and with hymns, and with songs: because a great enemy was destroyed out of Israel. [52] And he ordained that they should keep that day every year with gladness. And the hill of the temple that was by the citadel he made stronger than before, and there he dwelt, himself and his men. [53] And Simon saw that John his son was a valiant man, and he made him leader of all his forces: and he dwelt in Gazara.

[1] And in * the hundred and seventy and second year king Demetrius gathered his forces together, and went into Media, to get him help, that he might fight against Tryphon. [2] And Arsaces, the king of Persia and Media, heard that Demetrius was come into his borders, and he sent one of his princes to take him alive: [3] and he went and smote the army of Demetrius, and took him, and brought him to Arsaces; and he put him in ward.

[4] And the land had rest all the days of Simon: and he sought the good of his nation; and his authority and his glory was well-pleasing to them all his days. [5] And amid all his glory he took Joppa for a haven, and made it an entrance for the isles of the sea; [6] and he enlarged the borders of his nation, and gat possession of the country; [7] and he gathered together a great number of captives, and gat the dominion of Gazara, and Bethsura, and the citadel, and he took away from it its uncleannesses; and there was none that resisted him. [8] And they tilled their land in peace, and the land gave her increase, and the trees of the plains their fruit. [9] The ancient men sat in the streets, they communed all of them together of good things, and the young men put on glorious and warlike apparel. [10] He provided victuals for the cities, and furnished them with † all manner of munition, until the name of his glory was named unto the end of the earth. [11] He made peace in the land, and Israel rejoiced with great joy: [12] and they sat each man under his vine and his fig tree, and there was none to make them afraid: [13] and there ceased in the land any that fought against them: and the kings were discomfited in those days. [14] And he strengthened all those of his people that were brought low: the law he searched out, and every lawless and wicked person he took away. [15] He glorified the sanctuary, and the vessels of the temple he multiplied.

[16] And it was heard at Rome that Jonathan was dead, and even unto Sparta, and they were exceeding sorry. [17] But as soon as they heard that his brother Simon was made high priest in his stead, and ruled the country, and the cities therein, [18] they wrote unto him on tables of brass, to renew with him the friendship and the confederacy which they had confirmed with Judas and Jonathan his brethren; [19] and they were read before the congregation at Jerusalem. [20] And this is the copy of the letters which the Spartans sent:

The rulers of the Spartans, and the city, unto Simon the high priest, and unto the elders, and the priests, and the residue of the people of the Jews, our brethren, greeting: [21] The ambassadors that were sent unto our people made report to us of your glory and honour: and we were glad for their coming, [22] and we did register the things that were spoken by them in the ‡ public records after this manner: Numenius son of Antiochus, and Antipater son of Jason, the Jews' ambassadors, came unto us to renew the friendship they had with us. [23] And it pleased the people to entertain the men honourably, and to put the copy of their words in the § public records, to the end that the people of the Spartans might have a memorial thereof: moreover they wrote a copy of these things unto Simon the high priest.

[24] After this Simon sent Numenius to Rome with a great shield of gold of a thousand pound weight, in order to confirm the confederacy with them.

[25] But when the people heard these things, they said, What thanks shall we give to Simon and his sons? [26] for he and his brethren and the house of his father have made themselves strong, and have chased away in fight the enemies of Israel from them, and confirmed liberty to  Israel. [27] And they wrote on tables of brass, and set them upon pillars in mount Sion: and this is the copy of the writing:

On the eighteenth day of Elul, in †† the hundred and seventy and second year, and this is the third year of Simon the high priest, [28] ‡‡ in Asaramel, in a great congregation of priests and people and princes of the nation, and of the elders of the country, §§ was it notified unto us: [29] Forasmuch as oftentimes there have been wars in the country, but Simon the son of Mattathias, the son of the sons of Joarib, and his brethren, put themselves in jeopardy, and withstood the enemies of their nation, that their sanctuary and the law might be established, and glorified their nation with great glory: [30] and Jonathan assembled their nation together, and became their high priest, and was gathered to his people: [31] and their enemies purposed to invade their country, that they might destroy their country utterly, and stretch forth their hands against their sanctuary: [32] then rose up Simon, and fought for his nation, and spent much of his own substance, and armed the valiant men of his nation, and gave them wages: [33] and he fortified the cities of Judaea, and Bethsura that lieth upon the borders of Judaea, where the arms of the enemies were aforetime, and set there a garrison of Jews: [34] and he fortified Joppa which is upon the sea, and Gazara which is upon the borders of Azotus, wherein the enemies dwelt aforetime, and placed Jews there, and set therein all things convenient for the reparation thereof: [35] and the people saw the  faith of Simon, and the glory which he thought to bring unto his nation, and they made him their leader and high priest, because he had done all these things, and for the justice and the faith which he kept to his nation, and for that he sought by all means to exalt his people: [36] and in his days things prospered in his hands, so that the Gentiles were taken away out of their country, and they also that were in the city of David, they that were in Jerusalem, who had made themselves a citadel, out of which they issued, and polluted all things round about the sanctuary, and did great hurt unto its purity; [37] and he placed Jews therein, and fortified it for the safety of the country and the city, and made high the walls of Jerusalem: [38] and king Demetrius confirmed to him the high priesthood according to these things, [39] and made him one of his ††† Friends, and honoured him with great honour; [40] for he had heard say, that the Jews had been called by the Romans friends and confederates and brethren, and that they had met the ambassadors of Simon honourably; [41] and that the Jews and the priests were well pleased that Simon should be their leader and high priest for ever, until there should arise a faithful prophet; [42] and that he should be captain over them, and should take charge of the sanctuary, to set them over their works, and over the country, and over the arms, and over the strongholds; and that he should take charge of the sanctuary, [43] and that he should be obeyed by all, and that all instruments in the country should be written in his name, and that he should be clothed in purple, and wear gold; [44] and that it should not be lawful for any of the people or of the priests to set at nought any of these things, or to gainsay the words that he should speak, or to gather an assembly in the country without him, or to be clothed in purple, or wear a buckle of gold; [45] but whosoever should do otherwise, or set at nought any of these things, he should be liable to punishment. [46] All the people consented to ordain for Simon that he should do according to these words; [47] and Simon accepted hereof, and consented to be high priest, and to be captain and ‡‡‡ governor of the Jews and of the priests, and to be protector of all.

[48] And they commanded to put this writing on tables of brass, and to set them up within the precinct of the sanctuary in a conspicuous place; [49] and moreover to put the copies thereof in the treasury, to the end that Simon and his sons might have them.

[1] And Antiochus son of Demetrius the king sent letters from the isles of the sea unto Simon the priest and * governor of the Jews, and to all the nation; [2] and the contents thereof were after this manner:
